College Tracking reports are based on data from the National Student Clearinghouse (NSC) and provide insight into the post-secondary performance of your students after high school graduation. Enrollment reports are generally based on "initial" enrollment, which is defined as the first college a student attends after high school graduation. Unfortunately, the NSC does not collect information on college majors, but areas of study are sometimes reported along with college degrees. Click the blue links to open the report. Red links denote reports that are only available as a drill-through from another source report.

- The following reports can be found on the NYSED's State Report Card for each individual school district.
- The Nassau BOCES IDW team consolidated the data so that it appears in one place.

Comparison of English Language Learners Across Districts i-Report

Purpose:

This report utilizes the NYS Education Department English Language Learners Data from the State Report Card.

ELL enrollment data for grades K-12 for the subgroups of gender, ethnicity, students with disabilities, economically disadvantaged and grade are as of BEDS day, which is the first Wednesday of October of the school year.

ELL data included in the English Language Learners Breakdown and the English Language Learners Programs categories represent those students who were identified as ELL during the school year and not as of BEDS day.

The English Language Learners Breakdown data was determined according to the number of years an ELL student has received ELL services:

Newcomers have received services for less than or equal to 3 years. Developing have received services for 4 to 6 years. Long Term have received services for greater than or equal to 7 years. The Breakdown Total sums these 3 categories.

ELL Programs are English as a New Language, One Way/ Two Way Dual Language and Transitional Bilingual Education Program.

Data are suppressed when the total ELL enrollment count equals the Students With Disabilities or Economically Disadvantage categories or the count of ELL students in these categories is less than 5. Suppressed data appears as null (blank).

Report Options:

Select Year from the prompt below to select the school year; required.

Remarks:

By default, all districts are included in this report. This interactive report allows for various options including filtering and sorting. This report contains many tabs which use the same data source. Filtering on one tab, causes filtering on all.

Comparison of Advanced Placement Scores Across Districts i-Report

Purpose:

This report displays the percent of proficient scores on the Advanced Placement (AP) data for each Nassau County public school district. Proficient scores are defined as AP scores that are equal to 3 or higher. Note that the data reflect the number of assessments, which is not necessarily the same as the number of students. Also, the data are based on the ALTREG and CC assessment data submitted to NYSED and may not match other IDW reports based on Nassau BOCES IDW AP scanning project. Data are sourced from the NYSED State Report Card database.

Please use caution when comparing districts on this report. The numbers and percents reflect students who took AP assessments and do not take into account the proportion of a district's enrollment. Therefore, a district that only has their top students taking an AP assessment will have inflated proficiency numbers compared with a district that has a larger percentage of their enrollment taking the same test.
