FIRST GRADE NEWS - MRS. LOCICERO

The first graders have been hard at work in their new writers workshop unit. They are learning all about small moment stories. Students learned that a small moment story is like a watermelon. The watermelon is the big event, and the tiny seeds inside are all of the different small moments during that event. The students have been enjoying being able to write about all of the different experiences they have had. We look forward to hearing more about all of their adventures!

Mrs. LoCicero

SECOND GRADE NEWS

Second graders have begun a new unit in Reader's Workshop on fables, folktales, and fairytales! We are very excited to read these classic stories together! We will be focusing on the elements of each story, how culture is present in classic tales from around the world, and discussing lessons we can learn from reading these stories. Students will also participate in "Reader's Theater" to act out some of the stories we are reading!

Mrs. Bird

FIFTH GRADE NEWS

The fifth graders are currently focusing on a deep understanding of the measurable attribute of volume and using numbers and operations to describe and compute the volume of rectangular prisms and composite shapes. The students will learn to use the formula length x width x height and/or area of the base x height to find volume. Additive volume is a challenging concept. Students will learn how to find the volume of a three-dimensional solid by decomposing it into rectangular prisms, finding the volume of each prism, and then adding the volumes together.

In Science, the students will learn how to use the metric system. Students will learn to understand the relative size of metric units, and recognize the relationship between the conversion factors in the metric system and our base-10 numeration system. The same prefixes are used for length, capacity, and mass and each unit is 10 times as much as the next smaller unit. To aid in remembering the units, the students are using the acronym King Henry Doesn't Mind Drinking Chocolate Milk!

Mrs. Bickhardt

SIXTH GRADE NEWS

6th Grade Math

Sixth graders recently completed a unit in math about geometry. Geometry examines the relationships between points, lines, shapes, and the space they take up. The students began the unit by exploring how a parallelogram is related to a rectangle. They decomposed a parallelogram and composed a rectangle by creating a triangle and moving it to the other side. They then developed the formula for the area of a parallelogram to be the base times the height. We extended this formula to develop the formula for a triangle which is half of a parallelogram. Once students were comfortable finding the area of parallelograms and triangles, they used these formulas to find the area of irregular shapes by "taking them apart" (to find the area of smaller shapes) and then "putting them back together" to find the total area. Finding the surface area of prisms and pyramids and the volume of rectangular prisms with fractional units completed our geometry unit. Statistical analysis is our current topic. Students are enjoying learning what statistics are and how they can analyze data by measuring the center and variability of the data collected. Box plots, mean absolute deviation, choosing appropriate statistical measures, summarizing data distributions and histograms will also be covered in the weeks to come.

All children have unique strength and talents and require opportunities to learn, grow and be challenged to strive for excellence. However, some children have intellectual skills and abilities that significantly differ in degree and dimension from their chronological peers, and require the challenge of a differentiated curriculum in order to maximize their potential. Curriculum for gifted and talented students is designed to challenge academically advanced learners and provide experiences that require critical thinking, problem solving and creativity.

In the Kittatinny Regional Consortium, identification procedures have been developed and implemented based upon the local school population as per NJ educational code. As students transition into KRHS, their chronological peer group shifts and may result in changes in students' eligibility status for gifted education services.

Multiple criteria are used in the confidential identification process for consideration for Kaleidoscope including, but not limited to:

- Learning and social characteristics evaluations from teachers
- Previously administered cognitive abilities assessments
- Results of an in-person Screening Assessment composed performance assessments in critical thinking, creative thinking and reasoning skills offered at KRHS on May 13 or May 20
- Written answers to Student Response Questions, found on the Kaleidoscope website, due by May 24
- The Family Information Form provides additional insight into students, found on the Kaleidoscope website, due by May 24
