THE DONOVAN CENTER FOR LEARNING

Empowering students to become active, independent learners in pursuit of their greatest academic success.

Through the wide variety of learning and supplemental resources it provides, the Donovan Center for Learning (DCL) is an integral part of every student's Canterbury education. It provides tailored support at all academic levels and affords students the opportunity to develop the strengths, strategies, and skills they need to become self-reliant and successful learners on our hilltop and beyond.

The DCL is an academic hub, centralizing faculty, advisors, resources, technology, and study space that are easily accessible to students throughout the school day. Whether during drop-in hours or by appointment, the DCL serves as a place where students seek help with general homework questions, address academic concerns or challenges, and access any of the following student-centered services:

Academic Counseling
Writing Lab
Math Lab
Science Lab
SAT/ACT Practice
Group or Peer Tutoring

Individualized Subject-Specific Tutoring
(upon Director's evaluation)
Organizational Skills
Executive Function Skill Development:
Study Skills, Time Management,
Self-Advocacy, Test-Taking Methods

We welcome inquiries from prospective families who would like to discuss their student's academic goals or who have general questions about the DCL. For additional information, contact Director of the Donovan Center for Learning Alison Bailey at abailey@cbury.org or 860-210-3912.
