Someday

Why do we need to know this? When are we ever going to use this in the real world? These are questions we often hear when the frustration level amounts.

MAKE

Little do we realize that these classes, these subjects are all part of a larger whole. Academics along with our experiences, extracurriculars, friends, enemies, teachers, successes and failures shape who we become. In the future we ask you to use this book as a device for realizing your high school years were valuable. Eventually, everything you learned all makes sense.

BELOW: The faculty and student body prepared for the upcoming year with a pep fest and ribbon cutting ceremony at our new stadium.

BELOW: Students hurried to the gym to receive their schedules from the exited staff before scattering to all areas of the building to compare schedules.

First Day of School

A Fresh Start For The 1995-96 School Year

The 1995-96 school opener kicked off like any other year. Familiar sights, sounds, and smells occupied our halls. Empty lockers reeked of our favorite citrus orange cleaning scent. Freshly waxed shiny floors, free of scuff marks and food wrappers mirrored our new hairdos. Old friends along with new faces sported the latest fashions.

However, it was not business as usual. Teachers planned shorter classes which made for little homework. A picnic lunch prepared by the staff gave students a chance to reminisce about summer fun. A ribbon cutting ceremony and pep fest in our new stadium, symbolized our fresh, exciting start.

STUDENT LIFE

TOP TEN THINGS TEACHERS HATE TO HEAR FROM STUDENTS

1. "Open your book to page ...."
  2. "Class, let's get started."
  3. "Your assignment is ....."
  4. "Clear your desk's and get out a pen or pencil."
  5. " You can't use dead words and NTSSWTSW."
  6. " Where's your pass?"
  7. "Don't talk while I'm talking!"
  8. " Where's your assignment notebook?"
  9. "Just a few notes today."
  10. "No running in the halls!"

TOP TEN THINGS TEACHERS HATE TO HEAR FROM STUDENTS

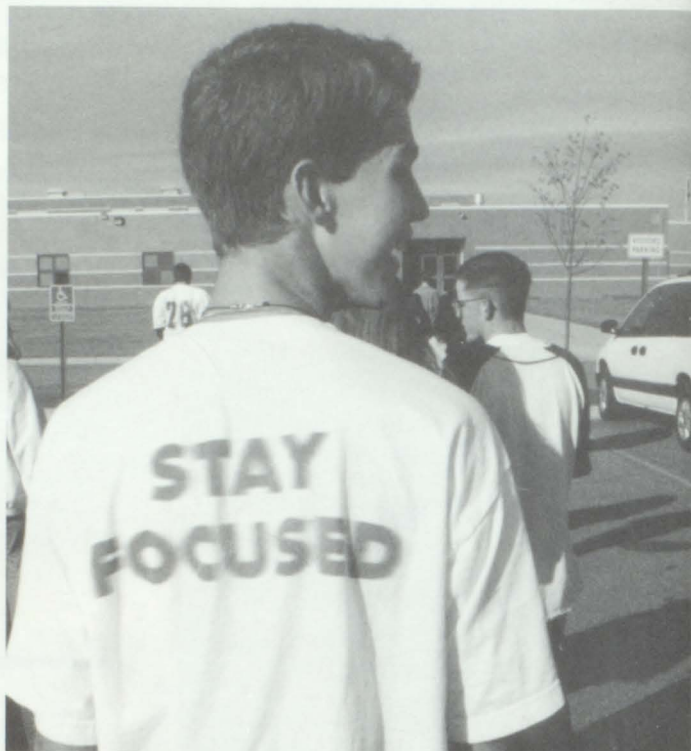

1. "I don't get it!"
2. "When am I ever going to use this anyway?"
3. "I don't understand the instructions. What was the assignment again?"
4. "I didn't study and I still got a B!"
5. "I was absent yesterday. Did the class do anything important while I was gone?"
6. "You mean that was due today? Could I have an extension? I had to work last night."
7. "Can I do extra credit?"
8. "Can I go to the bathroom?"
9. "Do we have to write these notes down?"
10. "Could we go to lunch early today?"

Trends in the halls

Throughout the year many styles and fashions were sported in our hallways. Anything from camouflage to toga, black to pastel, or baggy to cropped, was in style. As long as you wore it with your own attitude.....

A Day in the Life of a Student

- 6:50-Press snooze on alarm clock
- 6:59-Press snooze again
- 7:08-Get out of bed, brush teeth, go to the bathroom, take a shower, get dressed, do hair
- 7:40-Run out to the bus
- 8:10-Run off the bus, run to locker, run down the hall to Spanish
- 8:12-Mr.Minkler rattles off the day's announcements
- 8:15-Senora Briel starts speaking en espanol
- 8:18-Mr.Minkler gets back on the announcements
- 8:58-Bell rings, escape from the Spanish room, go to locker, and then begin the 3 mile walk to the band room
- 9:03-Get a dirty look for arriving late, put together instrument, and practice, practice, practice!!
- 9:46-Mr.Anderson finally lets you put away your instrument and talk
- 9:49-Spend the six minutes finding out where your friends are going for SNAP and then run to the room of your choice
- 9:55-Try using the entire 25 minutes of SNAP as a free social hour
- 10:24-Third hour- history- attempt to ignore Mr.Skogen's jokes and his obsession with Kirby Puckett
- 11:15-Fourth hour- biology-listen to another one of Mr.Ketel's stories or one of his songs that always take his mind off of biology
- 12:02-Walk very fast to the cafeteria and discover that no matter how fast you go, the line will be long and the running freshmen are always first in line
- 12:30-Sit in geometry and catch up on last week's assignments while Mr. Greeno explains how to make hexa-hexa-flexagons and all those other impossible things
- 1:22 -Sixth hour- health- watch "The Miracle of Life" everyone's all-time favorite movie
- 2:12-Start walking through the junior hall to Mrs. Radzwill's room for English- get stuck in the midst of everyone, wait for a clearing and then plow your way through as fast as you can so you're not late
- 2:13-Arrive at the door as the bell rings while all your classmates scream out that you're late- Mrs. Radzwill announces what we're going to do today and everyone groans
- 3:00-The school day is finally over!!!

Left: Hearing the annoying ring of her alarm clock, this student knows it's time to get up for a busy day at school.

In Memory Of Our Friend Blaine

Blaine Andrew Thomas
1978 - 1994

To Our Dear Friend Blaine....

We will always remember the joy you brought into our lives, and are grateful for the times we had with you.

You could always make us laugh even if things weren't going our way.

It is with heavy hearts that we come here today to say Good-bye to our classmate and friend.

You are,
and will be missed more than words can say,
you'll always have a special place in each of our hearts.

In death,
as in life,
you have taught us the importance of love,
for each other.

Until we meet again,

DISTRICT #885 MISSION AND GOALS

The mission of District 885 is to provide a safe educational environment where students are encouraged to develop lifelong learning skills which nurture positive attitudes and self worth.

This will be accomplished when all graduates function as:

Purposeful Thinkers

- who think critically and creatively
- who use inquiry and problem solving skills

Effective Communicators

- who read, write, and speak fluently
- who work well independently and in groups
- who use the tools of technology to access, process and communicate information

Self Directed Learners

- who set goals
- who develop and manage a process for achieving those goals

Responsible Citizens

- who show respect for themselves and others

Mr. DeMatteis

• Superintendent

Mr. Minkler

• Principal

When a student is told to go to the principal's office, usually fear is displayed. But Mr. Minkler, our high school "facilitator", is so much more than just a discipline figure. He spends only 15-20% of an average day dealing with student discipline actions. The rest of Mr. Minkler's day includes dealing with calling parents and other schools, filling out purchase orders, going through the mail, and talking to the secretaries and other personnel. In choosing to be a high school principal, Mr. Minkler wanted to address important issues and to make a stronger influence over the whole school.

Mrs. Barsness

• Director of Curriculum, Instruction, and Staff Development

Not very many people in our school know about Mrs. Barsness. Her role in our education is to be the person who "helps to mold and shape the direction we want to go to help students meet the needs of their future." Mrs. Barsness is involved with the Minnesota Graduation Rule requirement. She thinks that our school will change to meet the standards that the grad rule encompasses and that "we all need to believe in excellence- excellence from students, teachers, and administration. When we believe it, we will achieve it."

Who Runs the School?

Who runs St. Michael-Albertville High School? The answer to this question is the many highly qualified individuals who each have their own special, much-needed, but not always noticed jobs. The first person thought of when talking about running the school is the principal, Mr. Minkler. He is one of those people, but there are many more people needed in our school just as much as a principal. Some of the people are the secretaries, counselors and social workers, custodians, cooks, nurses, media specialist, and the athletic director.

The secretaries, Denice Petrowski, Colleen Harrington, and Jane Lynch, work in the main office. Without these two ladies the phones wouldn't be answered, we wouldn't get to listen to Merrel's pages, and attendance and student problems would not be taken care of. In other words, without these two the office would be total chaos.

Some of the people who offer a great support and guidance system to the students and help the staff with career counseling, are the guidance counselor and the social worker, Barbara Lynch and Meredith Kjellberg.

The custodians in our school are seen countless times daily in the hallways. The excellent job they do goes unnoticed toooften. Every day they sweep the hallways, do repairs, clean the messes we leave in the lunchroom, answer hundreds of 4113 calls, and do much, much more.

Our cooks prepare delicious and nutritious meals for the students every single day of the school year and after making it, they get to deal with the messes of dirty trays and pots and pans.

Vera Hanson, head nurse, and Joni Schmidt, nurse's aide, care for the many ailing students that wander into the nurses office seeking help for headaches, stomachaches, and many other problems.

Ms. Peterson, the school's media specialist, has the job of helping students find information on a variety of subjects for anything from school projects and reports to finding books to read for personal enjoyment. She also takes care of the T.V's, VCR's, overheads and other things classrooms need for every day use.

The school's athletic director, Mr. Beck, along with his secretary, Jan Didier, organize the many sports in our school. Without them, the game scheduling would not make sense and the school hallways would be full of pass-less students.

Mathematics • It All Adds Up

Mrs. Volkanant remembers that when she was a little girl she always loved math, and explains that's why she teaches math. She adds, "everybody needs math to succeed." Mr.

Greeno's reason for teaching math, he had always loved math. Mr. Greeno also majored in math. He explained, "the world is getting more high tech, you even need math to survive in the world." Mr. Erikson our Algebra 2 and calculus He decided, "In school that he was better in math than in any other subject."

Business, Computer Science

Mr. Eichelberg teaches business because "it's something every student will use in a life time." The Business and Computer Science Departments offer electives in Accounting I and II, Typing I and II, Personal Recordkeeping and Computer Science I and II. These electives are necessary to succeed in other classes, as students need to know how to type and use computers to get along through the day. Students will also need good computer and recordkeeping skills to get along as adults later in life.

Science • It All Works Out in the End

Science is everywhere! Science is important for students to gain an appreciation for the variety of life that exists in the world. Also, it helps students learn how science principles are used in their lives and how things work.

The Physics class visits U of M Physics Show and Valleyfair. Physical Science does fudge labs. Biology has a contest growing albino plants. Chemistry figures out what makes the beautiful colors in firework displays. You can't read the paper, watch the news, or understand the weather without Science.

Impressions • Industrial/ Visual Art

When asked why the study of Industrial Technology is important to students Mr. Bauman explains that the USA needs to be a "manufacturing country." And by participating in his class, you can apply your knowledge of technology to the future.

Ms. Hedlund on the other hand thinks visual arts are important for students to express creativity and enhance their abilities to problem solve. The study of colors can help make many important decisions in deciding upon clothing and furniture, which will play a great role in the future.

Wright Technical Center • Hands-On

Classes at the Tech. Center and are designed to prepare students for the work force upon graduation.

Technical classes include machine trades, electronics, automotive, and welding, as well as a focus on business pursuits. Students interested in medical careers and child care receive hands-on experience as well as textbook information. KBUL-8, a cable station owned by WTC, broadcasts student productions while students in graphic communications publish everything from newsletters to T-shirts. The WTC also offers horticulture and agriculture classes.

Keeping Time • Music

"In Band and Choir every student is important in creating and accomplishing large group goals," explains Mr. Anderson," not only do the students learn to play an instrument or sing, they work together as a team to create music."

Band includes many activities besides concerts. For example, "Music of the Night," Honor Band/Choir and solo and ensemble contests involve some of our best musicians. They are exciting events because they give everyone a chance to meet new people and improve music skills.

English • NTSSWTSW and Dead Words

STMA's English Department focuses on teaching communication skills through writing and speaking, understanding complex information and analyzing literature.

Mrs. Lefebvre explains the importance of English, "If a student can read and write, they can go anywhere!" Mr. Wilmes' teaching ideas involve writing practically to prepare students for the writing they will do in later life.

Students enjoy four years of English during their stay at STMA, but may take additional electives.

Special Education/ Living Skills

Our Special education department exists to help students succeed in school. Special Ed. provides a range of services from alternative classroom instruction, help with testing, to Speech therapy.

Living Skills classes encompass a wide variety of information. Foods focuses on the preparation and nutrition involved in daily meal planning. Child Development courses are designed to prepare students for a career in child care or parenthood. Housing allows students to make informed decisions about future housing.

Gym/Health • Leap Into the Future

"In the future, exercise should be a part of everyone's lifestyle," says Mr. Kral, "I've always enjoyed physical activity and thoroughly believed it's important for all ages."

There are many activities, such as, tennis, bowling, skiing, and golf that can be enjoyed later on in life if we learn the correct ways now.

Health is another important subject which is key to our futures. Kids always ask Mrs. Sonju, "What do I need to learn this for?" She replies with, "Health is about you, you can't ask for a subject more relevant to someone's life."

Easier Said than Done • Spanish

Over 300 million people speak Spanish, many in our own country. Learning to speak another language helps students learn about the different cultures, values, and beliefs of Spanish speaking countries and also makes them more aware of their own. In Spanish you learn the language by writing, speaking, and listening. You work in groups, listen to tapes, sing songs, and play vocabulary games. The world is becoming more global, so knowing another language is a valuable tool for the future.

Social Studies • Past, Present, & Future

Social studies teachers stress the importance of their subjects by saying it keeps you aware of what is happening in the world. And to also understand the importance of current and historical events. By making posters, models, presentations, or even studying fossils, students are being taught a wide variety of social studies.

Just be careful not to walk into Mr. Skogen's classroom during a review game, in case he has a repeat performance of his pants splitting down the middle!

National Honors Society pledge • I, being aware of the honor which is being bestowed upon me by my election to membership in the National Honor Society do hereby pledge loyalty to this organization. It shall be my earnest purpose to give unsparingly of my time and energy toward the promotion of all school activities. I will strive to be at all times a model student, and will never knowingly bring reproach upon my school. I pledge myself to uphold the high purpose of this Society to which I have been elected, striving in every way by word and deed to make its ideals the ideals of my school and of my life.

NHS members follow this pledge by serving the school and the community. Members sell donuts every Tuesday morning and recycle every Wednesday during SNAP. The Homecoming Week festivities and the dance are organized by NHS. They also plan Winter Week. NHS participates in St. Jude's trivia challenge, which helps children with cancer, and sponsors the Food Shelf Drive. This year they also helped move the books in the Crow River Regional Library. Another service project NHS did focused on cleaning a one mile stretch of the Crow River twice during the year.

IT'S ALL FOR THE BEST

Fellow students have invested their vote in me. They must be competently represented. I must do my job: The greatest good for the most students is my concern.

I will constantly strive for self-improvement, improvement of others, and the consequent over-all achievement of my school.

I will abide by and respect the rules of the council, of the school and of the community.

This office is an honor to serve, not a service to honor. All honor for my service refracts positively on my school.

I must work effectively with others so that we can accomplish our goals as a council.

I will show respect for the faculty, administration and fellow council members, especially when I disagree so that we can work together for change. I will learn to negotiate without a compromise of principles.

This is a cooperative education adventure to make our school and the world a better place in which to live!

Y ou mean we have to come in on a Saturday? Yearbook members spent many days and weekends trying to make sense of it all. They struggled against time, computers, and Mrs. Radzwill's lack of organization. It was not an uncommon sight to see students fill Mr. Hoistad's computer lab as they cropped pictures, called local businesses, struck computers, and revised copy.

Putting The Pieces TOGETHER

This year's yearbook theme came about as Editors planned their summer training. By attending Josten's summer camp in Wahpeton, N.D., Editors learned all about each other as well as the work that goes into a yearbook. Oh, and let us not forget about the Viking rock and astronaut strawberries.

Yearbook members learned much more than layouts and croppers. Did you know that DJ's sells tuna? That Larva can outrun Mrs. Shomshak? That pineapple on pizza is actually pretty good? Or that Mr. Hoistad changes clothes in his office?

R.A.K

Random Acts of Kindness

RA.K., a new and improved version of STMA's Peer Mediator and Peer Helpers, took on a fresh name this year. R.A.K. stands for "Random Acts of Kindness", a movement that focuses on committing haphazard kindness for staff and students.

This year's members were responsible for organizing and collecting clothes for the annual clothing drive. The Sophomores, the clear cut victors in the clothing competition, were rewarded for their efforts with dilly bars. The January 26th "Fun Day" was sponsored by R.A.K. as well. Students enjoyed an afternoon away from books and classes as they watched movies, ate snacks and visited with friends.

Mock Trial? What's that? Many students ask that question. Mock Trial is a re-enactment of a real court proceeding. The StMA Team consists of nine students all of which are Juniors and Seniors. The students on the team each take a role. The roles consist of three lawyers, three witnesses, baliff, and a timekeeper.

This is our schools second year of participating in this activity. The team did very well this year for all of the obsticals that the team had to face. Between all the snow day, late starts, icy roads and the cold weather it made the early morning practices even harder to attend. The team also had or partially shared three different coaches.

Speech

All Said and Done

Does that sound okay? That is probably one of the most commonly asked questions during Speech practice. Changing lines, adding lines, and rehearsing to a blank wall are all part of the challenges involved in Speech.

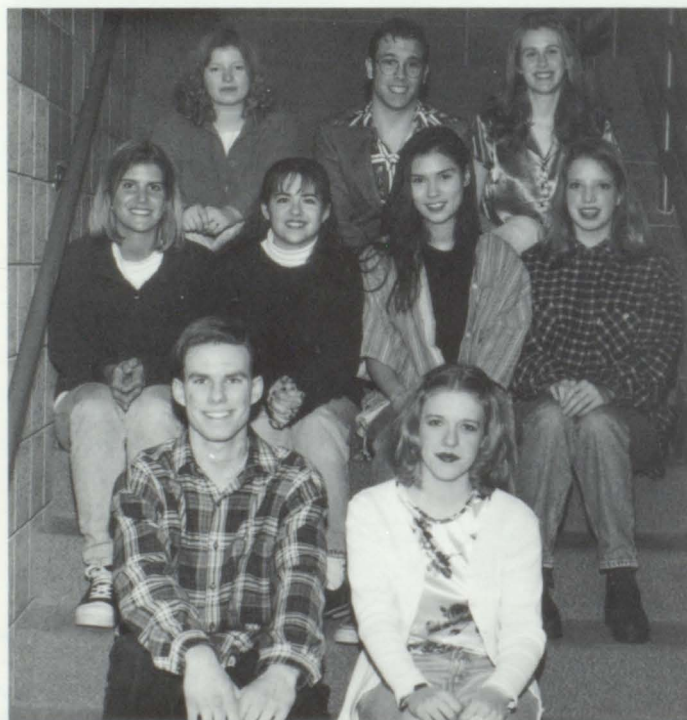

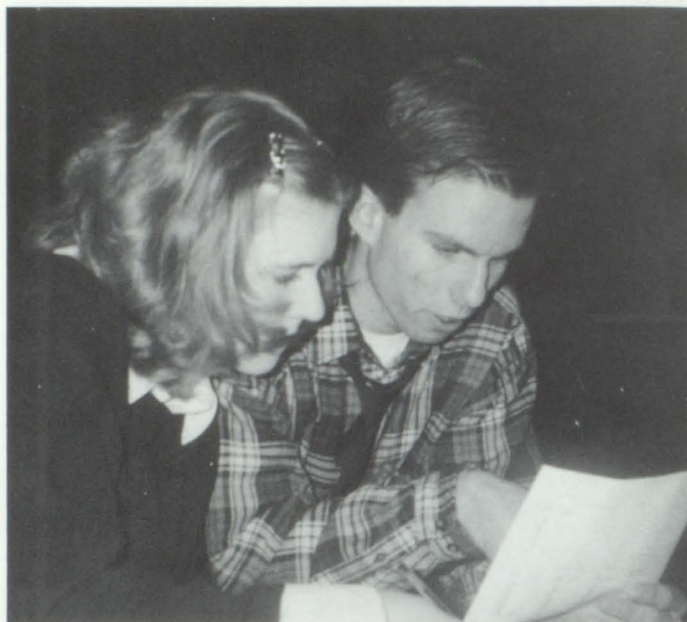

Each member chooses their own category and forms it to perfection. Some categories include Dramatic Duo, Great Speeches, Informative, Humorous, and Story Telling. Members of speech compete in several speech meets throughout the year. Unlike athletic matches, students compete against many schools at each meet.

After all is said and done, speech is a great challenge to work with and have fun with.

Fiddler On The Roof

The story of Fiddler is set in the little Russian village of Anatevka, but it could be anywhere-anywhere that people face hard times with humor and humanity.

It was a warm and touching story of Tevye, the dairyman, and his five daughters. Although, Tevye's precariously balanced world often seems to shatter, he manages to keep his wry sense of humor about himself, his family, and his God.

Not only did the cast do a wonderful job with controlling the audiences' tears and laughs, but what the audience didn't know was that the cast and crew was also crying and laughing backstage as the bond between everyone was just too great to lose.

Far Right: The Rabbi (Mike Vergin) helps his town out by giving a little advice.

Direct Right: Tevye (Jared Kolles) and Perchik (Adam Kolles) discuss the laws of the country.

Bottom Right Corner: Tzeitel (Kelly Eull) teases Hodel (Anna Lobsock) about her future husband.

Below: Adam Vee, Dave Beranek, Adam Kolles, Jesse Johnson, and Curt Zachman play the sons as they sing to the crowd.

Below: Tevye (Jared Kolles) tells the audience about his current stress factors.

CRY OF THE CROWS

The story is set in a small town where word travels fast. When Ann Perkins becomes a victim of awful gossip, she goes through a rough time of acceptance by not only her mother, but the whole town. Something unusual did happen to Ann while on an afternoon walk, but nothing to fuss over. She was rudely, but smoothly approached and harassed by Johnny Fowler, a schoolmate. Two talkative middle aged women witnessed the scene in the park and misinterpreted what was said between the two travelers. Rumors quickly spread around town and until the preacher decided to confront Ann with the gossip to see if she could find forgiveness for Ann. The play is about how Ann suffered and could only be helped by her "steady", who resorted to taking her away from town.

FarRight: Johnny Fowler(James wax) and Ann Perkins (Meagan Kittridge) look over the town.

BAND/CHOIR

The Band has kept busy this year by doing numerous activities. They support our school sports by playing in pep band for fall and winter sports. Earlier in the year they performed at two field shows: the ribbon cutting ceremony for the new stadium and the Homecoming game. The band has expanded this year so there are two bands, the ninth grade band and the Wind Ensemble. This allows the ninth graders to become stronger and more independent players.

The Choir has once again expanded this year. The Choir grew so much that they didn't have enough robes for everyone when they performed. Some activities that the choir was involved with this year included singing at coronation, sending members to honors choir, and putting on concerts for the public.

The Band and Choir Senior members both perform at the graduation ceremony to end the year.

Far right: Leah Marx uses Mr. Anderson's chair to play her Contrabass Clarinet.

Direct right: The Choir sings for the Jr. High, to catch the interest of the students and encourage participation.

Right: Katie Lindenfelser, Tara Chistopherson, James Wax, and Jared Kolles practice before performng for the school board.

Below: Jeremy Poliout, Angie Vetsch, Nikki Selix, and Marissa Winter pretend to be doing something productinve for the camera.

There was a new curriculum focused on in the Music Department this year. It required every band and choir student to participate in an ensemble, whether it be a trio or a solo. At first this caused problems, or one could call it confusion. After a lot of compromising, the Music Dept. decided to give it a try. The curriculum change has helped improve the Department. When an individual is in an ensemble, trio, or solo it helps them to better themselves musically as well as provides an opportunity to build student confidence which in turn helps improves the whole Music Department, one individual at a time.

Cheering Our Way to Victory!

Cheerleaders

STMA's Cheerleaders go beyond ringside to support our student athletes. On any given night, one can see our dedicated leaders of cheer designing art work that don our hallways, hanging up locker signs that show STMA's support of their athletes, or working out. They energize our student body during pep fests, as well as keeping our school song alive. They also attend every game as well as those on the road.

Let's Hear it for the Fans!

Fans are everywhere in our school. Whether it be at a ball game, tournament, meet, or musical concert, they have pride in our many events. If it wasn't for the fans, who would be responsible for the loud cheers, hearty claps, and high-pitched whistles? And who would be responsible for keeping the team on their feet? Only the Knights fans can make it all happen. So Let's Hear it for the Fans!

THANKS!

The editors would like to thank the following people for their help in making the 1995-1996 yearbook successful.

MR. HOISTAD- for letting us use the computer lab, commandeering your cupboards, and ignoring pilfered pens and pencils along with the mess.

MS. HEDLUND- for using your artistic abilities to capture STMA students in action and for developing those perfect pictures.

MERREL SCHUMM, PAT RUSSELL, DAVID BRANT, DAN DEHMER, and MADALINE TRUNNELL- for responding to our 4103 calls, unlocking the doors, and cleaning up after us.

ZAHLER PHOTOGRAPHY- for your valuable time and photo expertise.

ADVERTISERS- for supporting your STMA students. Your advertising is greatly appreciated and makes publishing our yearbook possible.

COACHES- for supplying memorable moments, stats, and team photos.

JIM CASHMAN and JOSTENS- for technical support.

THE CLASS OF 1996- for the great laughs and treasured memories.

YEARBOOK STAFF- for donating your precious time and exquisite talents towards the production of our book.

MRS. RADZWILL- for making this yearbook successfully possible, while adding the humor, and keeping us on top of it all.

Love, Mom and Dad

Beth Lindenfesler

We are proud to have such a special daughter as you. Good luck in the years to come and may you find success in whatever you do.

Love, Mom and Dad

Robert Fenske

12 years later, you still have that cute smile! We hope your wishes and dreams come true in your years after graduation.

The football stadium looks great. You have made a great contribution to your school, and you should be very proud of yourself. We are! We know you will succeed in life.

Love, Mom and Dad

Shannon Wilkens

Thanks for being such a responsible and caring daughter. Keep up the smile and you'll go far. We love you very much.

Love, Mom and Dad

Kurt Eull

Remember all those years of getting up at the crack of dawn for hockey practice? How times have changed! Now that's more like the time you're getting home.

Love, Mom and Dad

Brandon Berning

You will always be our special "monk." We know with the guidance of God, you will continue to climb to the top in whatever you choose to do in the future.

With lots of love, Dad and Mom

Niki Selix

Life has its ups and downs, but putting on your make-up is a challenge. You are a very special girl to us.

Our Love, Dad, Mom and Kelly

Elizabeth Eiden

You were a wonderful child, and now you're a wonderful adult. Thank you for making us such proud prents.

Love, Mom and Dad

Pat May

We knew you'd fill these shoes one day!

Love, Mom and Dad

Nancy Angus

From Cutie to Beauty! May you achieve all you dream for. The best to you always. You've worked hard. You deserve the best. We'll always be proud of you.
