

JOEY MAHER is overjoyed to be part of the RBC Performing Arts team and is thrilled to work alongside other passionate artists and educators. With nearly two decades of performing experience, Joey continues to inspire young artists at RBC and in his community. His career began early, in productions such as The Radio City Christmas Spectacular, and earned his B.F.A. in Musical Theater from Rider University, where he honed his craft and developed a deep appreciation for the art form. A proud member of the Actor's Equity Association, he has made his mark on the NYC theater scene, contributing to a variety of projects that showcase his versatility and dedication.

In addition to his professional work, Joey is committed to nurturing the next generation of performers. At RBC, he not only shares his extensive knowledge and skills but also fosters a supportive and creative environment for young artists to thrive. His enthusiasm for theater and his dedication to education are evident in every class and performance he is involved in.

Joey is excited to bring the same passion and expertise in theater to the BSA, where he looks forward to collaborating with fellow artists and continuing his journey of artistic and personal growth. When he's not on stage or teaching, Joey enjoys exploring the vibrant NYC arts scene, attending live performances, and connecting with other theater professionals. He is thrilled to bring the same passion and expertise in theater he has gained, right here to the BSA!
