Heat Index Alert -Yellow Level Forecast for September 4, 2024

JONESBORO - Based on information from the National Weather Service (NWS) for Wednesday, September 4, 2024, daily temperatures and the heat index for Metro Atlanta is projected to reach Yellow Level status with moderate humidity levels.

As a result, leadership should follow normal procedures for district-sanctioned outdoor activities scheduled for September 4, 2024. Time for rest and replenishment of fluids should be allowed. This action affects physical education classes, recess periods, and any outdoor activity associated with specific course work. School officials should adhere to established protocols for Yellow Level status during this time frame.

Unless otherwise notified, athletic programs should follow standard protocols in dealing with Yellow Level status as established by the Georgia High School Association in By-Law 2.67.

Parents/guardians are encouraged to take this information into consideration when planning any outdoor activities for the week. Parents/guardians are also encouraged to make sure their children are dressed in appropriate clothing for school.

Special Note: The information expressed here is the most current information related to anticipated weather in the district. It should be understood that weather changes may occur, and as those changes are confirmed by the National Weather Service, they will be reported for any actions deemed appropriate.

While the school district will continue to monitor conditions throughout this week, we encourage everyone to be safe and stay connected for updated information regarding any potential weather issues through the following outlets:
