The Tuesday Takeaway is a weekly e-newsletter distributed to all Mapleton staff. This quick-hit-style newsletter contains the news you need for the week ahead!

Trailside Academy's Danielle Cerna a finalist for Colorado Teacher of the Year

Congratulations to Trailside Academy teacher Danielle Cerna, being named one of the seven finalists for the Colorado Department of Education's 2024 Colorado Teacher of the Year! Danielle teaches sixth grade math and science at Trailside and is also the founding member of the Mapleton Mentorship Program. This program plays a crucial role in supporting new Mapleton teachers as they enter the profession, providing them with guidance to ensure their successful transition into the classroom.

The Colorado Teacher of the Year program honors an exceptionally dedicated, knowledgeable, and skilled K-12 classroom teacher to represent the entire profession in Colorado. The sole finalist will be named by the end of October and will become the state's nominee for the National Teacher of the Year competition. We are incredibly proud of Danielle!

Explore K-8 wins Homecoming float competition

Congratulations to Explore PreK-8 on their trophy-worthy Homecoming float! Explore took first place in the float competition during the homecoming parade last Friday, thanks to their wild take on the Barbie theme. York International School and Valley View Innovation School placed second and third, respectively. A big congratulations to our Skyview Wolverines, who beat the Adams City Eagles 43-0 at the homecoming game! For more pictures be sure to visit Mapleton's Facebook page.

And speaking of Skyview Football, this year the team's seniors each asked a teacher who was special to them to wear their jerseys at the Homecoming game to represent them. Isaiah P., a defensive end who attends Mapleton Online, asked his English teacher, Kate Miya, to wear his jersey. The two both started at the school early in the pandemic and Miya has taught Isaiah in some capacity for the last three years. She said she was honored by his request.

"A lot of people have this perception that you don't get close to people when you're in an online environment, but we've been able to have this great relationship just like I would with a student in the classroom," she said. "He is the nicest person and such a hardworking student."

Help us keep schools safe from vaccine-preventable diseases

Vaccination rates among K-12 students have lagged recently, but it's not too late for our students to get caught up on routine and school-required vaccines. The Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment compiled a toolkit of resources to share with families.

It's easy for families to get the information they need.

- COVax4Kids.org helps people find out if their children are eligible for low- or no-cost vaccines and helps them find a provider who gives them.
- COVaxRates.org makes it easy for parents and guardians to look up vaccination and exemption rates for schools and child care facilities in Colorado so they can make the best decision for their children.
- COVaxRecords.org shows people how to request vaccination records for their children.
- ChildVaccineCO.org has more information on routine vaccinations, as well as where to find a provider who offers low- or no-cost vaccines.

Teaching and Learning

September session of CLD PD Series will be cancelled unless more teachers enroll

Teaching and Learning needs at least four more participants for the September session of its Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Professional Development (CLD PD) Series, "Culture & Equity: Translanguaging" or else it will be cancelled. The department requires a minimum of ten participants to hold the session, so if teachers would like to attend, they need to sign up by Wednesday, Sept. 20, at 9 a.m.

In this course, participants will:

- Understand the concept of Translanguaging and how it can support equitable teaching and learning
- Study the relationship(s) among translanguaging, code switching, and multilingualism
- Learn and apply strategies that support translanguaging practices in the classroom

Please use this registration link to enroll. Participants will attend the in-person session on Thursday, Sept. 21, from 4:30-6:30 p.m., in the Trail Ridge Training room at the Broadway Administration Building. Participants will also have an asynchronous assignment which must be completed by Friday, Oct. 20. The total time commitment for this course is four hours. This professional learning series is designed specifically for Mapleton educators who still need to meet Colorado Department of Education's 45-hour CLD relicensure requirement. For questions, please contact Alexis Lauffenburger, ext. 1003.
