1.2 Identification of Stakeholders

Stakeholders are those individuals with valuable experiences and perspective who will provide the team with important input, feedback, and guidance. Required stakeholders must be engaged in the process to meet the requirements of participating federal programs. Documentation of stakeholder involvement must be maintained by the LEA. Watch the Planning and Preparation webinar for additional information and guidance.

How will the team ensure that stakeholders, and in particular parents and/or guardians, were able to provide meaningful input into the needs assessment process?	The capacity of the team to engage in meaningful dialogue and provide useful feedback has been developed over time during monthly Leadership Team and end of the year School Improvement Workshops. Stakeholders are provided multiple opportunities to provide feedback, ask questions, or share concerns throughout the school year. At times during the process, stakeholders will work in small groups giving them more of an opportunity to share and have in-depth dialogue with one another.

2.6 Data Analysis Questions

Analyze the LEA's data and answer the guiding questions to determine existing trends and patterns that support the identification of demographic and financial needs. Student subgroups with a count of less than 15 are denoted by "TFS" (too few students).

What perception data did you use? [examples: student perceptions about school climate issues (health survey, violence, prejudice, bullying, etc.); student/parent perceptions about the effectiveness of programs or interventions; student understanding of relationship of school to career or has an academic plan]	GaDOE parent surveys, district personnel survey, Spring 2023 BCSS Parent and Staff Input Surveys, GaDOE Student Health Survey
What does the perception data tell you? (perception data can describe people's knowledge, attitudes, beliefs, perceptions, competencies; perception data can also answer the question "What do people think they know, believe, or can do?")	Stakeholders identified the following areas of strength: technology, school cleanliness, extracurricular activities Stakeholders identified the following areas of growth: safety, volunteer opportunities, school meals, preparing students for success
What process data did you use? (examples: student participation in school activities, sports, clubs, arts; student participation in special programs such as peer mediation, counseling, skills conferences; parent/student participation in events such as college information meetings and parent workshops)	Student participation in extracurricular activities, college information meetings, and CTAE discovery events; safety plan: Climate committee survey and teacher survey; Also student surveys
What does the process data tell you? (process data describes the way programs are conducted; provides evidence of participant involvement in programs; answers the question "What did you do for whom?")	Student participation in many extracurriculars has declined, particularly in band and chorus. Parent participation is higher for athletic events and student performances. We are not meeting parents where they are.

What achievement data did you use?	GMAS, graduation rate, Advanced Placement assessments
What does your achievement data tell you?	Student performance on Algebra GMAS was significantly lower than the other tested subjects. Graduation rate has been on the rise, but we still have work to do. Black males had lower grad rate than other subgroups. Many students taking AP courses aren't taking AP assessments.
What demographic data did you use?	Attendance data and performance data were analyzed through various subgroups -- ED, SWD, EL, gender, race, etc.
What does the demographic data tell you?	Black males have a lower grad rate than other subgroups. SWD, ED, black students have lower performance rates than other subgroups.

3. NEEDS IDENTIFICATION AND ROOT CAUSE ANALYSIS

3.1 Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Read the trends and patterns summaries from each section of the data analysis process. Use the information in these summaries to complete 3.2 and 3.3. Using the summaries in 3.1 and other local data, describe the strengths and challenges or answer the guiding questions for each program. Include strengths and challenges related to: a) general program implementation, and b) students and adults involved in or affected by the program. Focus on strengths and challenges that will assist in the identification of needs during 3.2. Watch the Identifying Need webinar for additional information and guidance.

Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Coherent Instructional: Summarize the coherent instructional system trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	There is a need to revisit expectations and structures for systematic collaborative planning processes to ensure instruction is adjusted based on data analysis to determine students in need of remediation or enrichment.
Effective Leadership: Summarize the effective leadership trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	Administration is committed to building relationships and building capacity. An area of growth is establishing a shared vision and mission that drives continuous improvement and set expectations for adults and students. Continuing to build capacity through distributed leadership will help advance the school's vision and mission.
Professional Capacity: Summarize the professional capacity trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	Faculty are committed to continuous growth. The PLC process provides a structure for continuous improvement, however, professional learning needs to be targeted and job-embedded to improve sustainability.
Family and Community Engagement: Summarize the family and community engagement trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	There have been limited opportunities for parent engagement due to the pandemic. There is a need to re-engage parents and meet them where they are, communicate student performance, and celebrate student successes.
