- Lyvia Erenfeld, a distinguished graduate of Coquille High School, achieved an exceptional 4.0 GPA. Her academic journey at Coquille was marked by active participation in various extracurricular activities, including volleyball, softball, National Honor Society, and serving as the Vice President of FFA. Beyond the school premises, Lyvia dedicated nine years to 4-H, showcasing her commitment to community involvement and personal growth. With aspirations set high, Lyvia aims to pursue a bachelor's degree in Zoology at Oregon State University. This academic path aligns with her ambitions of exploring the fields of veterinary science or optometry, where she envisions making significant contributions to animal welfare or eye care. With her impressive academic record and diverse interests, Lyvia Erenfeld is poised to embark on a promising journey towards achieving her professional goals at Oregon State University and beyond.
- Hayden Ross March is the son of Marueen and Shawn March. He has previously held a position as part of the Coquille chapter of the National Honor Society. Over his years studying at the school, he has spent five of those years playing an active part in the school's knowledge bowl team. He has also served in several other minor positions during his time in high school such as working as treasurer of the student government in his freshman year and playing as a member of the golf team during his junior year. March has also not been disinterested in more academic activities for he has also served as a representative of the school's mathematics department for Southwester Oregon Community College's skills day celebration in 2023. Nor has he been blind toward the community as when the school held a can drive during his freshman year, he worked as part of the service eight consecutive hours and was only stopped by the event itself

She played the trumpet in the school's Pep, Jazz, and Symphonic Bands and accompanied both the high school and elementary choirs on the piano. She has been a member of the Knowledge Bowl team since junior high and has played many sports including soccer, basketball, and cross-country. One of the highlights of her high school career has been participating on the track and field team for the past four years and helped win two state championships. Individually, she's placed first in state in javelin and currently is tied for the school record. Callie has kept straight A's throughout high school, taken college level courses online since her sophomore year and plans on attending Brigham Young University in Utah this coming fall. Callie is grateful for all the opportunities that she's had while living in Coquille and for all the teachers and coaches that have helped her progress and improve herself.

In addition, Reagon has participated in varsity track and field for all four years of high school. She was the 2023 3A state pole vault champion and has been the district champion for the past two years. She currently holds the school record at Coquille High School with a vault of 11 feet.
