Discovery Middle School is hosting “Eagle Camp” for students and “Middle School 101” for parents on Thursday, August 15 to help incoming sixth graders and their parents/guardians with the transition from elementary school to middle school.

“Eagle Camp” from 10 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. will give students the opportunities to get comfortable with their new environment and peers. They will meet their teachers, administrators, counselors, and school nurse. They will receive a tour of the school and learn about school procedures and expectations of middle schoolers.

“Middle School 101” held from 11 a.m. to noon will help parents and guardians to understand their students’ transition to middle school. It will cover a number of topics that will aid parents in helping their students with the new school. Topics will include guidelines for success, personal learning device usage, school communication, lunch payments, activities, attendance, dress code, and electronic device usage.

In addition to “Eagle Camp” and “Middle School 101,” families can familiarize themselves with Discovery with the school’s online virtual tour. There will be another opportunity to visit Discovery before the school year on Back to School Night on Thursday, August 22.
