“How do you define educator professionalism?”

Presenter: Nason Lollar, Madison Career & Technical Center

It’s a tough question. In The Five Principles of Educator Professionalism, we define this elusive concept by looking in the mirror. Because WE are the common ground that America so desperately seeks. Making a daily commitment to serving every member of our school community will lead to a stronger culture, built on TRUST. Each letter of the word reminds us of the most important, and most urgent, aspects of our work:

- Teaching and learning always come first.
- Remain vigilant to safety concerns.
- Understand the power of communication.
- Seek balance.
- Take ownership of our morale.
