Global Read Aloud

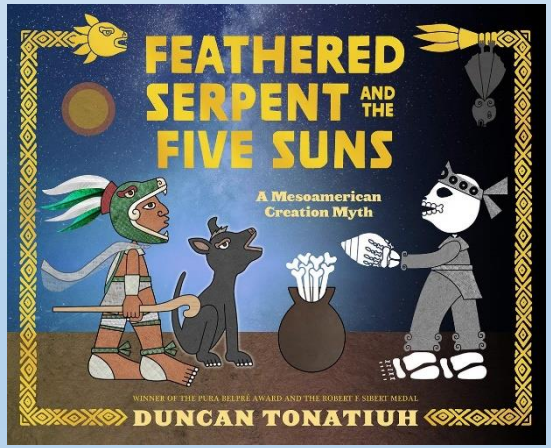

- The GRA community picks a book to read aloud to our students during a set 6-week period, and during that time we try to make as many global connections as possible.
- Each teacher decides how much time they would like to dedicate and how involved they would like to be. Some people choose to connect with just one class, while others go for as many as possible.
- The teacher chooses the communication tools, such as Skype, Zoom, Twitter, Facebook, Padlet, or Flipgrid.
- This project enables teachers to collaborate with other educators to facilitate a global project and connect with throughout the year.

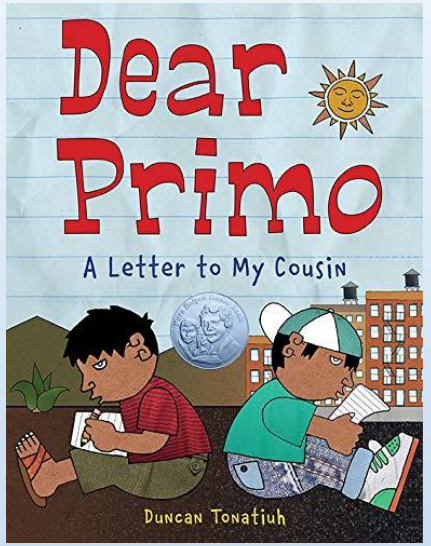

Global Read Aloud

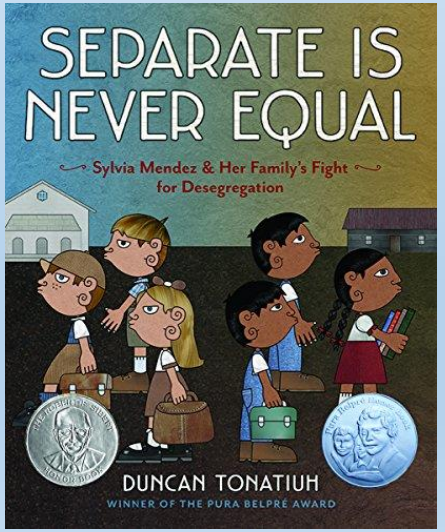

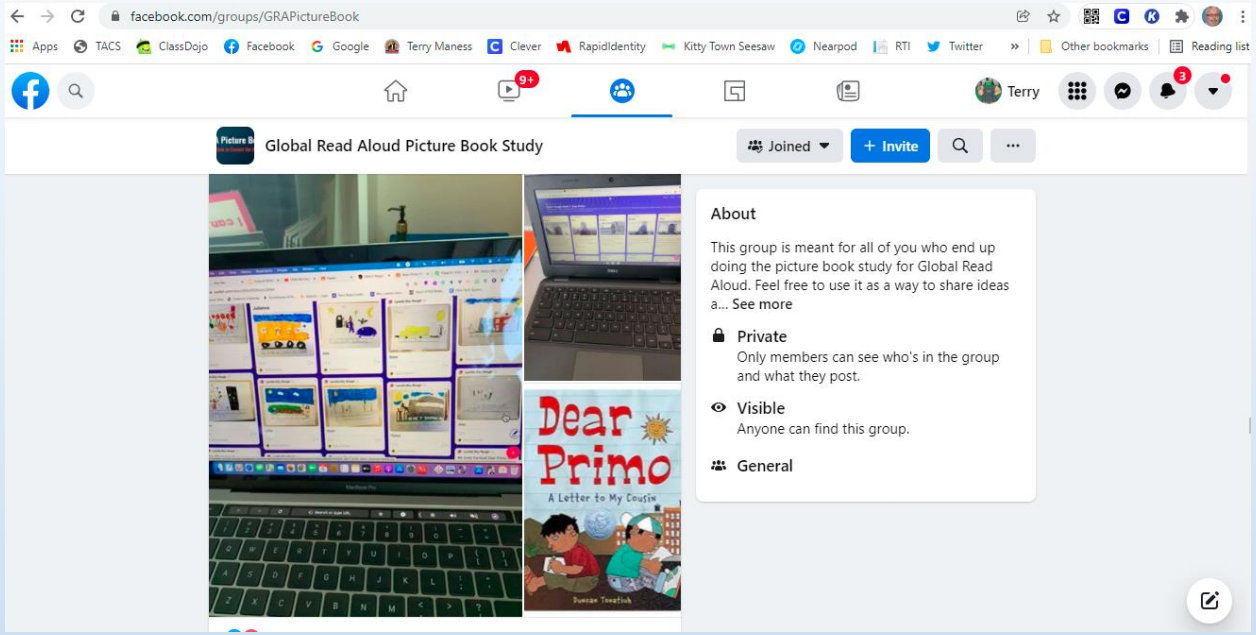

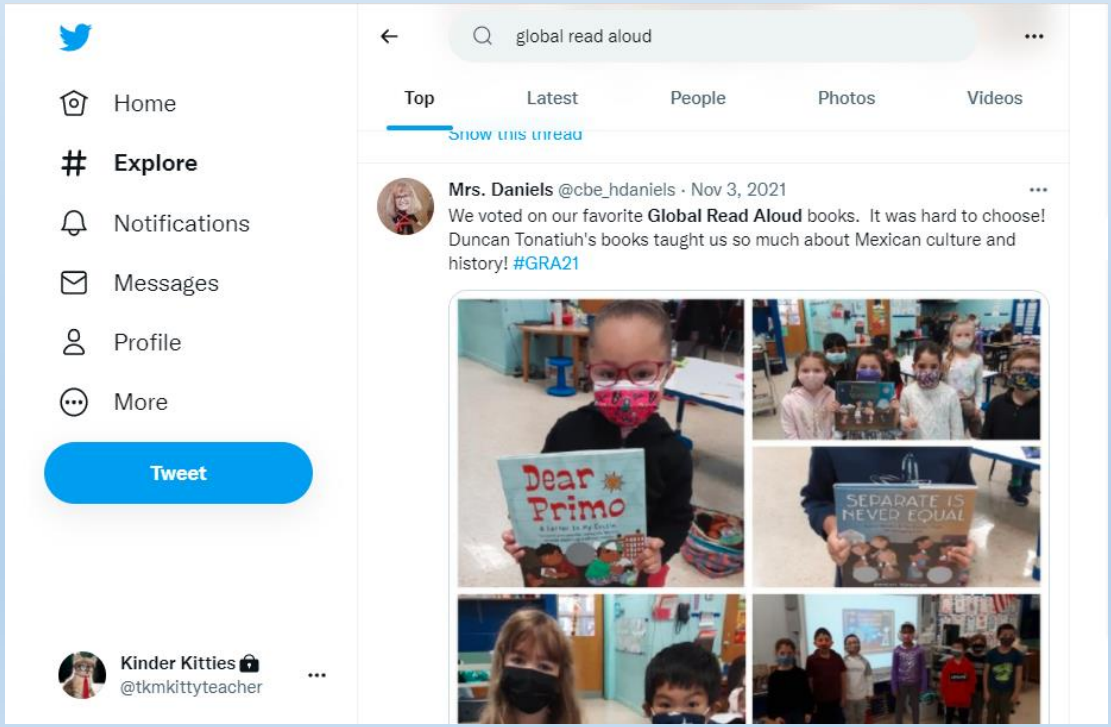

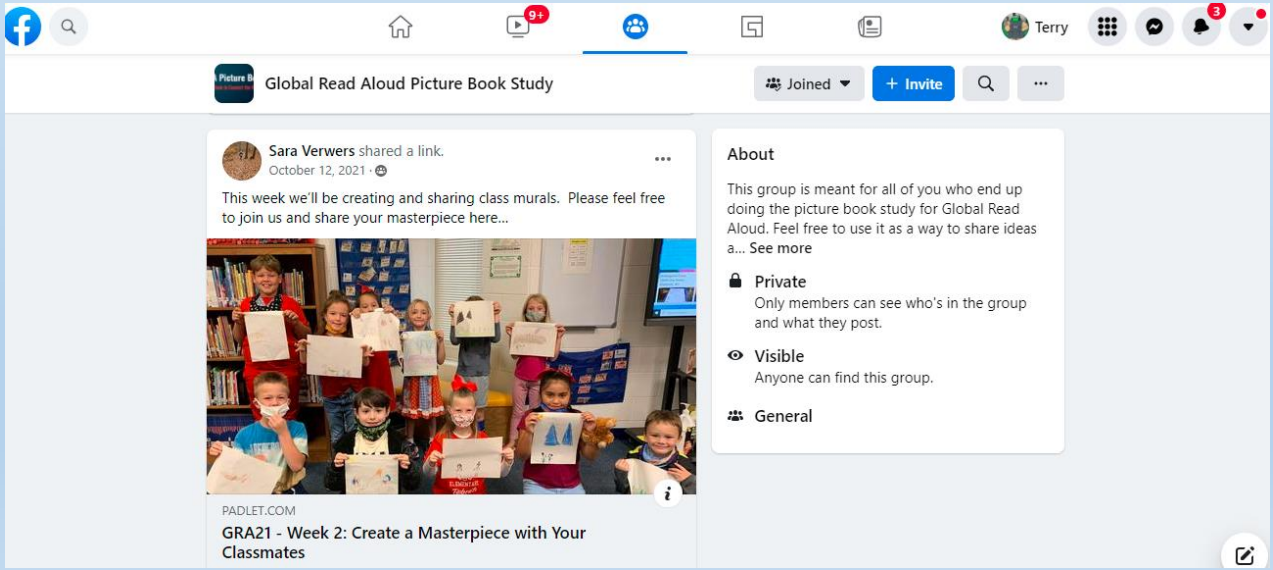

Duncan Tonatiuh is a Mexican-American author and illustrator. The illustrations in his books are influenced by Pre-Columbian art. The themes in his stories relate to the Latino experience, with subjects that include social justice issues, art, history, and immigration.

Effects on Classroom

- Creates more curiosity and provides more rigor in the classroom
  - Students ask questions such as:
    - Does that person we are discussing have a portrait in the museum?
    - Are they Latino, African American, Asian, etc.?
    - Where does our food come from?
    - How is that product made from milk?
- Cultivates ideas of community and answers where students fit into the global society
