

Project News

Our school year kicked off on a high note, with our Mt. Caesar students cutting a ceremonial ribbon to open the new playground on Aug. 27.

Students are making great use of its many features, and we await the day we can open it fully to our community.

Beyond that, we can proudly report that, thanks to our construction manager, Hutter Construction Corp., this project is on-time and on budget to date. You'll be seeing even more changes on the Mt. Caesar campus in the coming weeks.

Foundation are in place and exterior walls will be installed to allow work through the winter.

Finally, we're about to launch the first phase of the Emerson School project in the coming weeks.

Exciting times!

The District has just begun the planning phase for Emerson.

Our project goals are:

- A modern, secure main entrance, with administrative office
- Two new classrooms to replace undersized classrooms and facilitate collaboration.
- Renovating the smaller classrooms for special education and other small group instruction. This will allow greater flexibility and add meeting space.

- Renovating the current office into a library and creating space for specialist housed in the basement
- Updating mechanical and electrical systems to meet modern building codes and safety standards.
- Small, identified minor deficiencies throughout the facility will be fixed during renovation to ensure all systems are up to date.
