Dear Friends,

We were blessed to be able to send our son to Jesuit. Many years ago, we put our faith in the decision that Jesuit would be a special place for our son, Reggie, and our family, and we were never disappointed in Jesuit's unwavering commitment to the whole person.

From their first day as students, Jesuit provided guidance for all our sons to develop and thrive in an environment designed specifically for them as young men. It is a curriculum that not only includes outstanding academics and athletics, but also emphasizes service and spiritual growth.

Reggie's experience taught him the importance of brotherhood and giving back. His closest friends are Jesuit graduates, and it is a fraternal bond that cannot be broken. Jesuit was instrumental in helping him think outside of the box. After college, Reggie and one of his Jesuit brothers formed a successful business partnership and enjoyed seeing people enjoy the fruits of their labor. What they learned in starting something from scratch and building it into an exciting venture is a lifelong lesson that began at Jesuit. As his 2009 class celebrates its 15-year reunion, attending Jesuit has still been one of the best experiences of his life. He hopes to send a son to Jesuit someday.

Since Reggie's graduation, we have remained involved in this welcoming community of parents, alumni, and students by serving and volunteering. We feel it is a privilege to support efforts that will afford other deserving students the same opportunity. As members of God's family, we are meant to share our gifts through service, compassion, and generosity.

Jesuit's embrace of St. Ignatius' teachings is the guiding light for its mission and students. When parents, grandparents, alumni, families, and friends of Jesuit generously offer their financial gifts, they contribute to a community which prepares young men to share their gifts with the world. Please join us in helping to keep this life-changing experience accessible for all deserving students.

Thank you and warmest regards,

Catherine and Reginald Foxworth
