LAWRENCE JOHNSON

Portland, Maine "Larry"

Track Captain 4; "M" Club 4.

Larry's career at M. C. I. reminds us of one of the heroes we read about. He began by peeling potatoes at the girl's dorm. and is now one of our leading politicians. Bill came to us from the wilds of Athol in the fall of '28, and soon became famous as a football player. Bill holds the record at M. C. I. for consecutive matinee attendances. Become a movie critic, and surely nothing but complete success will crown your efforts.

The Junior class has fulfilled its main purpose in life—it put over the Junior-Senior Reception in fine style. Graduation gives them another chance to do honor due us dignified Seniors. We know what this means as we also were once Juniors! All in all, the class of 1931 bids fair to fill as near as possible the position left by the class of 1930. We wish them a prosperous year to come.

The sister class of the Seniors showed promise from the first and is fast making a name for itself in school athletics and activities. After a year's rest from toils and troubles of Freshmen they go into the Junior class with prospects of another year of toil before them. But cheer up; just keep up the good work and one of these days M. C. I. will be proud of the class of '32.

The members of the class of 1933 were lucky to enter M. C. I. in that year of prosperity when the class of 1930 held sway. Green as grass, of course, but with some redeeming features. A year at M. C. I. has brought about marked improvements and by next year they may be able to look down on inferiors. However, everyone has to be a Freshman at some time, and the class of '33 has three more years at M. C. I. toward which it may look forward. Good luck.

Control Your Curiosity

A man lit a match to see if there was gasoline in the tank,

There was!

A man petted a strange bulldog to see if it was affectionate,

It wasn't!

A man wondered if he could beat a train to the crossing,

It was a tie!

A man touched a high-tension wire to see if it was charged,

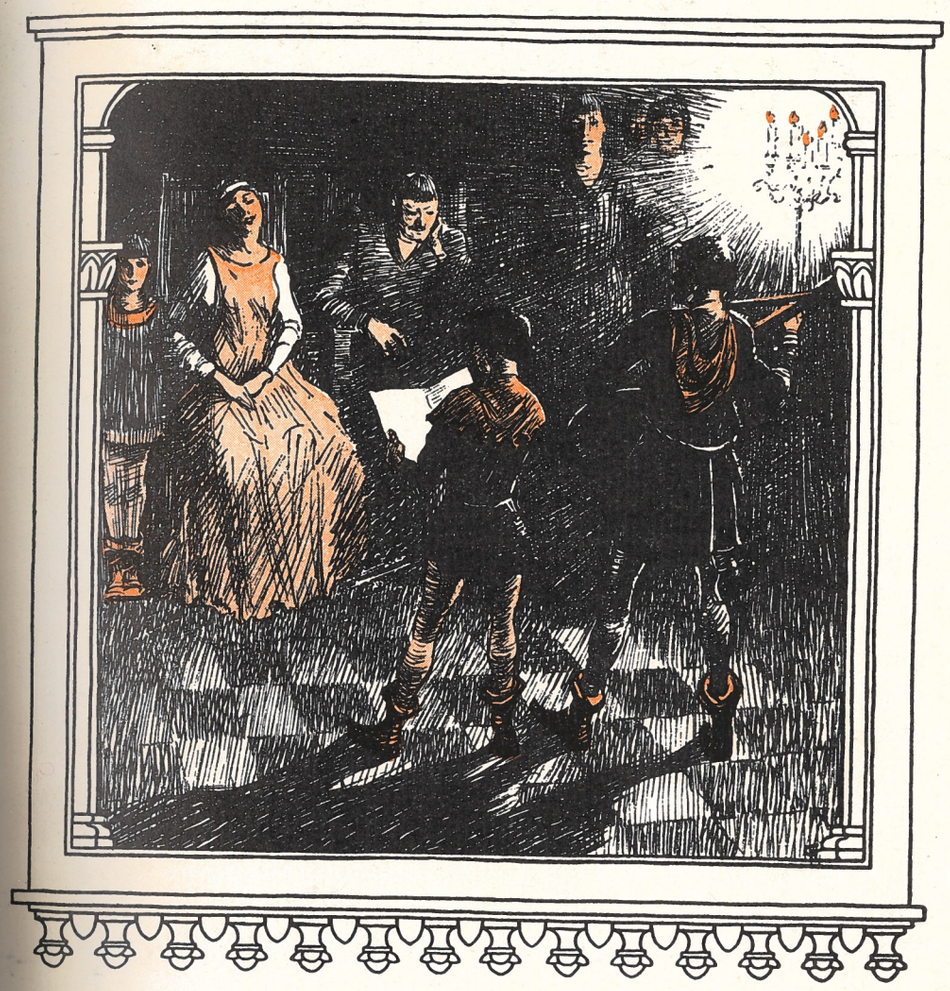

It was!

A man looked down a gun barrel to see if it was empty,

It wasn't

A man tried to control his curiosity,

He did!

Feb. 13 The thirteenth and an unlucky day for the pocket book. Valentines must be sent to the best girl. Tibbetts chose chocolates and his mother didn't get them.

Mar. 16 The boys in Alumnae Hall are complaining about those debaters making such a noise all the time.

Mar. 18 Ma Howard locked the boys out until the bell rings for meals. The boys insisted on tearing up the dining room. Now they have a chance to tear up the great out doors.

Mar. 19 An enjoyable evening was had by all. The Freshmen Prize Speaking Contest was held. Leo Klein said that it reminded him of the days of Demosthenes.

Mar. 21 Whoopee! The big day at last arrived on the wings of dawn. M. C. I. entered the Bates Interscholastic Debating League to come out as winners in the Preliminaries. The boys all left for home at noon after a sleepless night.

Apr. 3 Base Ball candidates were asked to report to coach Small behind the Creamery.

Apr. 4 There must be something up. Coach Cook called out his trackmen. The Girl Reserves haven't been called out as yet.

Apr. 5 Kiddies party held in Powers Hall by the Freshmen. The President and Mr. Tibbets danced.

The Circus

The Circus given in Powers Hall on November 22 was a great success this year. It was different from the Junior-Senior bazaars of previous years. It began in the afternoon with a parade in which there was a wild zebra imported from South America for the occasion besides many other rare, wild animals; there was also a band composed of several darkies from the south and Indians from the Reservations, and last but not least, one of the most celebrated accordion players of the world.

After the parade the booths at Powers Hall were opened. The several booths made of tents sold fancy work, candy, chance novelties, food, hot dogs and cold drinks. Circus attractions were the fortune tellers, the blind painter, the snake charmer, and the Chinese laundry. The greatest speaker at the Circus was Gil Minor who sold boxes of chocolates on chance tickets. The hall was decorated in paper animal tents and balloons.

In the evening there was a fine entertainment between the dances among which was a solo dancer from Bangor and the magical stunt of the girl escaping from a locked box. During the latter part of the evening the articles remaining from the different booths were sold at auction which proved entertaining to the onlookers. The M. C. I. banner upon which chances were sold was won by Merton Walker.

Much credit is due Miss Main and Miss Webster class advisors of the Senior and Junior Classes.

Winter Carnival

The annual Winter Carnival at M. C. I. between East and West Alumni Hall for the possession of the Carl R. The outstanding features of the meet were furnished by Harry Skillings and "Norway" Aldrich of the West side outfit, who scored 18 and 14 points respectively.

The girls dorm aggregation was too strong for the towners, who were swamped by a 35-10 count, Misses Wyman and Webber leading the dorm lassies to a victory.

100 yard Snowshoe Dash: Skillings, Aldrich, Cyr.

Junior-Senior Reception

The Junior-Senior Reception, the most brilliant social event of the school year, was held on the evening of February eighth in Powers Hall.

The hall was transformed into a garden party scene by means of trellises, flowers, garden walls and shrubbery. Punch was served from an open well; and from a very realistic porch an unusually fine orchestra from Colby College furnished music for dancing.

In the receiving line were: Principal and Mrs. Purinton, Assistant Principal Sanger Cook, Mrs. Ruth Cook, Mrs. Henderson, Miss Myrtle Main, Senior Class Adviser, Albert Bickford, President of the Senior Class, and Harold McBride, Junior Class President.

Between the dances an excellent program was presented consisting of the following numbers:

Address of Welcome	Harold McBride
Banjo Selection	Stanton Sherman
Reading	Ruth Kimball
Saxaphone Solo	Charles Cloutier
Stringed Ensemble	Ruth Kimball, violin; Elizabeth Kimball, cello; and Evelyn Farnham, piano.

At intermission delicious refreshments were served after which dancing continued until a late hour.

Miss Alice Webster, the Junior Class Adviser, was unable to take charge of the reception because of illness, but her plans were very ably carried out by Mrs. Henderson.

Everyone had a most enjoyable time and a great deal of credit is due Miss Webster, Mrs. Henderson and the Junior Class for having made the Junior-Senior Reception such a success.

"The Lion and The Mouse"

The Senior Play "The Lion and the Mouse" under the successful coaching of Miss Reynolds and Managership of Paul Nason was excellently reproduced by members of the class of '30. The cast was as follows:

Eudoxia	Eleanor Toothaker	Shirley	Evelyn Farnham
Rev. Pontifex Deetle	Russell Higgins	Jefferson Ryder	Alva Appleby
Fane Deetle	Helen Bottomley	Hon. Fitzroy Bagley	Wallace Harris
Mrs. Rossmore	Zelma Homestead	Senator Roberts	Robert Cowan
Miss Nesbit	Georgia Fuller	Kate Roberts	Nedra Bridgham
Judge Rossmore	Leo Klein	Mrs. John Burkett Ryder	Elizabeth Kimball
Ex-Judge Stott	Merton Walker
Expressman & Jorkins	Henry Lewia	John Burkett Ryder	Ralph Hackett
	Maid	Lois Folsom

This Play was worthy of the time and energy expended by the cast, by the coach and by the business manager. The parts were very skillfully portrayed. The audience was very appreciative and proved that it is far better to produce a difficult play than one that requires little time in preparation.

Miss Reynolds, the coach, has been with us only a year but she is already proving her dramatic ability.

Abraxas Cup

The Abraxas Cup, given by the Student Council of Bowdoin College to the preparatory school represented by at least three graduates in the Freshman class obtaining the highest average for the first semester, was presented to M. C. I. at the Chapel exercises Thursday morning by Dean Paul Nixon of the Bowdoin College faculty.

As special guests of honor, Charles Manson Barbour, Roland H. Graves, and Raymond McLaughlin, the three students who won the cup for M. C. I., were present.

Dean Nixon was introduced by Hon. J. W. Manson of the trustees, who reminded all of the high honor that has come to M. C. I. Dean Nixon spoke of the fine record M. C. I. had made at Bowdoin during the past twenty years that he has been associated with the college, and especially praised the work of the three boys in the present Freshman class. Competing for the cup this year were eighteen of the leading preparatory schools in the East, and M. C. I. should feel justly proud of the real honor that has come to the school through the efforts of these three boys.

Principal E. M. Purinton, in behalf of the school, accepted the cup.

Clubs

Girl Reserves

President	Eleanor Toothaker
Vice President	Frances Wyman
Secretary	Eunice Reed
Treasurer	Nedra Bridgham
Adviser	Mrs. Henderson

The Girl Reserves organization has been one of the most active organizations at M. C. I. this year. A cosy club room was furnished by the girls which has been used to a great advantage. At Christmas time the girls dressed eighteen dolls and distributed them, together with other toys to the tiny tots who readily received them. At the beginning of the new year a calendar was drawn up by the cabinet. This was a carefully planned program for the remainder of the year which consisted of Devotional, Game, Book and Special Nights. Some of the speakers have been Mrs. Freeman, Mrs. Cook, Miss Webster, and Miss Reynolds.

On February 22 a beautiful Colonial Silver Tea was held which proved to be a great success. Many parents, trustees, and friends were present on this occasion. Plans have been made to send two girls to Camp Maqua this summer. All the girls and Mrs. Henderson have worked hard to make this trip possible.

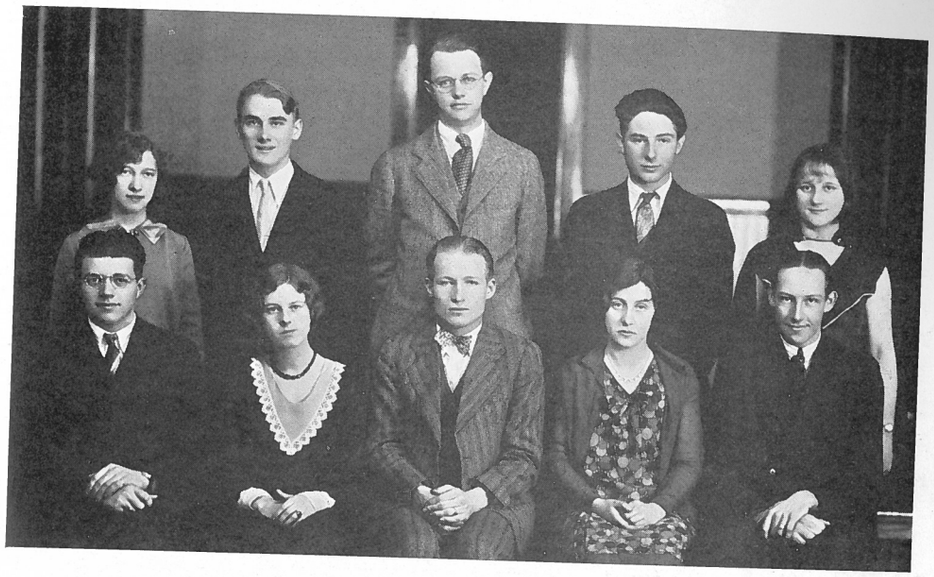

Glee Club

The Glee Club is a new organization this year. For the first year of the Club they have made a splendid start and next year they will have established for themselves a permanent place among the Clubs of M. C. I. The following students have been present at rehearsals: Nedra Bridgham, Elizabeth Kimball, Marguerite Tozier, Lois Folsom, Frances Wyman, Ivis Hubbard, Mabel Warren, Zelma Homestead, Herschel Fowler, Bernard Harkins, Zigmont Modzeleski, Fredrick Hammond, Harold O'Brien and Stanton Sherman.

The Club made its first public appearance at the Orchestra Concert given in March. The numbers were greatly appreciated.

Miss Reynolds and Mrs. Cook are to be congratulated for their interest in this organization.

The M. C. I. Staff

So far this year the staff has published only four numbers of the school paper the "M. C. I." The staff has tried hard to get new and interesting material for the issues but the student body has not supported it. This paper is appreciated by the faculty and some members of the student body. May there be a renewed interest so that this paper will continue to be published here at M. C. I.

H-C-I TRUMPET 1930

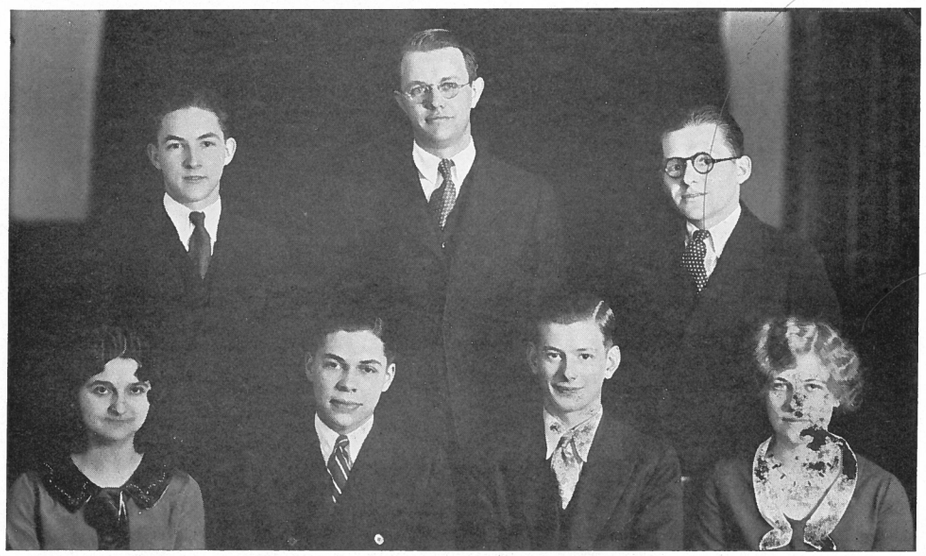

Girls' "M" Club

The girls "M" Club which is made up of all girls who have won their "M's" in Major sports, has been a very important organization this year. The girls have had food sales and obtained money which they have used to entertain visiting teams and serve refreshments after the games. The girls have also sponsored several dances.

"Fran" Wyman of Lincoln is the able leader of this Club.

The girls who won the "M" in hockey are Phyllis Wood, Mabel Warren, Helen Bailey, Frances Wyman, Ruth Webber, Louise Lagorio, Marguerite Tozier, Madge Stacy, Eunice Reed, Eleanor Toothaker, Ruth Staples, Winnifred Lee, Sarah Wren, Alice Harding and Lois Folsom.

The Basketball "M" girls are Lois Folsom, Captain; Elizabeth Kimball, Sylvia Weeks, Helen Bottomley, Helen Bailey, Marguerite Tozier, Mabel Warren, Louise Lagorio and Madge Stacy.

Debating

The debating team, up to this writing, has had a successful season. Soon after the Christmas vacation Mr. Cook had the team hard at work on the question, "Resolved: That the jury system should be abolished in the United States." The preliminaries were held on March 21. Much interest was shown and a large number was present in the afternoon when M. C. I.'s affirmative team defeated Hebron's negative by a 2 to 1 vote. Eunice Reed was the selection for best speaker. In the evening our negative team also defeated Edward Little at Auburn by a 2 to 1 vote. Jack Quarrington was best speaker with Wallace Harris close behind.

On May 17 the teams go to Lewiston to compete in the semi-finals with hopes of coming through to the finals.

Prospects for another year are very bright as our best speakers, Eunice Reed and Jack Quarrington, are Sophomores.

The teams which represented M. C. I. were:

	Affirmative	Negative
	Eunice Reed	Wallace Harris
	Nelson Tibbetts	Jack Quarrington
Alternates:	Stanley Donaldson	Louise Milliken

Football

The M. C. I. football team, though handicapped by injuries and lack of experienced material, made an extremely good showing winning three games, losing the same number, and tying one. The highlights of the season were victories over Coburn, Bucksport, and Bates Freshmen, while Hebron, Bridgton, and Kents Hill succeeding in defeating the Garnet and Black eleven. A tie game was played with Notre Dame A. C.

The following men were awarded letters by the athletic council:

Ends, Purinton, Moynihan, Lewia and O'Brien.
Tackles, Capt. Fowler, Evans and Petrosky.
Guards, W. Modzeleski, Capt.-elect Neal and Reed.

Coach	Alice Webster

This year the girls hockey team showed a marked improvement. Only two veterans reported on the squad. However Miss Webster worked hard and long with her green material. Although the team did not win all its games it certainly deserves a lot of credit, the girls who received letters were:

Capt. Frances Wyman
Mgr. Eleanor Toothaker
Lois Folsom
Louise Lagorio
Ruth Staples
Madge Stacy
Eunice Reed
Maguerite Tozier
Ruth Webber
Sarah Wren
Helen Bailey
Winnifred Lee
Mabel Warren

Basketball

The M. C. I. basketball quintet hung up a successful record during the past season, playing through a hard schedule of sixteen games and suffering only four defeats from prep school outfits. Hebron Academy, M. C. I.'s ancient rival, was handed two setbacks, and Bucksport Seminary, champions of the Eastern Prep School division, suffered a ten-point defeat at the hands of the Garnet and Black hoopsters.

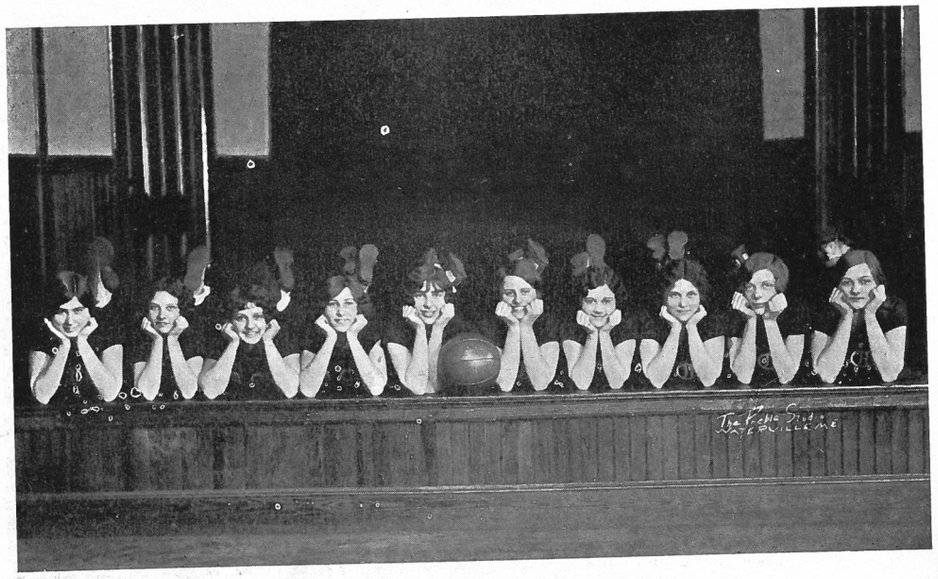

This year's team was led by Walter Varney of Mars Hill, while Dan Phillips of Shirley acted as manager.

The following men were awarded letters:

Capt. Varney, Peabody, Bickford, Brown, Hammond, Ayoob and Mgr. Phillips.

Girls' Basketball

Considering the fact that Coach Sinclair had to build up a new team around a nucleus of three veterans, the season was very successful. The prospects are good for next year because several of the Freshmen girls made reputations for themselves this year. The members of the squad were, Lois Folsom, Captain; Elizabeth Kimball, Manager; Madge Stacy, Ruth Kimball, Helen Bailey, Mabel Warren, Louise Lagorio, Marguerite Tozier, Helen Bottomley and Sylvia Weeks.

The schedule and scores were as follows:

M. C. I. 22	Newport 20
M. C. I. 13	Winslow 41

Baseball

Coach Elliot Small, M. C. I. baseball mentor has a large squad of experienced ball-tossers working out daily and the prospects are bright for a winning nine this season. There are five veterans: Capt. Walt Evans, Jim Peabody, Bill Brown, Herschel Fowler, and Bill Modzeleski. These combined with a number of candidates who have starred on high school and semi-pro nines in the past should keep M. C. I. in the running for conference honors.

Track

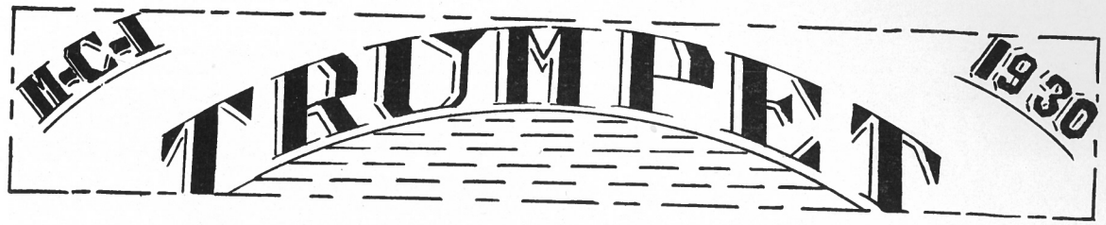

Coach S. M. Cook is putting his track cluster through many stiff practice sessions in hopes of repeating the record hung up by his 1929 State Champs. The team is not so well balanced as last year's outfit but is very strong in some events. There is a scarcity of distance men and dash men, but unusual strength in the hurdles and weight events counter-balances this deficiency.

Lawrence Johnson of Portland, weight star and member of the All-American track team is captain of the 1930 aggregation. He is one of the outstanding school-boy track stars of the country and should win many points for M. C. I.

Jokes

Waitress: "We serve chicken a la carte here."
"Zig": (after taking French three years); "All right, haul it in here then."

Avis: "It's bad taste to put perfume on your handkerchief."
"Phil": "Oh, don't worry, old dear, I'm not going to eat it."

Tibbetts (translating Virgil): "I-er put my arms around her. Er-I put my arms around her. Er, that was as far as I got."
Mrs. Freeman: "That will do, and it was quite far enough."

Ralph Hackett: "Would you call me good looking?"
"Wally": "Why-er, certainly. What time shall I call you?"

Mrs. Folsom: "And who were the next two prophets?"
Boston: "Amos and Andy."

Virginia: "Have you ever been in love?"
"Obie": "Say, I've been in love so many times that my ex-fiancees have formed an organization and perfected a yell."

Mr. Small: "Is there anyone else whose name I haven't called?"
Eleanor Toothaker: (waving her hand frantically) "Toothaker."
Mr. Small: "What do you want?"
Eleanor: "Toothaker."
Mr. Small: "Well, all right if your tooth aches, you may be excused."

Cal Hunt (stopping car near sidewalk): "Wouldn't you like to go for a ride, Alice?"
Alice (starting toward the car): "Why, sure."
Cal (looking back as he drives away) "Too bad you didn't have a car then."

Miss Reynolds: "Compare the adverb 'fourth'."
Halle: "Fourth, fifth, sixth."

Mrs. Freeman (after long pause in translation): "Why didn't you use your ingenuity?
John Martin; "Because I didn't know there was any. All I could find was the notes and the vocabulary."

Mr. Small: "What time of the year do the leaves turn.?
Aldrich: "The night before exams."

"Wally": "What do you know? One of the teachers smiled at me today."
Aldrich: "That's nothing. The first time I saw you I almost went into hysterics."

Mr. Sinclair: "What is the answer to that next example?"
Madeline Wilson (giving an answer not quite right.)
Mr. Sinclair: "You're a little bit out."

DEDICATED TO THE GIRLS IN THE DORM

When we go to a picture show, a concert, or a play,
Our number is increased by one–the uninvited guest.
Now who this is or why she goes we shall not have to say,
But trust that you yourself will know when you have read the rest.
She tells us when 'tis time to start and notes just who is there.
An eagle and a watchful eye she keeps upon us all,
But when the show is over, with her authoritative air
Her flock once more she gathers, and with us she leaves the hall.
You guessed it – a Chaperone.

Occulist: "I'm sorry, young man, I have some bad news for you. You must not read and you must give your eyes a good rest."
Louis Ayoob: "Oh, that's all right, because I'm going back to school tomorrow."

Miss Main: "Have you ever had phonetics?"
Reeks: "No, but I've had chicken pox and measles."

MEMORABLE DAYS AT M. C. I.

The day Ralph Hackett brought some paper to class.
The day John Martin didn't do his Virgil translation at sight.
The day Joe didn't disturb Mrs. Henderson in History class.
The day all the girls in the dorm came to breakfast.
The day nobody was on campus.
The day Gardner Reed didn't go to detention.
The day Jere Moynihan and Marguerite Tozier didn't speak to each other.
The day Mrs. Freeman didn't borrow a pencil.
The day there was detention but nobody had to go.
The day Miss Main forgot to say "Bon jour."
The day Mr. Cook didn't read the newspaper.
The day someone laughed at "Wally's jokes.
The day Mrs. Freeman chewed gum.
The day Dan rang the dismissal bell ten minutes early.
The day the clock in Powers Hall was running.
The day every teacher was in a cheerful mood.
The day Phyllis Wood didn't have a new boyfriend.
The day no rules were broken in the girl's dorm.
The day everyone had a good lesson in French.
The day everyone was prepared in Senior English when called upon to give an oral composition.

Miss Reynolds: "Give me a sentence with a coordinate conjunction."
Joe Stevens: "The boy and girl were sisters."

Ralph Hackett: "What did you get in French today, Bill?"
Bill Modzeleski: "A headache."

Sherman: "Ayoob, your cold seems to be worse tonight, what are you doing for it?"

Ayoob: "Coughing."

Mrs. Freeman (in trig. class): "Do you mean to say that 2x3 equals 3^2 ?

Iverson (waking up to save the day): "It's equal to 8."

Fox: "What's the matter Kelly can't you sit still?"

Klein: "No, it's these dog-gone pants."

Fox: "What's the matter with them?"

Klein: "The man who sold them to me said they were satin. I don't know who sat-in them, I can't.

Dedicated to Appleby—

He was seated in the parlor,
And he said unto the light,
"Either you or I, old fellow,
Will be turned down tonight."

Harris: "What's a pretzel?"

Tibbetts: "A cracker with cramps."

Harris: "Wrong, a cracker that's changed it's mind."

Mr. Small: "Can any of you tell me how iron was first discovered?"

Nedra: "Yes sir!"

Mr. Small: "Well, explain it to the rest."

Nedra: "My father said they smelt it."

Skillings: "I want to know something."

Aldrich: "What?"

Skillings: "Do they get horse chestnuts from a whiffle-tree?"

Appleby: "I'm the champion long distance saxophone player. I entered a contest once and played "Annie Laurie" for three weeks?"

Halle: "Did you win?"

Appleby: "No, another guy played "The Stars and Strips Forever."

"I've got some dirt on this woman," puffed the locomotive as it tossed a piece of soot on the sweet girl's cheek.

"My dear young lady" said the clergyman, as he listened to an extremely modern woman playing the very latest jazz on the piano, "have you ever heard of the Ten Commandments?"

"Whistle a few bars" said the young lady, "and I think I can follow you."

One new car with piston rings,
Two rear wheels, one front spring
Has no fender, seat of planks,
Burns much gas, hard to crank,
Carburetor busted half way through,
Engine missing, hits on two,
Three years old, four in spring,
Has shock absorbers and everything.
But the radiator busted—sure does leak,
Different drivers can hear it squeak,
Ten spokes missing, front all bent,
Tires blowed out, not worth a cent,
Got lots of speed, runs like the deuce,
Burns either gas or tobacco juice,
Tires been off—run on rims,
But it's a darned good car for the shape it's in.
