About the Yearbook

The 73rd Volume of the Field Kindley High School Twister yearbook was printed by Jostens. The theme "You Say Hello, I Say Goodbye" was chosen by the Twister Staff. The cover was designed by the Twister Staff along with Jostens representatives. Page titles were Speaking Style font, twenty-eight point. Body text was Souvenir font, ten point. Caption titles were Recessed font, eight point, while all captions were Felpoint font, eight point. Headings varied by sections. The 2009-2010 Twister was designed in the FKHS journalism room using Jostens online design program. Photographs and team photos were taken by Twister Staff and portrait pictures were taken by Lifetouch. Each Twister was sold for $40 prior to Thanksgiving, $45 thereafter. The cost of the book was paid for by sales and advertising.

"Be who you are and say what you feel, because those who mind don't matter and those who matter don't mind." - Dr. Seuss

I am so proud of you. Keep reaching for the stars, if anyone can catch one it will be you.

*Love,
Mom*

Emily-

Started out with Babybop. Now, on the way to the top. Wow, how the time does fly. Always reach for the sky. No limits are set for you. There's so much you can do! You've been through so much, this we know. It's been so great to see you grow!

Love you
Mom & Dad

Lauren

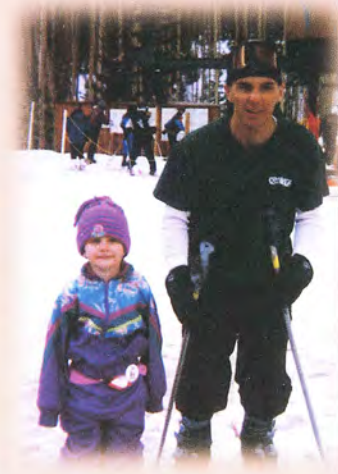

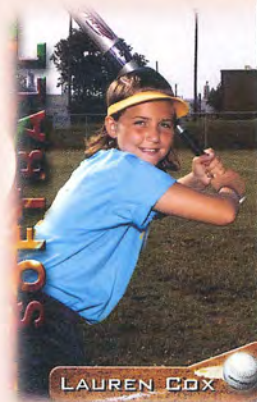

Lauren Cox

Lauren, we are all so proud of you! It is hard to believe you are now 18 years old and a high school graduate. It seems like yesterday you were walking across the stage for your preschool diploma. Who would have thought your first dance partner in preschool would be your prom king. We have enjoyed watching you over the years play basketball and march in the band. What are we going to do on Friday nights? From the moment you were born you have brought us great joy and pride. Throughout your young life you have already faced and overcome many of life's challenges. Remember David is proud of you and will always be with you along your life's journey. He loved you very much! We are so proud of all your accomplishments! We know you will achieve many more. Lauren, always believe in yourself. We love you!!

Sydney,

My family has always been my greatest treasure, THANKS for making mine so incredibly unique. Your warm heart and caring spirit have gotten me through the roughest of times. I cherish you as a daughter and value the faith you have always had in God. I am so proud of you! Over the years it has brought me great pleasure and satisfaction to see the young lady you have become. I am so anxious to see the woman that you grow into.

Keep your faith strong and let God guide you. Always know your way back home. No matter where you are in the world I will always carry you in my heart. I love you more than you could ever possibly know, and I will always have your back.

Knock 'em dead!

Mom xo

Sydney,

I am so proud of you and all that you do. Becoming part of your life has been very rewarding to me. As you go into the world in search of your own path promise me that you will always be true to yourself. Your creative mind, your charitable heart and your unconquerable soul are three of your most enviable traits, and in the end, you should allow them to be the foundation of your adult life. I love you Syd.

Trent

Sydney,

Congratulations on your graduation! There hasn't been a moment I can remember when you weren't a part of my life. I love you and will always be there if you need me. I love you,

Micha

Sydney,

I love you big sis, come home!

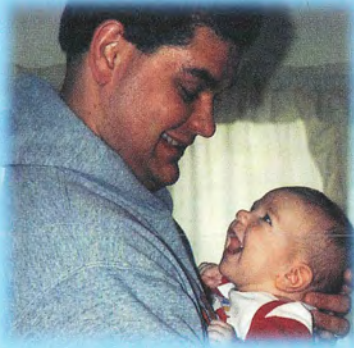

Bobby

Sydney,

2010 was a good year for both of us. I love you!

Tyler Lee Childress

You live your life with so much maturity and common sense.

You know what is important in life and live so wisely beyond your years.

You have been and will always be such a blessing to all of your family members!

You expect so much of yourself and do your best at everything you do.

You live your life according to what you know is right in your heart.

You always value family time and traditions.

You are a wonderful son, grandson, and big brother!

You have always been and will always be the joy of our lives!

We can't wait to see what you accomplish in the future!

Mom, Dad, and Ryan
Grandma & Grandpa

"Trust in the Lord with all your heart, and lean not on your own understanding; in all your ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct your paths."

We can't believe our precious little girl is getting ready to graduate. Where has the time gone! We are so proud of you and now we can't wait to see what is next...

Baby girl give it your all and don't look back, and remember no matter what we've got your back!

(Sissy you will always be my clown! Love Rylee)

With every step thru these 18 years I watched you grow with beauty and new experiences. You have brought me the greatest joy.

I wish you many more special moments in life. I'm so proud words can't tell. You are one of a kind sis!

No stopping you now!

I love you
Mom

Danielle Renea Bromley,

Congratulations!

We are so proud of you! Watching you grow up into the beautiful young lady you've become has been a joy. We are so lucky.

We love you so very much!

*Love Always & Forever
Dad, Mom, Madison & eth*

Jill

You are the answer to years of prayer...

*We are so proud of you & couldn't love you more!
Congratulations Jillie!*

Mom & Dad

Jordyn,

You were Grandpa's little "Blondie", Papa Rex's "Bulldog", Candace's little sister, Aunt Jami's "Gertie", and to your friends, you were simply "Jo".

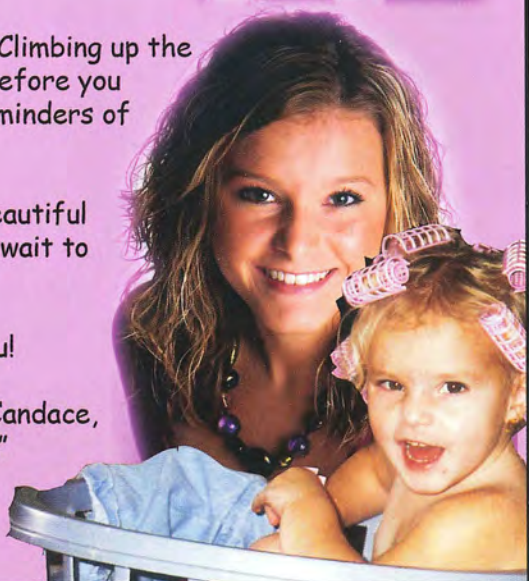

You've always wanted your nails painted, and your hair done, no matter if you were going to school or just to play ball!

You've never been afraid to try anything. Climbing up the doorframes, or jumping into deep water before you knew how to swim, are just a couple of reminders of this.

We have loved seeing you turn into the beautiful young lady you have become, and we can't wait to see what else your future holds.

We Love You!

Dad, Mom, Candace, and "Libbie"

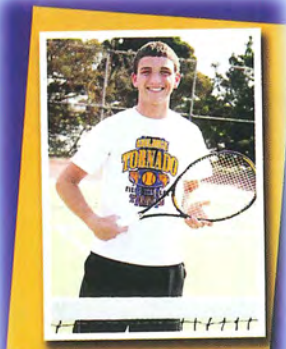

Taylor,

We are so very proud of all your accomplishments and the wonderful young man you have become. You have such a bright future ahead of you...

Reach for the stars and believe in your dreams!

Love,

Mom & Dad

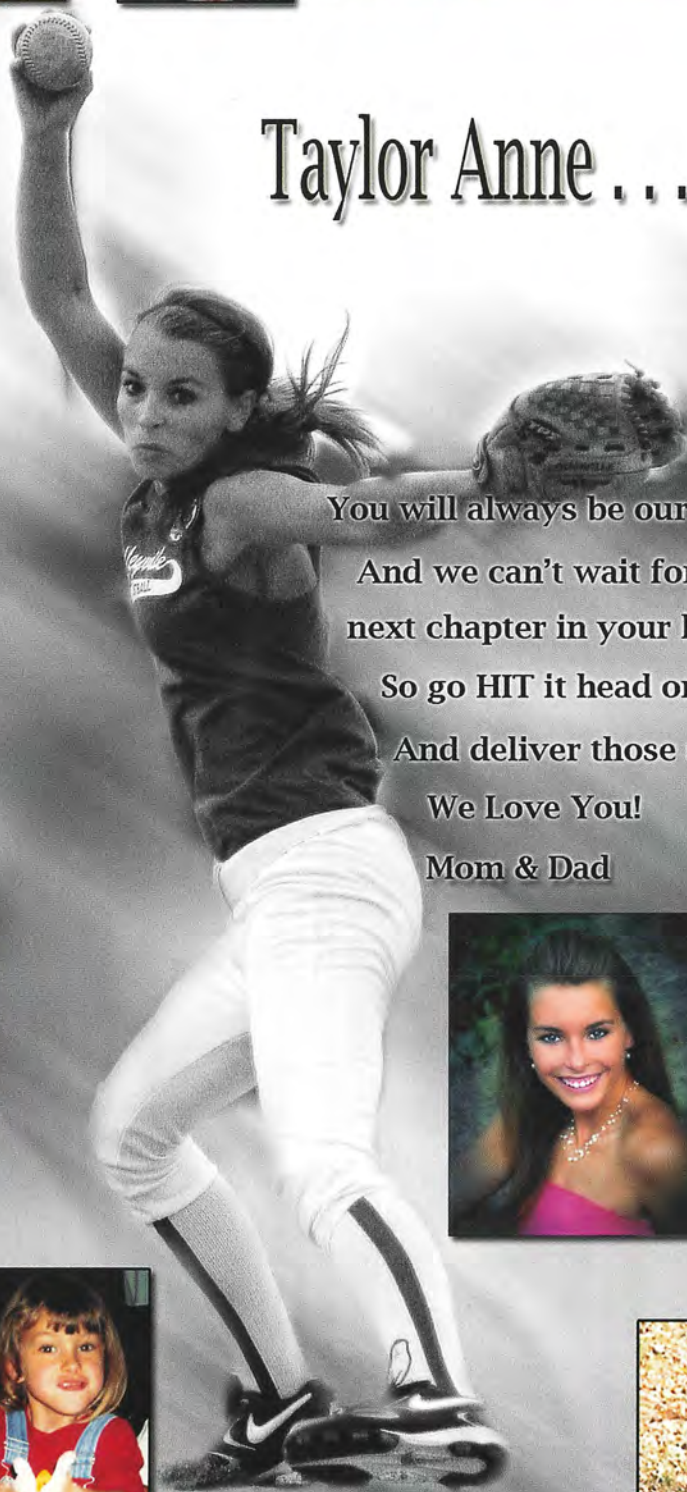

Taylor 2009

Gabi

Watching you grow from a baby to a young lady, we are proud of you. God bless you
Love,

Mom & Dad

Taylor Anne ...

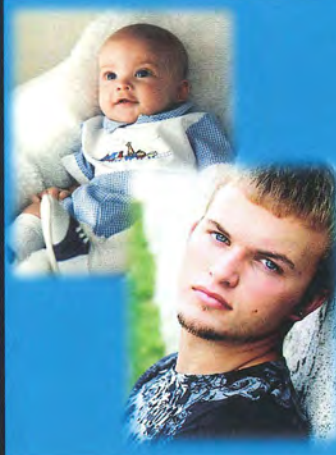

You will always be our little girl ...

And we can't wait for the next chapter in your life.

So go HIT it head on,
And deliver those strikes!

We Love You!
Mom & Dad

Eric,

You've grown into a young man with great integrity and high standards. For this we are proud of you and want you to know how much we love you.

Mom & Dad

Good Golly, Miss Molly!

Love,
Mom and Dad

Micah
Wow! Eighteen years and still beautiful inside and out. Micah, you are an angel to both of us. We are proud of you.

*Love

Portraits

Live

Life

Smile

It's not the days in your life you remember, it's all the memories. Portraits are something you look back on years from now and laugh at how dorkie you and your friends looked. You remember all the crazy things that used to make you laugh and all the people who drove you nuts! So don't let people judge you based on what you wear or what you look like, stand out and always SMILE.

Sports

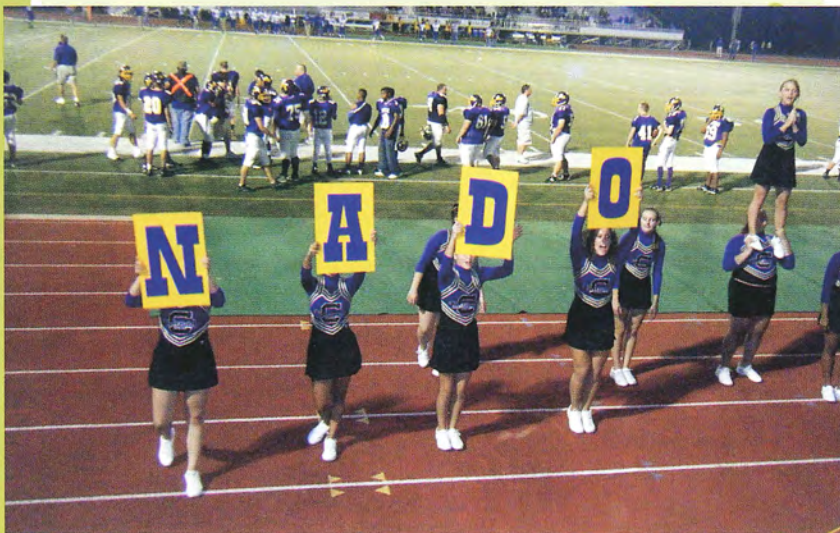

Live

Life

Loud

Sports and Athletics play a major role in most students' lives here at Field Kindley Memorial High School. Sports put a boost of determination, goals, and strength in an athlete's life.

FKHS offers many sports including: Football, Volleyball, Girls Tennis, and Soccer in the Fall. In the Winter we have Boys Basketball, Girls Basketball, Wrestling, and Boys Swimming and in the Spring we have many sports including Baseball, Softball, Girls Swimming, Track, and Boys Tennis. As an athlete you should always practice hard and strive to the best of your abilities.

Renaissance

In its first year at FKHS, the Renaissance program is an acclaimed educational enrichment program provided by Joetena, Inc. and is customized by local parents and teachers in the Coffeyville area. It empowers students to enhance their learning experience, boosting GPAs, increasing attendance, improving school pride and growing graduation rates. A committed group of volunteers worked hard at setting up the program, and based on the level of excitement and the improvement in grades and attendance, it was a great success.

STUCO

One for All and All for One... Paint Job

Juniors Katey Crane, Emily Wright, and A. J. Martinez prove that they have what it takes to be a mucketeer, or are they just pointing at the spider on the ceiling?

Leadership is the Key

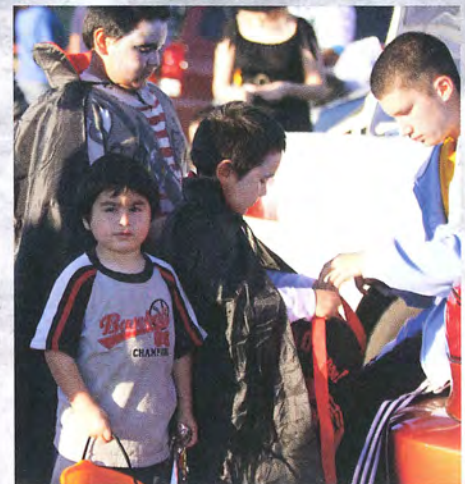

The FKHS Student Council (affectionately known as STUCO) was once again at the forefront of planning student activities this year. The purpose of the organization is to provide leadership training for students and to allow the student body to have some voice in the governing of the school.

Whether it is planning activities to welcome incoming freshmen such as the opening day assembly, or boosting school spirit through activities such as homecoming and spirit week, the opportunities for growth are never ending. One special project this year was to provide a facelift for the commons area by painting a portion of the walls in good old 'Nado purple. In addition, STUCO provides a way to develop a social consciousness and promote community service, through events such as the Earth Day celebration or the community blood drive.

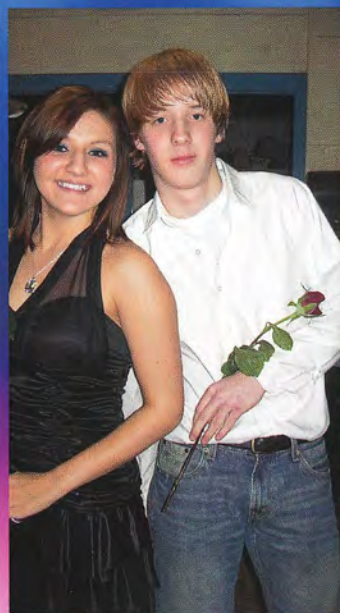

Learning to Serve

Above, the community blood drive held in February was a great success. It has become a regular event for the Student Council and it is hoped that it will continue for years into the future.

Clubs

High School may seem like another boring year of school, but its different. High School is a way to express yourself in different ways, for example clubs. Clubs are fun things to do while being in High School. In clubs you meet new people and just enjoy yourself with friends you have made along the way. In clubs you can just be yourself and act like business people at the same time. Clubs are a way to stay occupied and out of trouble and a way to learn and still have fun.

Keepin' the rhythm

Keeping everybody on rhythm, Senior Snare Drum Players Chris Page and Hayley Onealager pound the beat.

Above, juniors Jacob Myer and Xzavier Buford put their efforts into a little one on one in PE class.

Physical Education

DO WORK!

Taking a breather

Right, after swimming a few laps senior Boyd Hare takes a break. "Swim class is a lot of fun. Even if you smell like chlorine all day," says Boyd.

Ready...Stretch!

At FKHS Mr. Littleford teaches PE and swim class while Mr. Giesen teaches the weight lifting classes. These are classes where kids can have fun but it gives students time to get exercise and learn at the same time. In PE class kids get the chance to try a variety of sports. Some kids get bored at school but this class helps them have fun and get healthier at the same time.

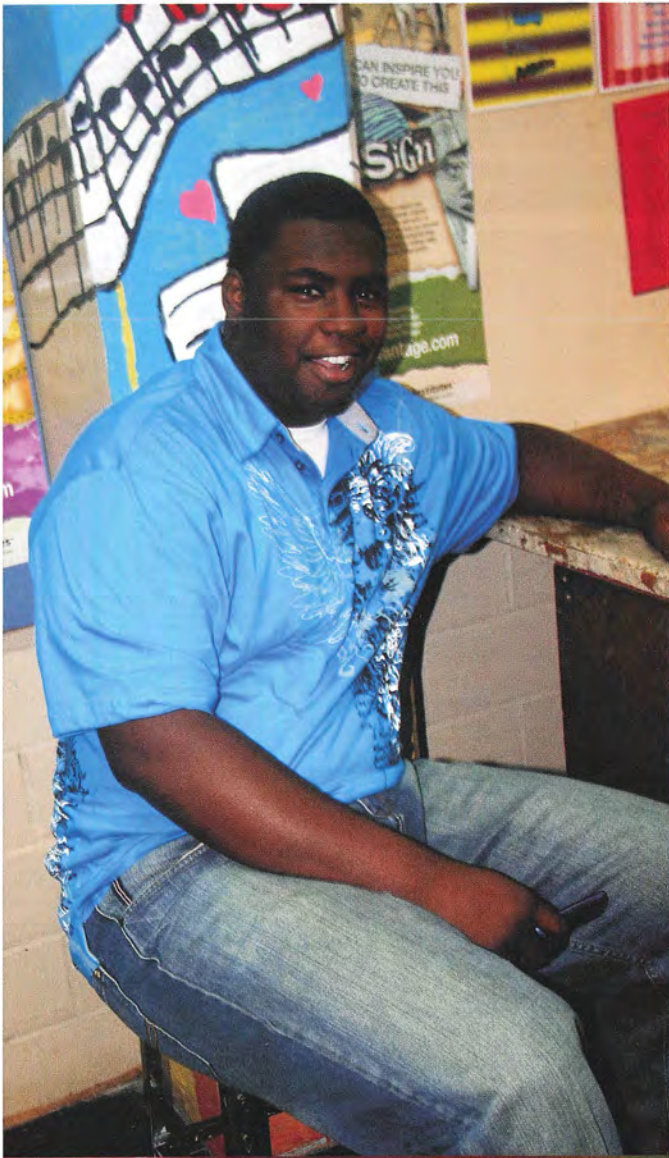

Get those knees up

Show some defense

Satisfaction at a Job Well Done

Left, Markell McCarter is taking a break now that he finally finished his work. Markell was another student who says he enjoys the class. Ms. Humphrey must be doing her job well.

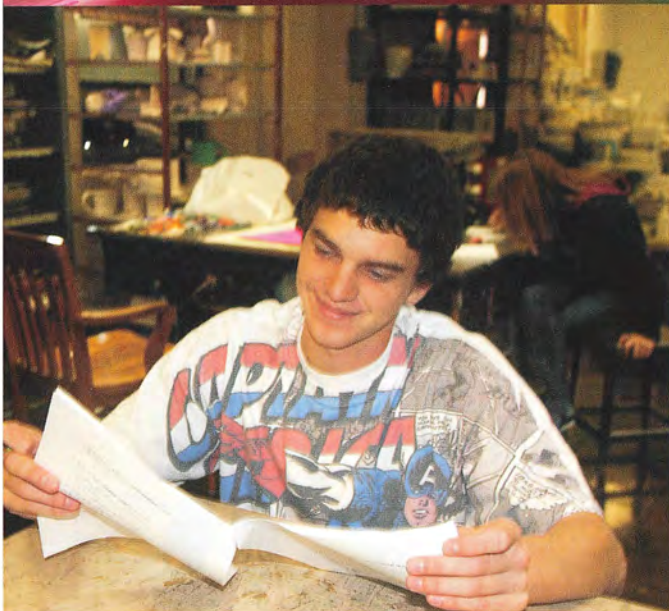

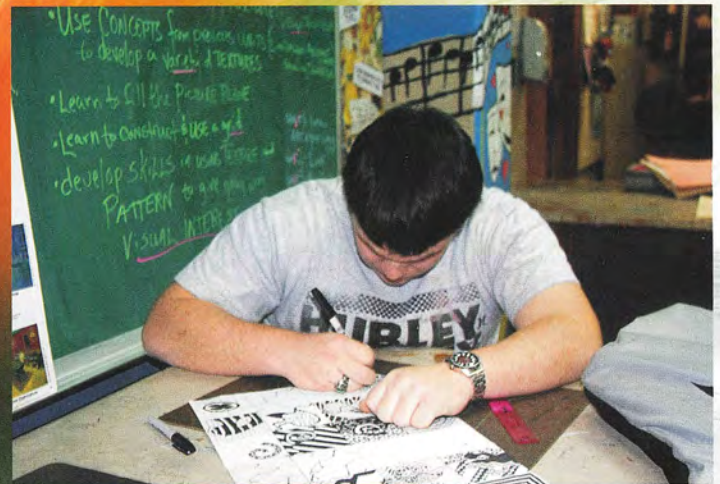

Highly Focused

Left, Barbara Palmer seems totally absorbed by the piece of artwork she is creating. She worked on it a long time without even looking up.

Intensity

Below, Luke Finley must really want an A because no one has ever seen him work so hard on anything before.

Art Can Actually be Fun

Here is Quinton Herehey working on a paper for Intro. to Art. While talking to him about the class he tells me "I really enjoy the class, I'm actually surprised! I never thought I'd like art so much."

Self-Expression

Above, Kayanna Cornett says she loves this class because she can really express her feelings through her drawings.

ART

A picture is a poem without words.

Two-fisted Artist

Left, Colby Starnes demonstrates his dexterity by drawing with one hand while drinking a pop with the other. You can't really say he is a starving artist.

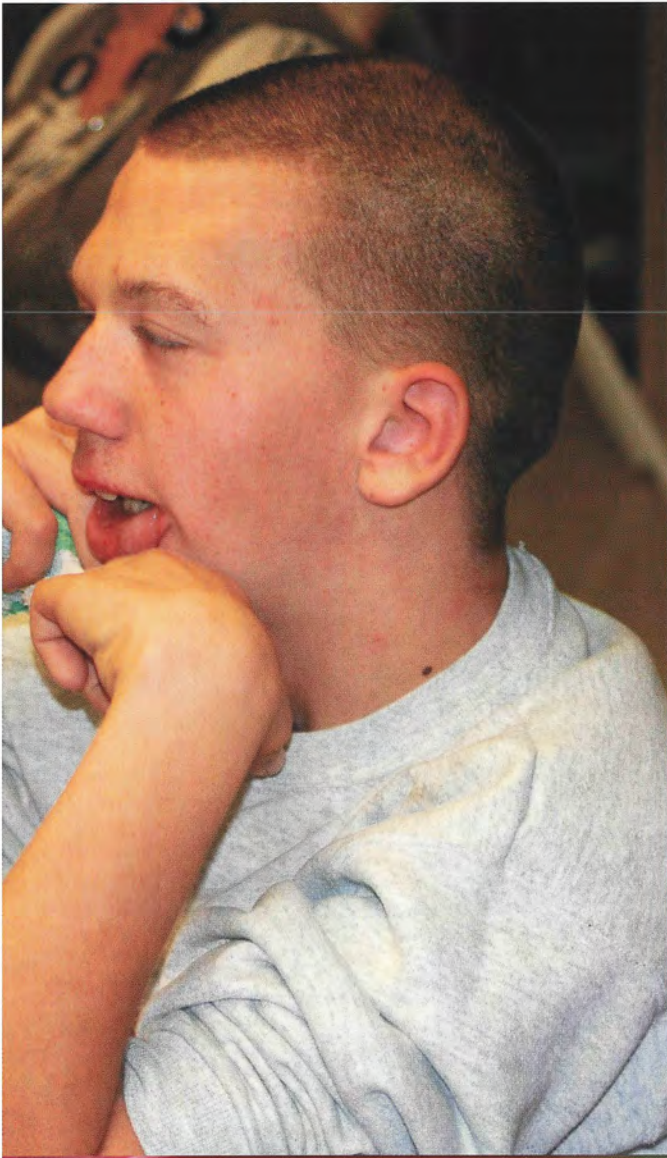

Art for Art's Sake

Art Classes at FKHS are both fun and educational. Whether it is two-dimensional art such as paintings, drawings, or prints, or three-dimensional art created by carving or shaping stone, wood, clay, or other materials, the goal is the same; to teach students how to create and utilize a range of subject matter, symbols, and ideas in their work. Students learn to understand and apply art elements and principles of design in their own artwork, and to come to an appreciation and knowledge of significant works of art in history. The art room is located in the Vo-Ag building and therefore requires a short walk to get there, but once arrived the students are immersed in an environment of creativity and enjoyment.

Who is that Guy?

Right, junior Jordan Hayes takes a minute to talk about her amazing drawing. When asked who it's supposed to be she says she was just inspired to draw it. She has got some serious talent.

Listening Intently

Teamwork Helps

Working Hard

Below, Tyrone Davis works hard on writing a report for class.

Time for a Break

Practical Education

"Making Special Education Practical"

Taking Time to Explain

Right, Practical Education instructor Alle Harvey takes time to explain important concepts from the textbook to the class.

Making Special Education Practical

At FKHS the emphasis in Special Education is on making learning and living in a practical world an achievable goal. Students with special needs are taught strategies that will help them be mainstreamed into society. Classes and other activities are provided by a highly trained staff in the least restrictive environment possible. Students are taught not only the academic content of their courses, but important personal management strategies as well.

Getting Additional Help

Shying Away

After her freshman speech in debate, Katelyn Cox must take the criticism handed to her from Coach Harbaugh

Debate and Forensics

Debate and Forensics are some of the most fun activities at FKHS. Debate is all about the politics, and Forensics is the flip side-so fun. One of the great things about debate and forensics is getting to go to other schools and meet all kinds of new people. If you want to know how to argue-try debate. If you want to act and be funny-go for forensics. We have the best coaches and the most fun.

Perfect Performance

Mariah Lovett is performing her Dramatic Interpretation of "Property Known as Garland", in preparation for the National Qualifying Tournament. She placed sixth place in the national qualifying tournament.

Partners in Crime

Eric Mueller and Jordan Mecom are ignoring freshman speeches to find, cut and file all the cards they will need to win all of their debate rounds.

Rachel and Sydney are living proof that debate is more than work- it's fun too.

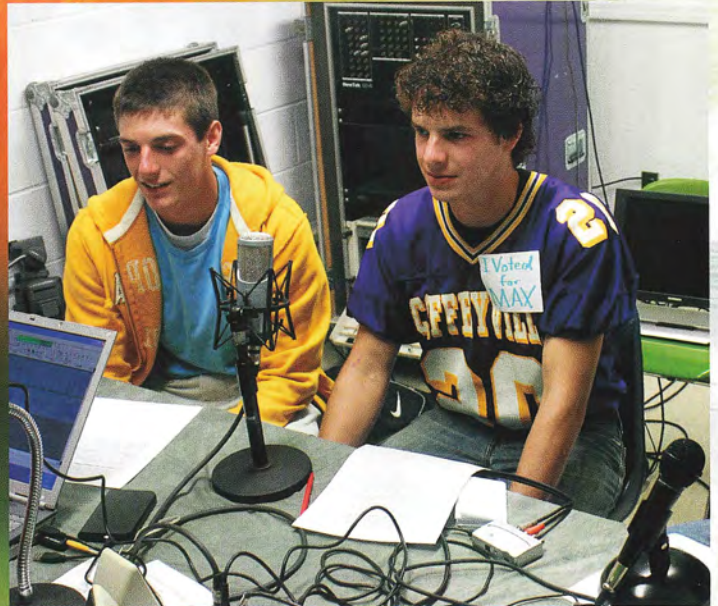

Zach Mitchell Reporting

Left, senior Zach Mitchell works his skills as interviewer during a 'Nado Pride podcast. Zach was the chief initiator of the podcast program, and was responsible for leading most of the discussions.

Newspaper? Or...Dot?

Left, sophomore John Shively appears to be working on the Tornado Times, but with no view of the monitor, he may just be playing computer games.

Homecoming Prognosticators

Above, seniors Max Manley and Zack Herehey discuss who they think the winning fall homecoming candidates will be during a 'Nado Pride podcast.

Seniors Share Their Wisdom

Journalism

Learning to Communicate

Journalism includes the following classes: Journalism, Photography, Radio and TV, Video Production, Newspaper, Yearbook and more.

These are the techno-classes offered at FKHS. There are also a group of students that have a podcast. These classes are for the computer-literate and are some of the most fun classes you can take. Part of it, is just being yourself.

The website to listen to the podcasts is www.nadoprider.com

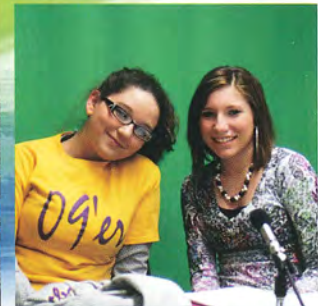

Seniors Nathan Miller and Aaron Patrzykont work on a podcast about the fall homecoming preparations.

Getting the Story Right

Right, freshmen Zach Bonham listens intently as Journalism instructor Larry Murdock explains the principles of good news reporting.

Getting the Audio Right

Above, freshmen Brandon Mackie, Dakotah Walker, Judy Wills, Quentin Bryant, and Katelyn West work as a team to record their first podcast in Journalism class.

Tell Us What You Really Think

Right, seniors Zach Mitchell and Mioah Wilson discuss important issues of the day during a segment of the 'Nado Pride Podcast' which was created by the Radio and TV Broadcast Class.

Keeping it Clean

Left, sophomore Alan Adel shows that real mean can do well in the kitchen as well as anywhere else, as he cleans up after preparing a great dish.

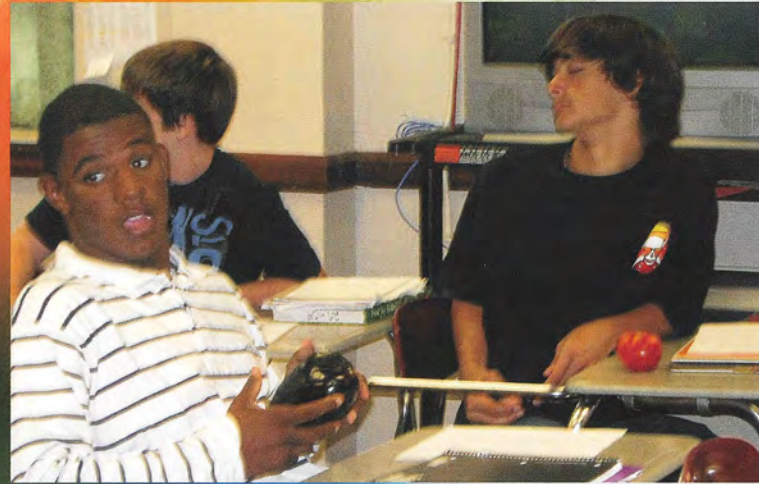

What to do Next?

Left, Aehli Morgan thinks about what she project she wants to tackle next in FACS class.

What kind of Food is This?

Melon Anyone?

Food and Family

The FACS classes are a lot of fun. They include Foods, Human Growth and Development, Parenting, and Balancing Work and Family. Foods class is something good to take if you want to go into the culinary business or to simply learn to cook! Human Growth and Development teaches us about the way that the body should grow from the time of conception. Balancing Work and Family shows you how to handle going to work and having a family. In that class you also learn things like how to balance a checkbook. These classes are very beneficial to you after you leave high school and you are required to take at least two credits within four years.

Chicken on a Stick

Junior Xochi Villanueva and sophomore Aahli Morgan help distribute a tasty dish at a catering event sponsored by the foods classes.

Colorful Foods

In foods class Senior Lacey Webber and Junior Abbie Ortiz make a nice meal by stuffing some colorful peppers.

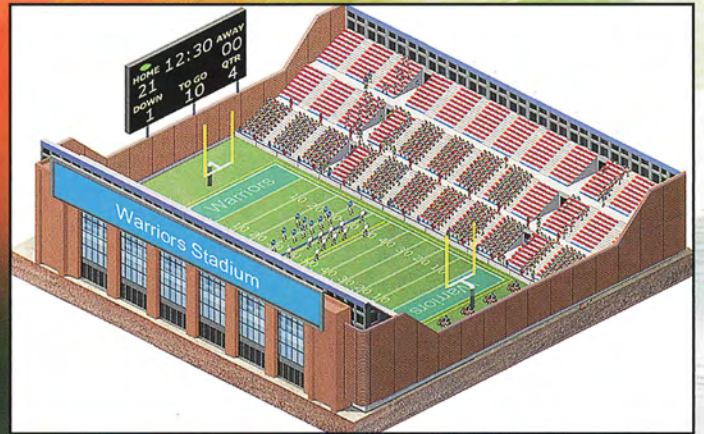

Here's How it Works

Left, Mr. Wenger shows senior Michael Pearce how to set up the screen print machine to apply ink to a T-shirt. The project was part of the In-house Marketing class.

Create your Own Professional Sports Franchise

Below, a sample screen shot from the Virtual Business Sports program. Students were excited about the opportunity to create, plan, and manage their own professional sports team in a simulated real-world environment.

Getting It Just Right

Left, junior Luke Finley works on a graphic design for the Golden Tornado Baseball team

Business

"It's all about the bottom line."

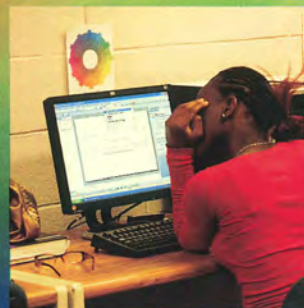

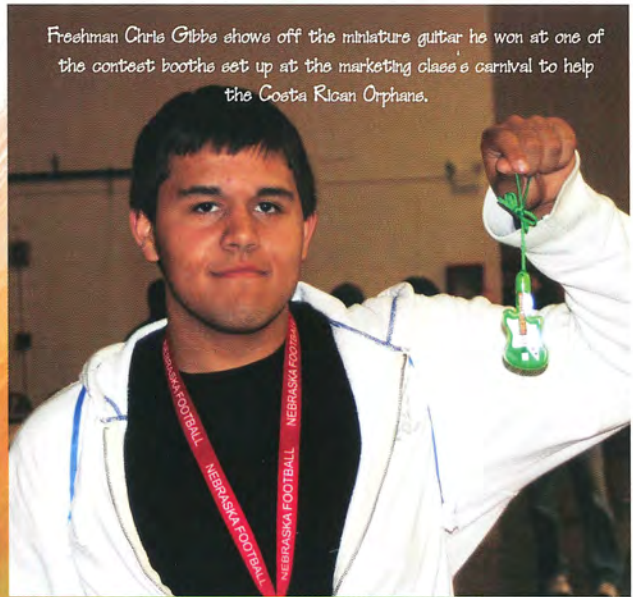

Making Sense of Business

The business and marketing program made a lot of advances at FKHS this year. The main courses offered are Introduction to Business, Marketing Essentials, Entrepreneurship, Webpage Design, Personal Finance, Accounting, Desktop Publishing, Business Law, Marketing I and II, Sports & Entertainment Marketing & Management, and In House Marketing. Students were given a broad overview of what is necessary to succeed in business, including how to determine if a business is profitable and how to market goods and services to the public. A new feature was a computer simulation program called "Virtual Business" which had three separate modules: a retail store, a sports franchise, and a personal finance program. The program was almost addictive as many students learned a lot about business principles while having fun at the same time. In addition, there were business field trips to Missouri Southern State University in Joplin and Pittsburg State University.

Using Marketing to Help Those in Need

Below, Mr. Shondorf's marketing class held a carnival to help raise money for orphans in Costa Rica.

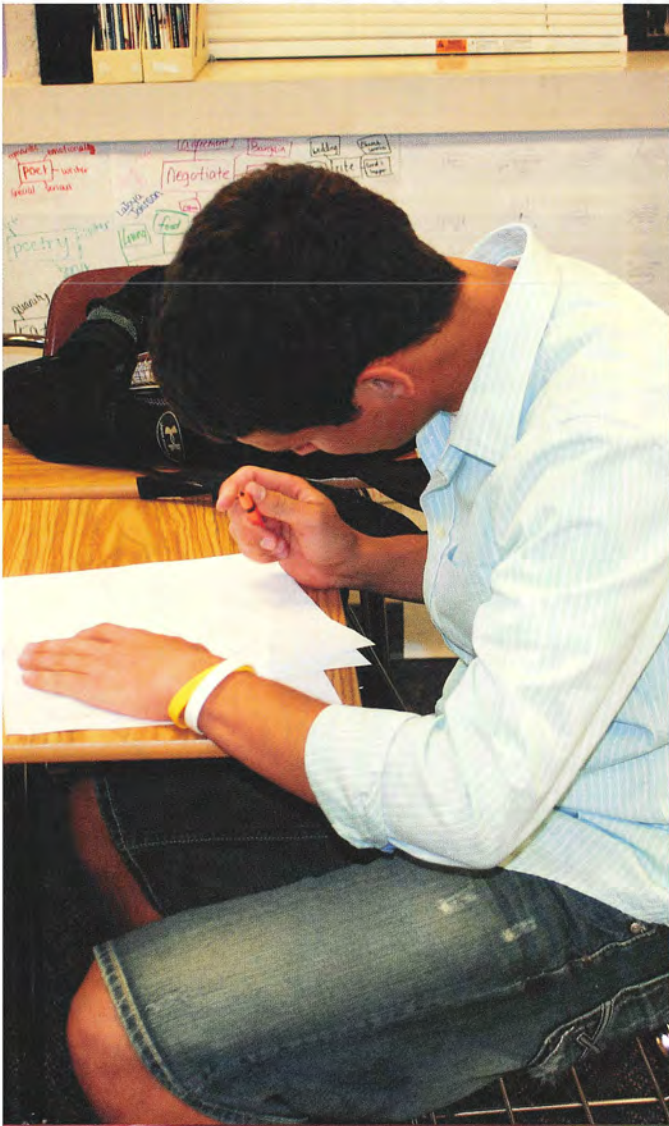

Freeman Chris Gibbs shows off the miniature guitar he won at one of the contest booths set up at the marketing class's carnival to help the Costa Rican Orphans.

Keeping It Between the Lines

With a Little Help From a Friend

Time for a Drink

Deep in Thought

Social Sciences

Thinking it Over

Below, senior Dylan Hilton listens to a class discussion about the presidential election and considers carefully what both sides are saying.

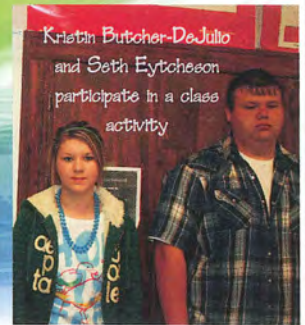

A Year to Remember

Social sciences at FKHS involve the study of Civics, Geography, World Cultures, American History, Government, Psychology, and Sociology. Basically, anything that has to do with the way our society works and how we as individuals fit in is a part of social studies.

This year was a particularly interesting one as we watched the extraordinary national events unfold around us, including the election of the first African-American as president and the near-collapse of the US and world financial system. There was a lot of passionate discussion about the election and what the best policies would be to help lift the economy. In short, there was never a dull moment while in class!

SCIENCE

Build-a-Child

Right, sophomores Rachel Gillman and Conner Murrell concentrate while building their child.

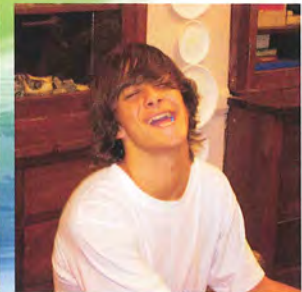

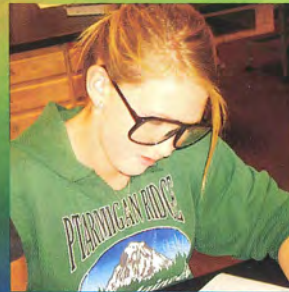

Junior Bethany Vowell works carefully on constructing her human skeleton

Juniors Nick Macaronas and Evan Hensley work with modeling clay on creating... something.

How Things Work

In high school you are required to take at least three credits of a science. Freshman year you take General Science where you learn the basics. Sophomore year you take Biology, where you start to dissect things such as a frog and a worm. During junior year you take Anatomy and Physiology. You learn a lot more about the human body and you get to dissect bigger things like cats! Senior year you don't have to take a science unless you want to, such as elective classes like Chemistry and Physics.

Shark Bait

In a science class this year students got to study about sharks and learn interesting facts about them.

A Helping Hand

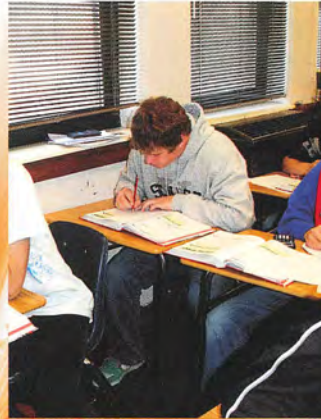

Junior girls Myshonica Buford, Erin Holeman, and Tianna Marshall help each other figure out the answers in Mr. Castello's A&P class.

Cheeeeeesssst

Showing his pearly whites, sophomore Lamar West smiles for the camera in Mrs. Murdock's math class

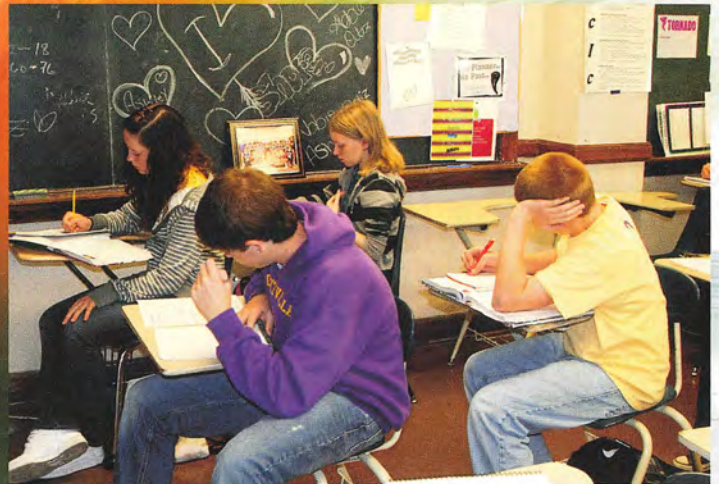

Getting it Done

Rushing to get his homework done, Senior Dakota Delvernote finishes up his last math problem of the day

Freshman Mathz

Doing their best to stay focused and avoid the camera, a group of freshman enjoy Mr. Downing's math class

Am I done yet?

Ready to get outta there, senior Eric Bailey finishes up homework in Mr. Bennett's math class

Serious Conversation

Taking a break from math work, junior Lakin Volmer and senior Drew Hobbs talk about what's going on after class

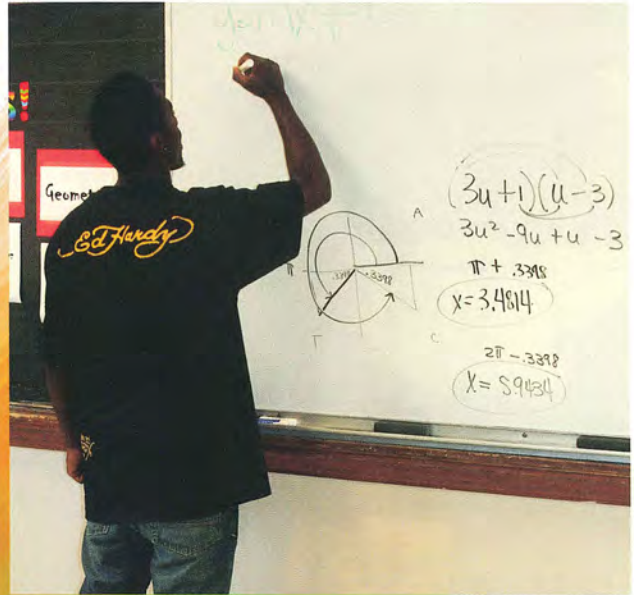

Math

It All Adds Up!

Helping Out

Using words of wisdom, Mrs. Jaimez helps Junior Bradley Kinsey-Tiry finish a problem in Mrs. Murdock's math class.

$$2 \times 2 = 4, 4 \times 2 = 8$$

Three out of the four years you are in high school, you have to take a math class. Here at FKHS, we have many different courses of math available. Math is used everyday. The teachers here do their best to make sure we get the problem solved. It may be one of the biggest stressors during your high school days, but it'll be totally worth it when you're out on your own and you have to figure your taxes and bills!

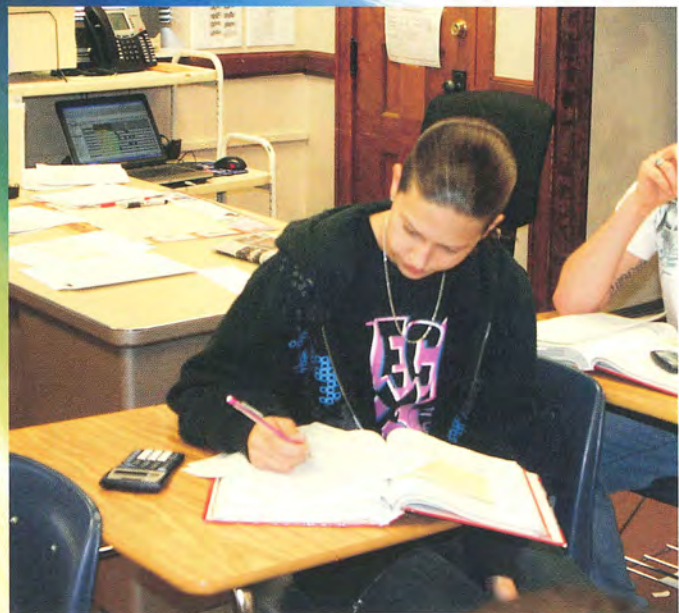

Come On Computers!

Attempting to add grades into the grade book, Mr. Downing works on his laptop while his students take a quiz.

Work, Work, Work...

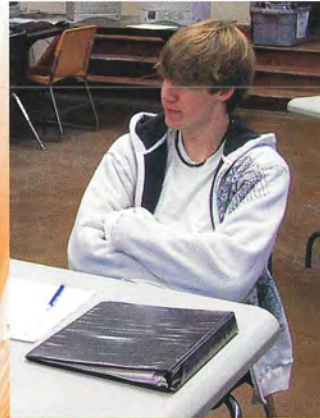

While in Mr. Bennett's math class, senior Brook Crowder takes her time getting the problem right.

Show some teeth!

Right: Ms. Erickson walks around answering questions that her Junior English students may have.

Far Right: Junior Kaman Holt tries his best to stay focused while reading a story and answering questions.

Words Are Important!

Students are required to take four years of English before graduating. Freshman get used to the big step of learning at a higher level, while sophomores go on to study about Julius Caesar and get into the mind of Shakespeare. Junior year you get involved with more writing and preparing the start of your Senior Project. By Senior year you are reading more stories and working on basic reading and writing to prepare yourself for the big step into college.

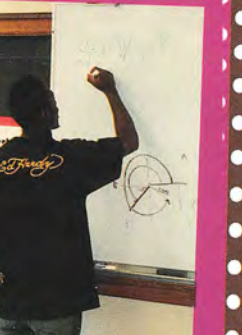

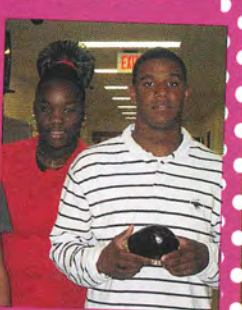

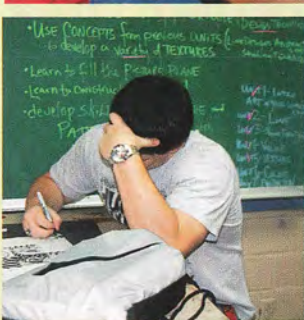

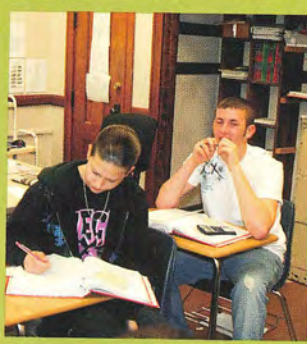

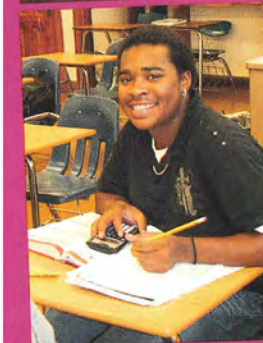

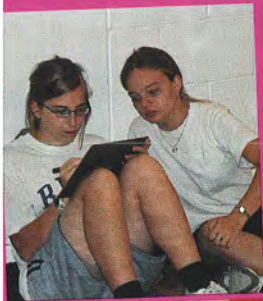

Hard at Work

Seniors T. J. Beeson, Aaron Stanbury, and Dakota Delvernola are all concentrating very much on finishing their work.

Comments

"It was indeed a privilege and an honor to be in the Male Beauty Pageant and to be chosen Mr. FKHS!"

-Freshman
Ricky Pugh

"My favorite part was getting to play a cowboy role with my friend Cameron Craig because it was out of the ordinary!"

-Senior
Ethan Cordray

Mr. FKHS

Giving his award winning speech, Ricky Pugh tells the student body his thank you's and shows his gratitude toward all his fans!

Giddy Up!

Getting ready to round up some fresh meat, Senior Ethan Cordray gets his lasso ready.

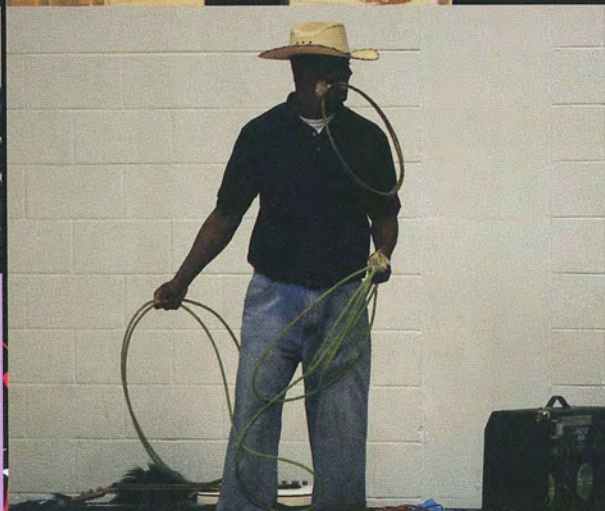

Beauty

Rock out!

Jamming out to his favorite tunes, Senior Jeff Shelton lets the crowd listen to his talented guitar skills.

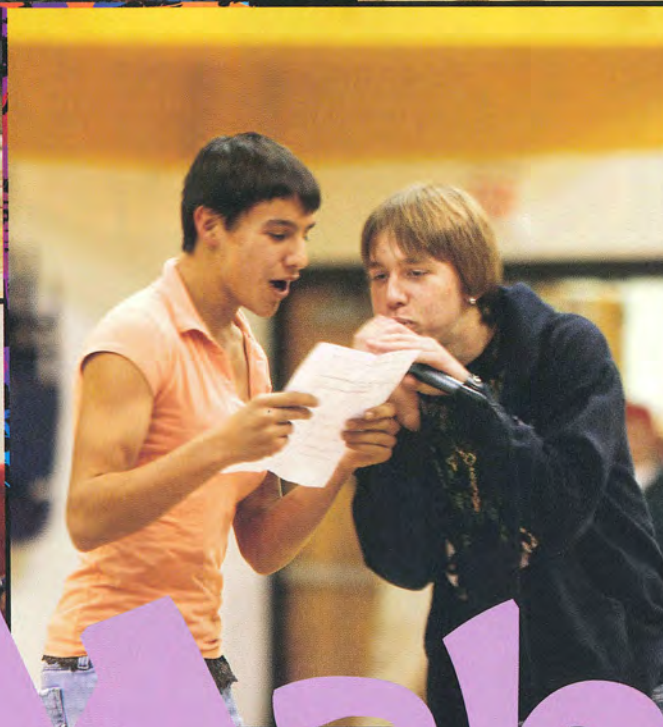

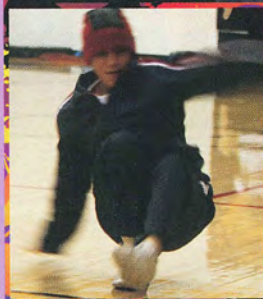

And the judges are...

Preparing for the most crucial decision judges Levi Castello, Mark Hart, and Anne Erickson debate who should get the crown.

Pageant Time!

As a great on-going tradition, the Male Beauty Pageant is a way for all the boys throughout our school to get out there, front and center, and show off their amazing, hilarious, and gifted talents. Most boys usually think of something funny that will get the crowd on their feet, and some think of talents you wouldn't imagine them having, either way it's a great way of getting to know some students better. This year the proud title of Mr. FKHS was given to freshman Ricky Pugh. After giving a short, but yet heart-felt speech Ricky ended the pageant with a classic "worm" performance.

School

"I enjoyed powderpuff this year because it got us involved with everyone, and gave us a chance to have fun."

Jordan Roberts

On Friday October 30th, 2009, one cool fall evening our school held some exciting games, with lots of kids participating in the two events. Junior/Sophomore boys dominated in the round of Beef Cake Volleyball, with the score ending very close, and the team of Freshman/Seniors won in the rivalry against the Sophomore/Junior girls during the game of powderpuff.

Above Sophomore Sydney Lemos runs past everyone to score a touchdown.

Powder Puff

Right: Senior Jon Eck slides to get a quick bump to get the ball across to the other side.

Right: Junior Darci Davis runs quick past Senior Lauren Cox with the ball to score a touchdown.

2) Shot of participants in the Powderpuff football game.

3) Ethan Cordray smashes a serve.

4) Senior Zack Hershey is planning on bumping the ball over to his teammates to get it back over to the other side.

5) Senior Lauren Thompson runs past Junior Kristy Stout to run it back for a touchdown.

Beef Cake Volleyball

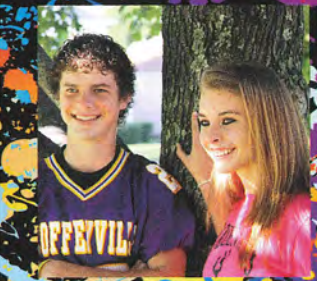

1. It takes a lot of time and a few girls to get the tiara on Boya Abudu.

2. Not a hard feeling between the winner and the girls who came so close.

3. Kelsey Boutow crowns Zach Herehey with a little bit of difficulty caused by his fluffy hair.

4. These candidates must be having a bad day, because they all seem so serious.

Jump!

Every one of our Homecoming candidates jump up for a little bit of senior fun.

The Royalty

The winners Zach Hershey and Boya Abudu smile at all of the fans that voted to make them homecoming king and queen.

Fall Homecoming

Before the game, the winners of the 2009 fall homecoming king and queen competition were revealed. Crowned by our Golden Gales and Nado Cheerleaders were King Zachary Hershey and Queen Boya Abudu. All of the other candidates were given honorable mentions: the guys got medallions and the girls got homecoming princess crowns. Our football players played hard, but lost 27-21 to Chanute.

1. The homecoming queen candidates smile away from the camera while they wonder "Will I win?"
2. The homecoming king candidates monkey around in the tree in front of the school.
3. Boya Abudu is ecstatic that she won the coveted title of Homecoming Queen.
4. Lena Harrel and Hayden Wenger present the crown and tiara of homecoming.

We're Ready!

Getting pumped before the game and starting the night off right, seniors Taylor Eastman, Tyler Watta, sophomores Jake Lindeemith, Conner Murrell, and freshman Bradley Eastman fire up the grill!

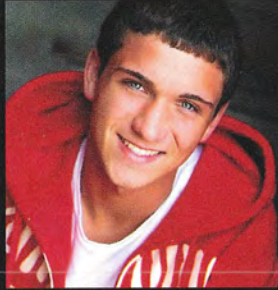

Let's Get Fired Up!

Throughout the years we'd kick off our season with a fun pep-rally. Getting to involve all fall activities, and the rest of the student body is always a fun task. Pep-rallies get the team pumped and show them they are supported by their school. Pre-game tailgating is always a fun tradition. It's the feeling of just getting back to school and football season starting up. It's catching up with friends, talking about summer activities, eating good food and prepping for a win! Most teens tailgate by themselves, but this year we had plenty of parent involvement.

Tailgate

"A perfect day is when the sun is shining, the breeze is blowing, and the lawn mower is broken."

- Senior Taylor Eastman

"Summer was a lot of fun! Charleston, South Carolina was my favorite vacation spot. Everyone should try to go there someday!"

- Freshman Ashia Sparks

Smiling Big

Life

There's a big world out there. Bigger than prom, bigger than high school, and it won't matter if you were the prom queen or the quarterback of the football team or even the biggest nerd. Find out who you are and try not to be afraid of it! Live your life to the fullest everyday and have fun, these four years will fly by so fast. Make tons of memories and never forget the people who helped you along the way. Try not to make enemies and live with no regrets. Most of all get involved and make a difference!!!

Throughout the years the halls of FKHS have been filled with students of all kinds. Almost all of the students can tell you that they wait all four years in anticipation to graduate and we can tell you that when the time finally arrives it's sad to see it all coming to an end. It's hard to believe that you spend all 354,600 minutes at high school just waiting to leave. It's going to be sad to see it all go, but we are leaving a legacy to the rest of the students. It's your turn to carry on the traditions and make memories that will last a lifetime! That is what high school is all about! So party hard, live it up, and always remember the good times made!
