SPECIALIZED FOR SUCCESS

SSD's COMMITMENT TO FAMILY ENGAGEMENT

Special School District (SSD) believes in shared responsibility for our students' education. We are committed to developing a strong collaborative relationship between home, school, and community to support the best outcomes for students. SSD believes that all families want the best for their student, are experts about their student, and have the capacity to support their student. Therefore, we are committed to eliminating barriers that limit access to meaningful engagement and seek to provide an environment that encourages partnerships with families and community partners.

The information in this Partners for Success booklet is provided to support families seeking to engage with staff on their student's educator team. While there is no perfect roadmap, this tool provides a guide to support two-way communication, self-determination, advocacy, and networking with several programs and agencies within St. Louis County.

We encourage you to use this tool as a starting point to navigate your student's unique educational journey. Don't hesitate to reach out to your team at SSD for assistance at every transition in your student's life, from early childhood to post-secondary. We want to partner with you!

FAMILY AND COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT (FACE)

The mission of the SSD's Family and Community Engagement (FACE) is to partner with students, families, and staff to support students' specialized academic, social, and emotional needs to promote self-determination, equitable opportunities, and authentic inclusion. FACE utilizes high-quality, evidence-based strategies and supports to partner with families and school personnel for:

- Consultation
- Resource and referral
- Problem-solving
- Collaboration with community agencies
- Parent Advisory Council \(PAC\)
- Support and leadership development
- Free Family Workshops/Training
(topics include transition, behavior supports, and understanding the IEP process)

COMMUNICATING WITH YOUR STUDENT

Sometimes, just knowing what questions to ask can make all the difference in helping you support your student's success. Here are a few suggestions to get you started:

- Can you show me something you learned or did today?
- What was the hardest thing you had to do today?
- Tell me about the best part of your day.
- Tell me about what you read in class.
- Who did you sit with at lunch?
- How did you help somebody today?
- Tell me something that made you laugh today.
- What rules are different at school than our rules at home?

COMMUNICATING WITH YOUR STUDENT'S TEACHER

Below are questions families can ask to support monitoring student progress:

- What is the best way for us to communicate?
- Is my student performing at a proficient level (up to standard) in basic skills? If not, is my student above or below? If below, ask: What is the plan for helping my student catch up? How can I help?
- What assessments does my student complete and how often? How do the assessments support my student's post-secondary goals?
- What do my student's test scores show? What are their strengths and weaknesses?
- Can we go over some examples of my student's work? Will you explain your grading standards?
- How can we work together to help my student?
- Does my student seem to like school and get along with classmates?

5 ROLES FAMILIES PLAY TO ACCELERATE STUDENT LEARNING

COMMUNICATE HIGH EXPECTATIONS for student performance. Teachers can help families by sharing information about standards and skills.

MONITOR THEIR STUDENT PERFORMANCE by regularly checking in with them and the teacher. Teachers can support families by proactively engaging with them about student progress.

SUPPORT LEARNING AT HOME by reinforcing what is being taught in schools. Teachers can help families through consistent partnership and communication.

GUIDE THEIR STUDENT'S EDUCATION from preschool to college. The school community can support by connecting them to resources and activities to support their unique needs.

ADVOCATE FOR THEIR STUDENT to ensure they get the necessary support needed. Teachers can engage in two way communication and create feedback-friendly environment

Who do I contact with questions about my student's education?

Start Here

- Speak with your student's teacher or SSD case manager by calling their school.
- If the situation is not resolved, contact the school's administrator or the SSD special education coordinator for your student's building.
- Situations requiring support outside of the school building should include the SSD Director and district administrator at your student's school.
- Refer to the Information Navigation Ladder, found in the Family Engagement Guide.

3 QUESTIONS TO ASK TO BE AN EFFECTIVE ADVOCATOR

Is this the right person to help me in this situation? Will my approach motivate and encourage the person to cooperate?

1

What would help my student improve? What do I want the person to do for my student or me?

2

What can I do to partner with staff to help my student?

3

WHAT DOES EFFECTIVE FAMILY ADVOCACY LOOK LIKE?

To be an effective family advocate, I should know:

- General and current information about student progress
- How to communicate in a way that can bring about desired results
- The person to contact to get information (See Navigation Ladder)
- Rights and responsibilities
- The services and resources available
- Policies that govern those services

When should I advocate for my student?

When you have concerns about your student's education that have not been addressed.

When you recognize gaps in services that may hinder your student's ability to learn.

How do I know when I need partnership support?

When you are unsure about roles and responsibilities.

When there are gaps in your understanding of policies and procedures.

When you do not feel that you have been understood.

Q: What does it mean to advocate for my student?

A: An advocate is one who supports or promotes the interests of another. A parent or family member can be their student's best advocate.
