STUDENT AGENCY STAR

of the Week

Liberty Traditional School

Hassan

Hassan is a model student and a bright spot in our day. He is a hard-working young man who truly displays and lives by the 6 pillars of character. He gives 100% participation in class, asks insightful questions, and is always willing to help other struggling students when needed. He has a very kind and gentle heart. Every day after school he helps his younger siblings safely to their car by holding their hand. We are deeply honored to have Hassan in our classes.

Did you know that BMHS cranks up the energy every Friday morning with a pep assembly through October? It's the perfect way to jumpstart your day, packed with excitement, school spirit, and all the positive vibes you need to make it a great day!

TEACHERS,

it is your time

Chris Ortiz, news editor for the Prescott News Network recently did a story called “Teachers, it is your time to shine”. In the story he talks about the challenges of starting each new year for teachers. He asked some of his fellow teachers from the past for some advice to pass on to this years new teachers.

1.

Listen to each other, doesn't matter what your position is (teacher, para, etc.), that person might have a great idea that you can use.

2.

Likewise, to respect each other, and to remember to teach outside the box. To do what is right; ignore the outside noise.

3.

That your room doesn't need to be “Pinterest perfect” to be perfect for your students.

4.

To remember that every child is worthy of being known, accepted, even on your hardest days know you are making a difference, building strong relationships with students can almost always reduce behaviors.

5.

Don't be afraid to ask your colleagues for help.

6.

Make friends with the office staff and the custodian!

7.

Set a time to leave each day and stick with it!

8.

To remember how to draw lines and say no and try not to work outside of your contract time (remember that your personal time is incredibly important).

9.

Showing up and showing them compassion is exactly what they want and need, and something that I think is most important. That this year is a clean slate for not only your students, but also for yourself..

What would you add to this list?

Be the colleague you wish you'd had during your first year of teaching.

Thank you Valerie Adams for the story idea!

POPCORN FRIDAY!

Granville kids had a blast with Popcorn Friday! They were all smiles as they enjoyed their tasty treat, making the day a little more special and fun. It's always a great way to end the week!

THANK

YOU
