

THE EAGLE CODE

Byron secondary sets high standards for character and behavior. The responsibility for good conduct rests on the student. Students follow a code for self-discipline called the EAGLE CODE. Each student is expected to read this code, understand its implications, and model it daily to the best of his/her ability.

As a Byron Secondary student, I will contribute positively to my school by:

1. Being responsible.
2. Striving for excellence in academics, citizenship, leadership, and sportsmanship.
3. Taking pride in my personal appearance.
4. Striving for acceptable, healthy, and positive behaviors.
5. Using good manners and listening while others speak.
6. Always showing respect for people and property.
7. Sharing my time and talents with others in a positive manner.
8. Building community by being kind, courteous, and considerate of others.
9. Taking pride in Byron Secondary.
10. Doing my best to bring honor to Byron Secondary.

At Byron Secondary, no one has the right to keep a teacher from teaching or a student from learning. Anyone who chooses to do so loses the privilege of being in class. Faculty and staff will assign consequences ranging from detention through suspension whenever a student is choosing behaviors contrary to the EAGLE CODE.
