Lessons will be given on hygiene, self care, and care of their environment. One goal is for them to learn to give themselves Grace in difficult moments, and how to extend grace in relationships with others. Grit will be developed through art projects that require determination over time. She will learn how to rise up in challenging situations, and discover the value in mistakes in order to shine brighter tomorrow. My hope is that the girls will discover their sense of value and find that within each of them lies a uniqueness that only she holds.
