Celebrate National Book Month and the start of a new school year by exploring the Museum's galleries. While you're here, be sure to stop by the Adult Book Fair in Hendel Library, hosted by our friends at Bank Square Books. They will have a selection of books for both adults and children for you to browse. As an added bonus, they offer a teacher discount!

While you're here, get creative and stop by our First Thursday artmaking station! All attendees are welcome to make their own bookmark and/or watercolor painting. This event is family friendly, so come with coworkers or bring your family!

End your evening with your arms full of books and a soul fueled by art!

This event is FREE for Museum members, children under 12 and teachers.* A $5 admission fee will be applied non-members and non-educators.

*Teachers must show their work ID to receive free admission.
