Marching Knights Sweat It

- A-The sweat and hard work pay off in the end.
- B-Chris anxiously awaits the parade.
- C-Colorguard members anticipate Aquatennial.
- D-Colorguard show that they're tough stuff, too.

The Marching Knights are becoming a marching band not to be overlooked, adding numerous awards to their ever-growing collection of trophies, the most recent being the first place trophy from the Aquatennial Grand Day Parade. The band managed to come away with the top spot despite the doubts of many people. The following Wednesday at the Torchlight Parade, many people were overcome with heat exhaustion, but thanks to those people who helped with the water and ice, it was kept to a minimum of six. The band returned at 2:00 in the morning for a well-deserved rest after a tiring week of marching.

Coronation begins Homecoming '83 with a new tradition, the queen and king lighting the bonfire. The school week begins with students doing their own thing on Monday, dressing up on Tuesday, wearing togas and snapping pictures on Wednesday, hats on Thursday, and wearing blue and gold on Friday. Friday also crowns Donnie and Cindy Booby King and Queen, pulls the faculty over the tug-of-war line, and gives the football team a disappointing defeat of 27-6. The seniors this year can only tie the juniors in the powder puff game. Ending the week, the Crow River Band hosts a disappointing Homecoming dance, only playing one slow song.

King Dan And Queen Lisa

Coronation night was filled with much suspense and excitement as everyone awaited the crowning of the '83 king and queen.

The STMA Wind Ensemble played the Coronation March as the candidates proceeded up the aisle, and entertained the audience with "Chariots of Fire."

To conclude coronation night, all were invited to the lighting of the bonfire, ignited by the new king and queen.

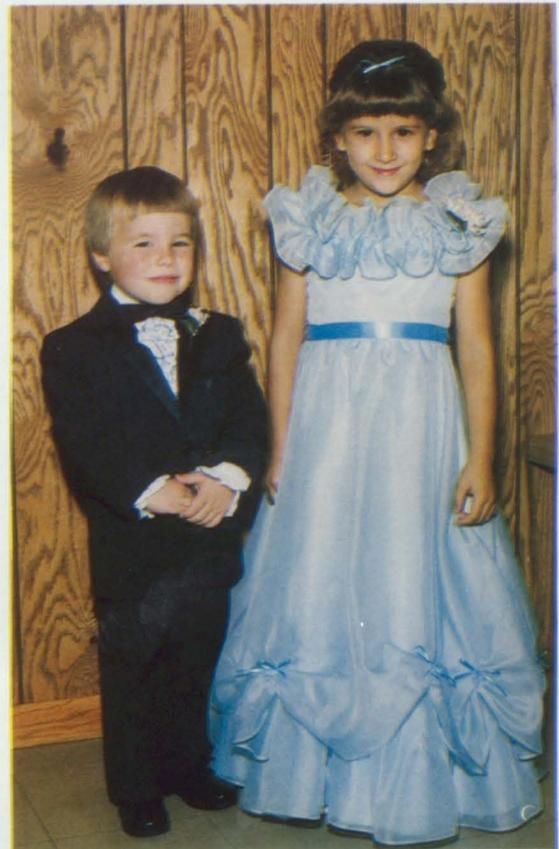

- A-King Dan starts bon fire.
- B-Keep on smiling; they will be done soon.
- C-Marty Keenan announces candidates.
- D-'82 Queen crowns this year's King.

C- Junior Royalty; T. Bourgeois, and V. Hackenmueller.
D- "Wow, isn't this a great bon fire?"
E- Bon fire concludes coronation night.

Tear Along the Dotted Line

Tear Along the Dotted Line portrays a comedy about trying to cut the apron strings called home and strike out on your own. Working behind the scenes on props are Pat Keenan and Dee Dee Scharber, while Ben Cameron and Mike Oman handle lighting work; Becky Benjamin works with make-up. The play was first performed in front of the student body, and then presented the public with two evening performances. Well directed by Mr. Fredrickson, the cast gave a fine performance.

Rips Up Audience

- ♥ A-Mrs. Oldac takes her business very seriously.
- B-"Cute, Steph, but . . ."

Winning Teams Receive State Support

A-Mr. Kral's advice leads team to perfect 30-0 season.
 B-Who are these funny-looking people, Ms. Peterson?
 C-"Coach Beck, how did we finish?"
 D-Even parents get into the act.
 E-Welcome back, champs!

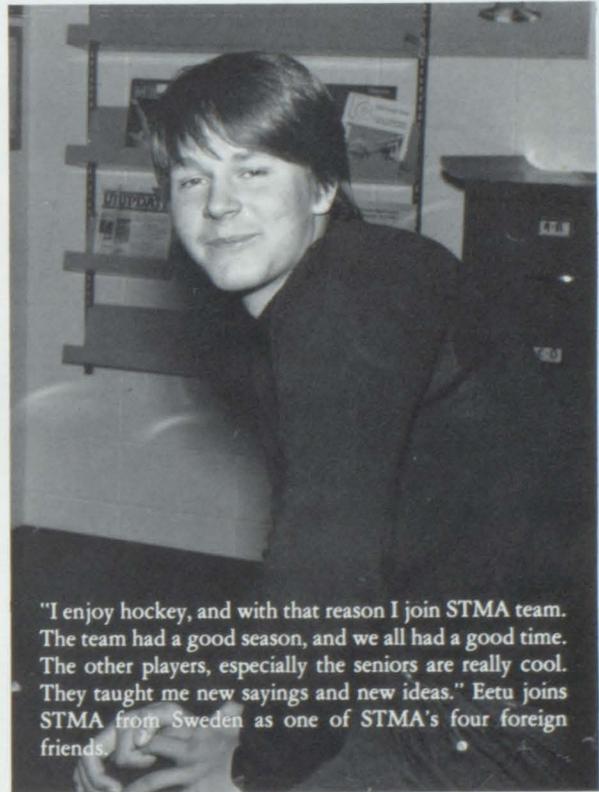

Granted, taking first or sixth place in a state meet requires dedicated and talented athletes, but not without the support of a few dedicated and usually unrecognized followers: Mr. Kral, who received the region coach of the year award, which impressed everyone. Yet Kral won the same award last year; no one knew until an innocent bystander spotted the plaque and phoned Crow River News. Ms. Catlin, who put in equal dedication and received less recognition. Ms. Peterson, who shrugged off all her charts and stats and slides with, "I just enjoy doing it." Lillian Zachman, who thanked the volleyball team for allowing her to be a part of it all. Coach Beck, who runs as many miles as his team does. Mr. Bouelle, who made it to every meet. And all the fans, who took the time to cheer on a group of dedicated, self-disciplined athletes.

Foreign Friends '84

"I'm really glad to come here, to meet you, to know you, and to be one of the STMA's students. I really like here. I never forget about you, your kind, this town, and STMA High School after I go back my country. Please remember an exchange student come from Japan. I spent wonderful time over here. Thanks for everything until now. I do hope I'll see you again someday!" are just a few of the enthusiastic words Ayumi Ichikawa has for her stay here at STMA.

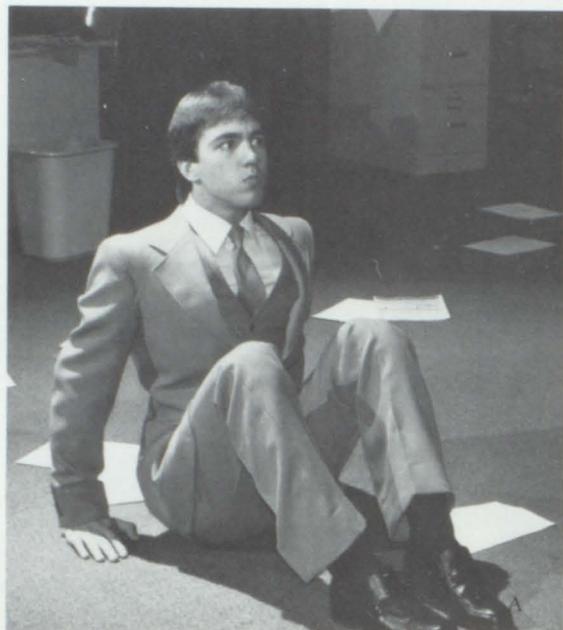

"I enjoy hockey, and with that reason I join STMA team. The team had a good season, and we all had a good time. The other players, especially the seniors are really cool. They taught me new sayings and new ideas." Eetu joins STMA from Sweden as one of STMA's four foreign friends.

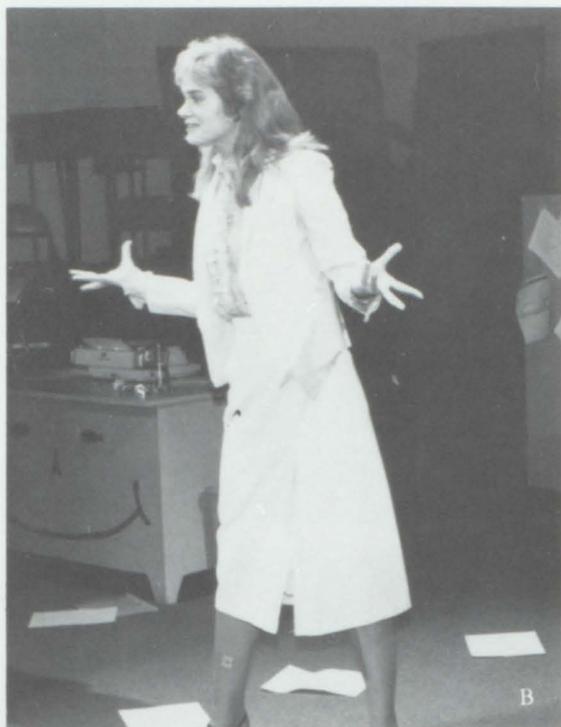

Marcela Dominguez and Jorge Pineda, from Columbia and Guatemala, along with Eetu and Ayumi give STMA students a new look at cultural differences as well as similarities. These foreign students keep students aware and in wonder of the outside world. With Ayumi, Marcela, Jorge, and Eetu, all corners of the world are revealed to us, and their visit becomes one of learning for the students as well as for STMA's four foreign friends.

Double Roles Cast In

- A- Mr. Gray, a man on top of the world.
- B- "You call this a great career?!"
- C- One minute, secretary .. the next, businessman!
- D- From a chic secretary

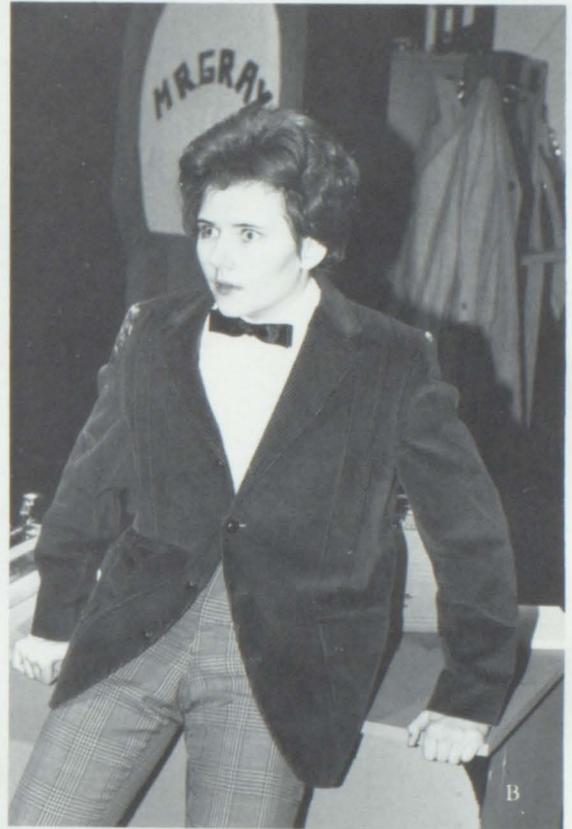

This year's one-act play gave two of its actors (Bob Zahler and Maria Zachman) a new challenge: portraying not only two characters, but roles of the opposite sex. And it gave a third actor (Jill Anderson) the challenge of portraying a wide range of emotions. A Great Career illustrated the harried, meaningless side of career life. Jill played Linda, who rebels against this phony occupation, while her boss and co-workers (Bob and Maria) attempt to convince her of the beauty of an efficient business — truly a well-oiled machine.

One-Act Play: A Great Career

- A- Linda (Jill Anderson) begs for her job back.
- B- "You're kidding!"
- C- ... into a complacent, overly dedicated worker.

A New Tradition Finds Great Success

- A- Patty, Jody, Amy, and Pam try to decide what of the many things to do.
- B- Chowin' down and letting everyone know that the class of '84 is number one!!!
- C- Caricatures were one of the main attractions as everyone enjoyed themselves at the expense of those sitting in front of the artist.
- D- Beak and Michelle shoot pool among other things.

- A- Swimming was just one of the things to do. "WOW," Hey Joe?
- B- Boy, we'd sure know how the seniors would do in Las Vegas by the time and money lost at the tables. But, it sure was worth it.
- C- "Can they make it? Can they ring the bell and win a prize?"
- D- Mini-golf for money, hey Dan?

The parents of STMA sure found a good thing when they gave the seniors a party never to be forgotten. They brought a new tradition to top just about all. There was food and music and videos and gambling and games and horse races and caricatures and rest and prizes and breakfast and on and on. There were television sets given away, one to Dana Lindenfelser and one to Steve Lehn, and Vicki Kessler won the stereo that was given away. Jorge Pineda and Gina Thompson won the hot air balloon rides. There were numerous prizes auctioned off which was one of the main attractions early in the morning.

- D- Daryl burns up the hill.

First in District and Conference, second in Region, and sixth in State are just a few of the outstanding accomplishments of the '83 boys' C-C team. Going into State, the team carried a hopeful outlook with Murray Bourelle leading the team, and two other senior runners, unpredictable Daryl Martin and an injured Joe Schany. Daryl pulled in 21st place and Joe took 51st. Other team members Francis Robeck, Pat Chervenak, Roland Robeck, and Chad DeMatteis took 33rd, 53rd, 69th, and 82nd respectively. Their '83 season was the best of all seasons.

Girls' CC Runs On Determination

It took a lot of devotion to be on the girls' cross-country team last season. Coach Beck held high expectations for his team with practices being held not only after school but as early as 6:30 in the morning. The hard work paid off when the girls took first at the Harding-De LaSalle meet. The girls also took fifth in Districts. As for individual accomplishments, Margaret Robeck received Hardest Worker, and Jody Vetsch received Most Improved. Neither rain, nor sleet, nor snow, nor heat will stop a C-C runner's feet!

- A- C-C is racy!

Young Football Team Meets Defeat

The varsity football squad faced tough competition, and was only able to get by three teams in the conference: Annandale, Howard Lake-Waverly, and Rockford. The season went out with something less than a bang with three consecutive nonscoring games against Watertown, Becker, and Big Lake. The team was required to utilize much of its young talent, though, with seniors a minority in number.

Mike Berning had the most receptions and most yards for the overall season; Tom Dick, most passes completed; and Dennis Berning, most interceptions. In team awards, Tom Dick and Dan Dehmer made All-Conference, Dan Dehmer received MVP, Jim Zachman received Most Improved, and Gary Dehmer-Hardest Worker. The team will be counting on the strengths of many of its underclassmen in the upcoming season.

A-Best Blocker, Dawn Peterson, blocks spikes by Bricelyn for the State championship. B-C-Side set, back set, front set, they did it all. D-Bonnie slams another one.

After STMA came away with the top spot in State volleyball, many people wondered how it must have felt for those on the team. Dawn K.: "State Champs, wow . . ." Vicki K.: "This season is one which I'll always remember . . ." Bonnie L.: "To put so much into a sport and achieve what you've always dreamed of achieving is something in life I wish everyone could experience." Pam H.: "The memories I have of being state champs are ones I'll never forget and will always cherish." Andrea E.: "It's a great feeling to know your discipline and sacrifices paid off."

After many previous successful seasons in which STMA never quite reached the ultimate goal of winning the State championship, they finally did it. The team was pushed to that championship by seven outstanding seniors: Vicki Kessler: MVP, Best Server, and Best Spiker; Pam Hackenmueller: Best Setter; Dawn Peterson: Best Blocker; and Bonnie Lindenfelser: Most Improved. Vicki Kessler, Dawn Kessler, and Pam Hackenmueller also made the All-Conference team. Coach Kral also received Region 5A and State Coach of the Year.

Tennis Team Makes It To Region

- A- Julie concentrates hard on her game.
- B. Right on target!
- C. Bonnie works hard at practice.
- D. Bonnie and Kris wait anxiously for the serve.

This year the tennis team ended its season with 4 wins and 7 losses. Senior Maria Zachman finished with 8 wins and 4 losses before having to sit out because of an injury, and Bonnie Vetsch finished with 0 wins and 3 losses.

At Regions, the team beat Waconia 3 to 2 and beat Crosby-Ironton 6-1 and 6-0, but finally lost to Foley 4-6 and 4-6. All in all, the team is looking forward to a good season next year as the strong underclass players return.

Senior Leaders Pace Team

The STMA boys' basketball team gained a lot of game experience with a not-so-impressive record of 8 wins and 11 losses. The team was led by co-captains Mike Berning and Murray Bourelle and supported by a competitive group of juniors. Both Mike and Dennis (Henry) made the All-Conference team with Murray receiving an Honorable Mention. The MVP award was also presented to Mike. The team looks forward to a successful season next year with the experience gained in this season.

The girls' basketball team suffered a disappointing season this year mainly because of injuries. A knee injury kept Maureen (Mo) from playing the entire season. Jeannie was also kept from playing part of the season because of a sprained ankle. Dawn also suffered a finger injury. Having to play without a full strong team was one of the factors that contributed to an overall record of 9 wins and 10 losses. Despite this weakness, many players were able to achieve significant accomplishments. Dawn and Vicki were both voted MVPs and All-Conference. Jeannie also made the All-Conference team and was awarded an Honorable Mention.

JV Basketball Puts In Long Hours

The JV basketball team is hoping to rely on experience for a good season next year. Many of the games they played, according to Jeff Wood, were very close. The opponents were also said to be bigger and tougher than our team, which mostly consisted of sophomores and freshmen. Although they had more losses than wins, the players put in long hours of hard work and they did well for such a young team.

1st-STMA Invitational

1st-Wright County Conference

This year's varsity wrestlers were outstanding. Their overall dual record was 13-4-0, plus they captured three tournament titles. They were first in the STMA Invitational, Wright County Conference, and District 17A tournaments. The team wrestled its way to play Foley for the Region title, but unfortunately lost 21-30. Junior Jeff Becker was voted most valuable team member, junior Bryan Guzzo was chosen the outstanding wrestler, 8th grader Tom Ripplinger was most improved, and Gary Dehmer received the award for the hardest worker. The following wrestlers have earned first place tournament titles: Bryan Guzzo-4; Tom Ripplinger, Jeff Becker, and Gary Dehmer-3; Scott Dehmer, Ernie Merrill, and Jim Vetsch-1. Coach Greeno summarized the season as an excellent one, and he looks forward to next year.

JV Wrestlers Win Invitational

The JV wrestlers finished their season with 10 wins and 7 losses. They also captured the STMA Invitational title, followed by Blaine and Apple Valley. First place finishers at the invitational were Gary Schoen (98), Greg Gindele (155), and Fritz Voss (167). Leading point scorers of the season were Dan Burke, 8 pins; Jeff Schoen, 7 pins; and Eric Dehmer, 6 pins. According to one of the JV wrestlers, "Our team had a better season than last year, and we hope to do even better next year."

Athletes Perform At Region/State

STMA sent both gymnast and wrestlers to Region and State this winter. The entire gymnastics team went to Region and finished second, with Pam Hackenmueller going on to State. A total of eight wrestlers went to Region, and two went to State. These were Bryan Guzzo who placed second, and Jeff Becker who placed third.

- A- Looking good, Pam, keep your balance!
- B- C'mon, Bryan, roll that guy over.
- C- Keep it, Jeff!
- D- Debbie Sundquist does the splits during her Region floor routine.
- E- Bonnie Lindenfelser shows good form at Region.

Graceful Gymnasts Glide

- A- One of Pam's star performances that led her to State.
- B- Is it really that easy, Mary?
- C- Deb leaps into her floor routine.
- D- Elegant Bonnie.

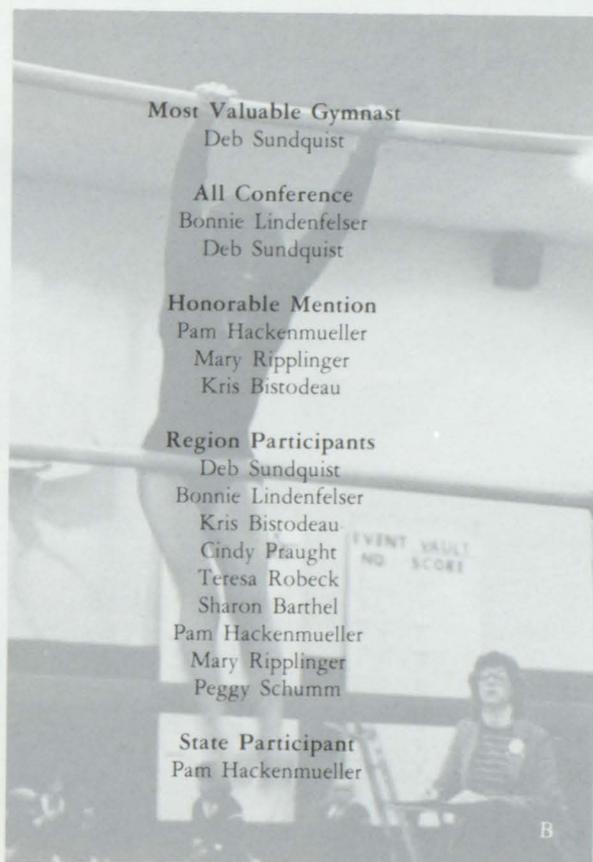

Many records were broken, and one member went to State. First, this year's team score of 144.55 broke last year's of 125.4. What an improvement! Bonnie broke two records: the floor record with an 8.4, and all-around with a 31.85, which helped the team considerably. Deb broke the bar record with an 8.4. The season ended with an overall 14-1 record, first in Conference, District, and Sub-Region. The team just missed first place in Regions and had to take second.

To Slapshot Season

The STMA hockey team had its best season ever, resulting in a 13 win - 7 loss record. This can be attributed to the immense amount of work put in by several people: sophomore goalie Dan Paulson with a 4.5% GPA average; manager, scorekeeper Colleen O'Donnell; high scorers and most valuable players Paul Jocelyn (21 goals) and Tom Yerxa (19 goals); most outstanding defenseman Tim Duggan; and a good deal of team effort from a basically young team.

Shaky Start

The returning five seniors and one junior letterman overcame an unstable beginning in softball. "The season opened with many errors and inconsistencies," explained Coach Eichelberg. Due to continual efforts toward improvement of skills and overall play, the team played its best ball at the end of the regular season. They played as well as could be expected from a weak start. The team won its first district game against Breck. After a defeat in the second district game, the team went to Watertown and placed 4th in Districts.

Everyone played well and achieved many goals. Bonnie Vetsch and Pam Hackenmueller surpassed them and received special recognition. Bonnie was named Most Valuable Player and was selected for the All-Conference game. Pam received Honorable Mention.

We tried to make up for this mistake with a special double page for these sports.

The junior varsity players are the ground-level stones for a varsity building. They participate in sports as 9th and 10th graders to gain experience. This experience pays off as they join the varsity teams of their favorite sports.

The STMA baseball '84 season results were very successful. The team got a late start with the controversy of the coaching staff. But, they still did well with a record of 14-4. Doug Daleiden and Randy Kottke were named all-conference and Rob Kottke received an honorable mention. The team placed third in the district competition. Overall the team accomplished much. "It was a tough season, what with not knowing who was gonna coach, but I think we had a fun, good season," said one baseballer about the year.

The girls performed well at the District 17A meet allowing Deb Sundquist, Dawn Peterson, and Colleen O'Donnell to advance to the region meet in the 100 m. and 200 m. hurdles, the disc throw, and the high jump, respectively. Deb placed 7th in the 100 m., but didn't in the 200 m., Dawn took 1st with her best throw ever, and Co took 5th with her best jump ever. At the state meet, Dawn took 9th place. There were also many other individuals who did well in the season meets.

The '84 season brought much success to the boys' track team. They brought home to STMA many awards and 1st places. At the WCC meet, Murray Bouelle and Daryl Martin were conference champs in the 800 m. and the 3200 m. runs, respectively. The team took second at this meet. The District 17A meet brought the team 5th place, and again Murray and Daryl were champs in their races. The team took 11th at the Region 5A meet with champs Murray Bouelle, Daryl Martin taking 3rd, and Shawn Kedrowsky taking 5th in the 100 m. Murray then took 7th at State. Outdoor school records were broken by Shawn in the 100 m., 11.3, and a tie in the 200, 22.8; Bill Dwinnell in the triple jump, 39'2½"; and Murray in the 800 m., 1:57.6. Daryl Martin was named the most valuable runner.

Cheerleaders Bring Out

Contrary to popular belief, cheerleaders do not just cheer; they devote a great deal of their time preparing for parents' night, making wall posters and locker signs, doing fund raisers, and putting on pep fests. Also, the football cheerleaders cheered for the volleyball team when they went to State; and the hockey cheerleaders cheered for girls' basketball in their spare time.

Track Teams Dominate Region/State

- A- Murray's running ability earns him first at Region.
- B- Shawn shows good form in relays as well as in his best races, the 100- and 200- meter dashes.
- C- Deb's face shows the agony of a tough race, but she always seems to come out ahead.

The spring Region/State competition this year was dominated by the two track teams. Murray Bourelle took 1st at Region and 7th at State in the half-mile. Dawn Peterson took 1st at Region and 9th at State in the disc throw, breaking records for her throw at the region meet. Shawn Kedrowski took 5th in the 100 and 7th in the 200 at Region. Deb Sundquist placed 7th in the 100 hurdles and didn't place in the 200 hurdles. Alex White didn't place but had his best time in the 300 hurdles. Daryl Martin took 3rd in the 2 mile and didn't place in the mile. Colleen O'Donnell took 5th in the high jump with her best jump ever.

NHS provided many activities for the student body, beginning with Homecoming week. NHS members planned for this week as well as for Christmas and Winter Fest. Also, remember the video dance? The NHS planned that, also. The pop machine, which everyone appreciates, was provided by the NHS. Their first community project, the Walk-a-Thon, was a great success. The money collected was donated to the March of Dimes. Another first was Staff Appreciation Day. On this day, a breakfast was given, signs were put up, and flowers were given to all teachers, administrators, cooks, and custodians at STMA High School.

Knights March Into Successful Season . . . Again

As everyone must already know, the STMA Marching Knights are becoming a band wanted around the country. They have received an international invitation from the King and Queen of Sweden inviting them to march for them, and have received many offers from across the country, including invites from California, Florida, Missouri, and Colorado. They have had successful season after successful season, and look forward to more to come in the future so that they can add more first place and international competition trophies to their "collection."

- D- Stage Band is accompanied by pianist Julie Robeck, drummers Chad Barthel and Paul Feaster, and Director Stuart Sawdey.

Stage Band contains a select group of students with extraordinary talents. Their specialty is providing jazz types of entertainment for others in stage and band style. Among many accomplishments this year, Stage Band received a superior rating at the District Solo Ensemble, participated at State Solo Ensemble, and played several selections at the Honors Day assembly.

Pep Band Jams For STMA Sports

Pep Band is an important part of keeping STMA's spirit high. It played for volleyball when they went to the Met and for the wrestlers at St. John's tournaments. The band also played at parents' nights, pep fests, and at regular scheduled games. It made STMA's sports more exciting and entertaining for everyone.

- A- Pep Band tunes into the game.
- B- Pep Band not only plays but cheers, too.
- C- Drummers keep the beat of the game.
- D- Pep Band strikes up the crowd.
- E- They take a break to watch the game.

Wind Ensemble Tunes Up STMA

The 83-84 Wind Ensemble had an outstanding year. The group received a triple superior rating when it performed at Delano. Some students also starred at Contest, then went to State and did very well. As a group they performed pop music, songs from the 50s and 60s and many more. Congratulations go to Deb Sundquist who received the Huber Award for outstanding musician.

A- First row: C. Van Heel, C. Pederson, D. Lippert, R. Zachman, D. Auger, B. Lindenfelser. Second row: D. Sundquist, D. Dehmer, S. Weber, K. Peterson, M. Barthel, L. Barthel, C. O'Donnell, D. # 9th Grade Band Shows Improvement

According to Mr. Sawdey, the 9th grade band has really improved this year. Besides putting on 3 concerts this year, many of the members are marching in the band this summer because of their talent, hard work, and help from Mr. Sawdey. Because of their improvement they also got to play at graduation. The band also performed at Contest for the judge's comments as it does every year to see where they need to improve.

- A- Many hours of hard work go into a good performance.
- B- The pied pipers pipe their horns.
- C- First row: S. Hackenmueller, H. Thompson, D. Gilge, J. Barthel, C. Vetsch, A. Hagerty, J. Welter, C. Luther. Second row: S. Irvine, T. Hamman, D. Burke, J. Kotte, M. Westerlund. Third row: T. # Concert Knights Bring Out The Stars

Even though this was the freshmen's first year singing in high school chorus concerts, they did a beautiful job. Each of their concerts had a main theme. The last concert, for example, centered around dancing, and the audience was treated to a demonstration of square dancing!

- A- Maybe we will all become famous singers someday?!
- B- First row: A. Altman, R. Moos, G. Marquette, N. Anselment. Second row: P. Schumm, S. Irvine, R. Praught, L. Volk, S. Zwach, T. Smith. Third row: C. Schuster, J. Welter, K. Cochran, S. Kimmerle, T. Dehmer, L. Shomion, G. Barthel.
- C- Ms. Hudak conducts her choir proudly.

Talent Lights Up Starry Knights

- A- Guys take their hats off to "Ain't She Sweet."
- B- Pop Group relives the '20s.

- D- Front row: B. Zahler, M. Belchak. Middle row: L. Barthel, C. Zachman, L. Kilian. Back row: M. Becker, T. Durant, K. Becker, R. Johnson, C. Scharber.

Under the direction of Ms. Hudak, Pop Group did exceptionally well this year. Practices were held at 7:30 in the morning two or three times a week. Individual effort played a big part in the group's success. Lori and Mona, for example, received a superior rating in their duet at District and State contests. Choreography steps had to be practiced and perfected. Pop Group's hard work paid off with superior ratings first at District and then at State. All this success was obtained despite Lori having to leave half way through the season due to a medical emergency!

- C- The choir rehearses contest numbers for STMA audience.
- D- Ms. Hudak directs the Christmas concert finale, "Silent Night."

Performing in Mixed Choir relies on the students' previous singing experience and a lot of rehearsing. Ms. Hudak, along with many hard-working students, was responsible for bringing about this fine-tuned sound. As one choir member commented, "She really pushed us and made us work." This dedication is obviously proof of what it takes to put on a truly fine performance.

The Mouth Is Mightier Than The Pen

- "It is estimated that 40 million Americans watch the evening news . . . "
- "Doodle!"
- "A low animal grunt of pain . . . "
- "he SCREAMED!"
- "the gold pen-Spiro would never."

Speaking in front of a group is rated as the number one fear among adults in the U.S., which may explain this year's small speech team. Kirsten Cochran did the speech "The Scarlet Ibis" in the category Serious Prose. Chris Vansteenburg's interpretation of "On the Sidewalk Bleeding" won her an alternate position at Districts, and she placed first at Milaca. Peter Saari won first in Districts in Non-Original Oratory with his speech by Spiro Agnew. He also placed first in the conference meet. Despite getting up at ungodly hours to attend meets, the team had fun just goofing off, which helped relieve the tension of tough competition. At The Criterion we discovered snails are not only edible, but actually very good. Crab legs are tasty too, but six plates full? (How uncouth!)

The Colorguard and Rifle Squad of STMA are among the best in the state. Their excellent performances last summer brought many awards as well as impressive (and impressed) audiences, especially at the Aquatennial where they placed first in their division.

Drama Club Puts On A Good Act

The fall play, Tear Along the Dotted Line, consisted of a small cast, but allowed the cast to give a polished performance. A Great Career disclosed the "glories" of the work world, and gave the students an opportunity to portray more than one character. Maria Zachman explained, "It wasn't that difficult.

A- Advisor- Mr. Fredrickson, P. Peloquin, B. Benjamin, K. Schumm, P. Kilian, L. Barthel, T. Durant, B. Zahler, C. Scharber, M. Zachman, J. Anderson, C. Jindra, M. Becker, L. Barthel.

Although Drama Club's productions are not always rewarded with the audiences they deserve, this group's talent is exciting to watch. Crew member Becky Benjamin explains, "The concentration it takes to put on a production is exhausting. The talent behind portraying another character for several hours does not come easily, and is really something to see."

The hardest thing was switching costumes quick enough." Drama Club is a close-knit group. Director Mr. Fredrickson commented, "The students we had were hardworking and dedicated, and because the group was small, these few had to work even harder." According to Maria, "Mr. Fredrickson's one of the best directors around. He makes everything fun, and is very easy to work with."

Behind The Desk

Staff . . . Staff . . . Staff . . . Staff . . .

Although the combined efforts of faculty and staff are what run the school, the two functions are rewarded in very different ways.

Teachers gain satisfaction — despite long hours, low pay and excessive paperwork — in dealing directly with students. Watching a student accumulate knowledge is a thrill.

Staff, however, do not deal directly with students to the extent that teachers do, and frequently work unrecognized. Yet their organization and support are necessary and appreciated every day, by teachers and students alike.

Most important to the effective functioning of the school is the coordination of faculty and staff working together as a team.

For They're A Part Of You.

Past memories,
The bright future ahead,
A dream to come true,
A lot lies ahead.

Remember your friends,
Forget not your school,
A lot's going to happen;
Don't be a fool!

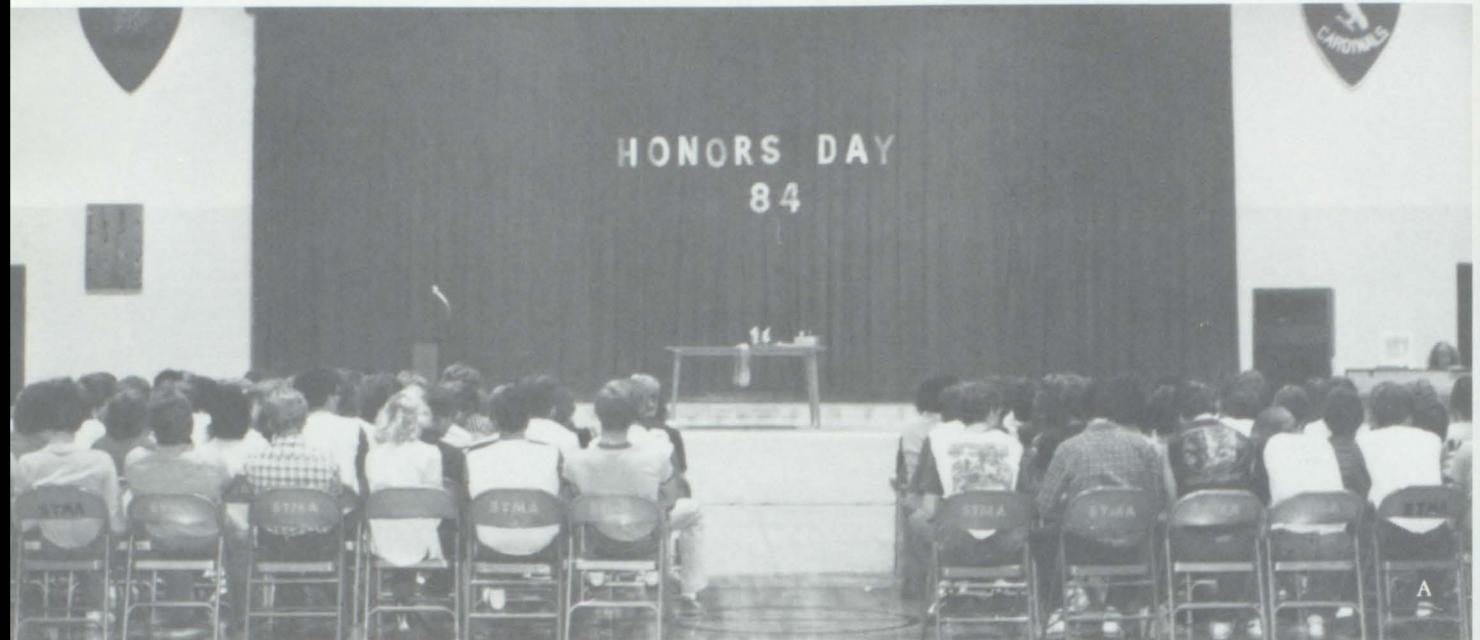

Confide in the future,
Look far ahead,
But don't forget,
It's a lot ahead.

Remember the past,
All the good times,
The friends that you left,
The many you'll find.

All these things,
Part of you,
Forget them not,
They'll not forget you.

Recognition Is Rendered

- A- Ready and waiting for an exciting assembly.
- B- Student body listens intently to speaker Jim Klassen.
- C- Deb Sundquist receives a Scholar Athlete award from the U. S. Army Reserve.
- D- Mr. Nord hands art student Kim Schumm the Michelangelo award.

At Honors Day '84

- A- Speaker Jim Klassen defines success and failure.
- B- Lillian Zachman receives a yearbook award from Advisor Ms. Lytle and Editor Becky Benjamin.
- C- Mr. Frederickson hands out drama awards to Maria, Lynn, and Bob.
- D- Dan Dehmer receives recognition for some of his senior sports accomplishments.

Our 1984 Honors Day assembly consisted of many outstanding awards, students, and performances. Some of the major awards given were the following: the Michelangelo award to Kim Schumm for the most artistic talent; two Scholar/Athlete awards to Murray Bourelle and Deb Sundquist; and perfect attendance awards, which one student was unable to receive because he was absent! We were entertained by the always excellent Starry Knights and Stage Band. Mr. Jim Klassen, an excellent speaker, put winning and losing in perspective.

Prom Travels To The Sunwood Inn

The juniors chose "When I'm With You" for the theme for prom. A new, great aspect was added this year. The dance and banquet were held out of the school at the Sunwood Inn in St. Cloud where the juniors auctioned off prizes and everyone danced, especially to the hokey-po-key. There were 81 couples that attended prom this year. Mass and Grand March were still held at STMA, but the dance adds a special touch when it's out of the gym!! The grand prize, a color TV, was won by Jim Vetsch.

- A- The couples keep themselves busy before the grand march by talking and laughing to keep the festive mood.
- B- Kris dances up a storm with her date Jim. Burn rubber!!!!
- C- Couples could have their pics taken by Zahler's Photography.
- D- "Put your rear end in, put your rear end out . . ."
" Stick it out, Dave!

- A- The hosts of the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Shomshak, are the first to travel down the grand march.
- B- Donnie and Lynn pose on the bridge so that parents and friends can take pics.
- C- Dan gives his "best smile" as he and his date, Tina, cross the bridge.
- D- As you can see, the bridge proved to be the biggest hazard of the night!!
- E- Smile, Alex!!!!
- F- Even our foreign friend, Marcela, got into the act of going to Prom '84.
- G- Darcy hangs on to Tim so she doesn't wipe out going down the bridge.

Commencement Brings Together New And Old

- A- Jill and Jim present their speech at graduation telling all!!
- B- But they're not supposed to do that!!!!
- C- "Whew, I didn't fall!"
- D- Smile, Cathy! You made it.
- E- Pam receives a scholarship. Congrats!
- F- Smilin' Kris shows how all of the seniors felt with diplomas in their hands.
- G- And here's Deb, valedictorian and many more things, receiving just one of the many scholarships she will undoubtedly receive.

G

Graduation '84 proved to be a festive occasion for all. With the gym packed with people, the band played as the seniors marched down the center aisle. Seniors were seated, and the band played, and then Mr. Biagini opened the ceremony with a speech. The ceremony consisted of many speeches, the band playing, and the choir singing. When the senior girls sang, the tears were rolling as the song hit the spot in many people's hearts. Happiness could be seen on all of the seniors' faces as they each received their diplomas, realizing that it was finally over, yet it was just beginning. There were many scholarships and awards given to many different seniors. All were relieved as the seniors threw their hats realizing that it was time to party at the Civic Center.

Dedication

Each year, the yearbook staff dedicates the yearbook to the person it feels has done something special for the rest of the student body. This year's recipient is largely responsible for the publication of this year's yearbook; if it weren't for her, we might not have had a book last year because she completed so much of the actual book herself. Becky Benjamin is extremely devoted. She had been known to stay at school until midnight working to beat a deadline. She also is very patient with all of us on the staff. Whenever we need to have her check our layouts, she always takes the time to explain what we're doing and offers constructive criticism. Keeping up staff morale was also something she did well, always showing up on Saturdays with pop and chips. Becky took pictures for many events, coordinated our other photographers, as well as completing more than her share of layouts. She will be greatly missed next year by all of us. Congratulations, Becky and thank you.

The Yearbook Staff

"In fulfilling her duties as yearbook editor, she did an excellent job of keeping people on track, and she also dedicated much of her time at school and home to completing the last three yearbooks."

"... Becky is an outstanding student responsible in getting work done, interested in classes she took ..."

Mr. Skogen

My Turn: An Editor's Parting Comments

Some people have asked me throughout the year what yearbook is all about. In this corner I'd like to describe just that.

First, we decide everything that should go into the book and plan what is called a ladder diagram. This tells where every activity will go in the book, and how many pages each activity will have.

After this, we take pictures and try to remember to get all of the events taken, which in itself is a major task and which doesn't always happen. After getting the film developed, we put the pictures into each activity's envelope. Then whoever works on that activity will have the pictures needed for a particular page. The person who completes any activity's page is usually pretty knowledgeable about what a particular activity is all about.

We start by first choosing the pictures we want to go on a page by looking for pictures with good contrast and a good story behind them. After this is done, we sometimes have twenty pictures chosen and sometimes only three or four!

Then, we do something called cropping. Cropping means taking a picture and cutting it down or blowing it up so that it will fit in a particular space. After this we position these cropped pictures on the page. We try to lay our pictures out in a brick pattern in which everything fits neatly together; this is called a mosaic style layout. The layout, by the way, is what we call putting everything together on a page.

After we get the pictures positioned on the page, we try to think of a headline that best describes the activity and what it has done that year. This is hard because a headline has to be a complete sentence and can't exceed a certain amount of words.

After the headline is the hardest part of doing layout. COPY!!! Copy means the captions that describe the pictures, and a paragraph or two about what the activity has done that year and what has made it part of the STMA spirit. This is difficult because we have to be imaginative and write something that is going to keep the reader interested enough to read all about each activity. It seems that our yearbook staff likes to put off writing copy until we have to practically threaten them, but I can understand this because I don't like to write copy either!!

It is a lot of hard work to make a layout turn out right and make it look great so that the people who look at it will think it's a pretty good book.

After the layout is done, Ms. Lytle or I looks it over to be sure the page is layed out in the correct form, that the copy is interesting and in correct form, and that everything looks like it will fit on the page. And then, we check to see that the copy is written correctly and that they have covered what should be covered for each activity.

Copy is painstakingly written by every yearbook staff member. We deliberate on how to say things and what to say. The old "who, when, where, why, how, and what" are the basics we go by. We also have rules that must be followed by every member in writing copy and doing layout. These are numerous and it usually takes a year in Yearbook before you understand every one of them.

I should also mention all the time and effort that goes into selling ads so that we can afford to keep the yearbook going. This takes a lot of after school hours and weekends. We also have to sell yearbooks to all the students and teachers who might want them. This is usually done during lunch and before school.

The yearbook is something that I do because I enjoy putting things together and seeing just how they come out, trying new things, and making sure that everything is given equal coverage. I loved working on the yearbook, and it was a lot of hard, busy work, but it gave me something constructive and interesting to do. Besides that, it was a challenge that gave pleasure to conquer it.

This year with a new advisor, Ms. Lytle, and I (a supposedly experienced editor) we did make a few mistakes, but we did okay. Yearbook is a lot of work, and to be on the staff takes dedication and devotion to this hard work. And, most importantly, staff members have to be willing to give up some Saturdays and Sundays to work on yearbook. This is especially difficult when we would rather be out in the sun in the spring running around and having fun!! But we have a few devoted staff members who have given up a great many of their Saturdays and Sundays just about every week. I would like to thank them, and also I would like to thank our even more devoted and dedicated advisor who put up with a lot of tedious work, and waited the staff through the storm of learning how to do the yearbook and do it right. She has put in many more hours than any of the staff has and has worked hard trying to do it right. And, she has put up with me and my trying to make everything just so. I would like to thank Ms. Lytle for everything she's done for the yearbook; without her we wouldn't have had a yearbook this year. She is one heck of an advisor.

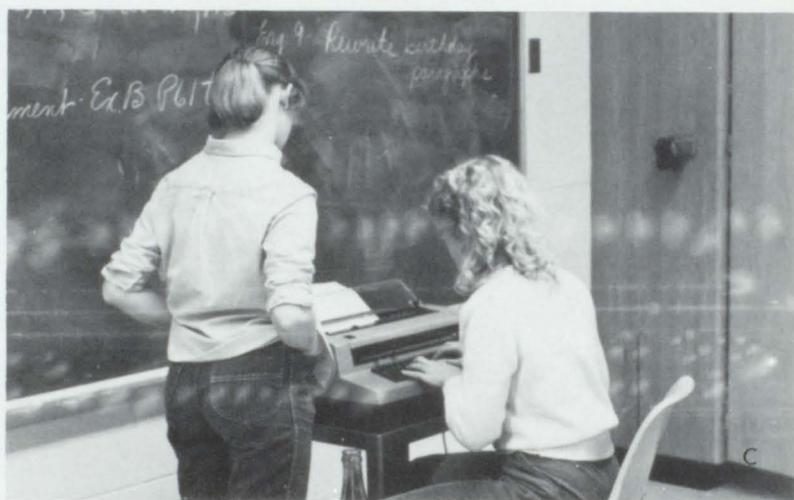

If you are at all wondering just what goes into the making of a good yearbook, come to a yearbook meeting and join the staff. We are small, but we have one heck of a good time when we work together, and there is usually enough food to keep us going for a few hours. It may take a while to learn how to do the yearbook, but try. Take it from me-it is exciting and enjoyable. And memorable!!!!!!

Staff + Devotion + Pizza = Yearbook

- A- Chris smiles when she realizes she only has seventeen layouts left to do!
- B- First row: J. Holmen, M. Peterson, L. Barthel, A. White. Second Row: Ms. Lytle, Advisor, B. Benjamin, Editor, A. Miller, B. Bourelle, L. Zachman, C. Jindra. Third row: K. Richter, C. Vansteenburgh, M. Vansteenburgh, P. Peloquin, S. Thompson. Not Pictured: C. VanHeel, J. Vansteenburgh.
- C- Cynthia pushes to meet a deadline.

If you ask yearbook members what the word "yearbook" means, they might say, "M&Ms, Doritos, and pizza," or that they gained 30 pounds, or that they went bankrupt paying for all those Doritos, M&Ms and pizza. But there's more to yearbook than just pigging out and its side effects. The staff meets every Saturday and some Sundays. Each member goes through stacks of pictures looking for just the right ones. These pictures must then be cropped. This can be very stressful because if they don't fit in the allotted space, you have to pretend they do and hope the yearbook doesn't come out with an entire team's heads cut off. The next step is to write copy. This is next to impossible because the copy must correspond with the pictures, the headline, and the activity; it also has to fit in a certain spot and can only have so many words. Members have been known to write copy as many as ten times to get it right. And then there are all those rules to remember: headlines must be complete sentences, a team picture cannot under any circumstances be dominant, and most important, each member must bring ½ dozen doughnuts to layout sessions. Yearbook is a year-long project. Most people would fold under such pressure, and not many stick it out, but those who do are the ones who really feel great when the yearbook finally comes out.

Remember . . . ?

- When Angie spent an entire Saturday taking "ghost" pictures of wrestling?
- When Travisto joined the yearbook staff between wrestling matches?
- When Margaret had to leave the room when "Beat It" came on the radio in honor of Michael Jackson's near tragedy?
- When Ms. Lytle ate a pizza full of mushrooms without knowing it . . . and survived?
- When we had 31 people on the staff!?
- When Ms. Lytle watched the clock anxiously at 4:35 for Lynn to type Homecoming copy so the layout could be taken to the P.O. by 4:30?
- When Sara had to rewrite Homecoming copy ten times before we decided how long it had to be?
- When everybody was supposed to go to "educating yearbook seminars" and we all bumped into each other at Rocky Rococo's?
- All those "incentives" (bribes!)?
- Our weightgaining program? (All that food!)
- When Ms. Lytle and Chris "broke into" Angie's house to get the camera?
- Doing the dedication page without Becky even suspecting?
