Northwest ISD Instructional Framework

Foundational Elements

- Systems of Support & Success
- Social & Emotional Learning
- Diversity, Equity, & Inclusion
- Professional Learning & Growth
- Standards & Curriculum

Critical Components

- Planning
- Instruction
- Learning Environment
- Assessment

Professional Learning Advisory Committee

Committee

- 3 meetings in the spring
- Continuing this fall
- Over 60 members
- Representatives from every school
 - Teachers
 - Administrators

This committee's work will help us review feedback, collaborate with stakeholders, and design targeted professional learning opportunities that empower, value, and support our educators.

Committee Feedback

- Differentiation Strategies (Special Education, Emergent Bilingual, Dyslexia)
- Strategies for Teaching Vocabulary
- More support for Content Literacy
- Modeling strategies
- Time to Plan with Colleagues and Coaches
- More Choice Sessions
- More Time in Classrooms

By the Numbers

→ 426 Classes Offered

→ 47,000 Total Enrolled

→ 128,030 Hours of Professional Learning

Between June 1 and August 13

Strategic Goal 1

Strategic Goal 1

Northwest ISD will provide personalized learning experiences and cultivate the growth and achievement of every student.

NISD PRIORITIES:

Literacy

- 1.1 Our students will annually increase literacy proficiency to reach or exceed grade-level standards.

Academic Progress

- 1.2 Our students will achieve individualized academic goals to reach a year's growth or more in all content areas.

College, Career, Military & Life Readiness

- 1.3 Our students will graduate life ready and prepared for success in career, college, or military service.

- Literacy strategies across content areas
 - Vocabulary development
 - Annotation strategies
 - Responding to prompts
 - Questioning strategies
- Deep understanding of standards
 - Backwards design
- Formative assessment
 - Differentiation
 - Responsive Teaching

Strategies for Increased Comprehension

Preview the Text

- Read the titles and subtitles
- Locate key/bolded words
- Read captions for images and charts.

Activate Prior Knowledge

- What do you already know about this topic?

Use Graphic Organizer or Thinking Map

- Used to capture the information in a text

Annotate the Text

- Know your purpose for reading
- Identify important information
- Ask questions

Evaluate Understanding

- What did I learn?
- What was important?
- Re-read the text for clarification and more understanding.

Summarize

- What is this mostly about?
- How do all these pieces of information work together?

Use Word Solving Strategies

- Use Context Clues
- Prefix- root- suffix
- Do you know any smaller words in the word?

Use Text Structures

- Cause and Effect
- Compare and Contrast
- Sequence
- Problem and Solution
- Description
- Chronological
- Proposition Support

Discourse and Questioning

- What else do you need to know?
- What questions do you have as you read?
- How might you explain this to someone else?

Connecting Literacy

EXPLAIN

READ ABOUT IT

TEKS 8.6D, 8.1B, 8.5C

Acids and Bases

Use Strategies

As you read, if you are unsure about the meaning of the text,

- ask for help.
- take turns reading aloud with a friend.
- stop and take notes in the margin when you find something interesting or have a question.

Did you ever bite into a slice of lemon? The strong, sour taste fills your mouth, stinging your skin. Taste tells us about the compounds that make up our food.

Acids, Bases, and pH

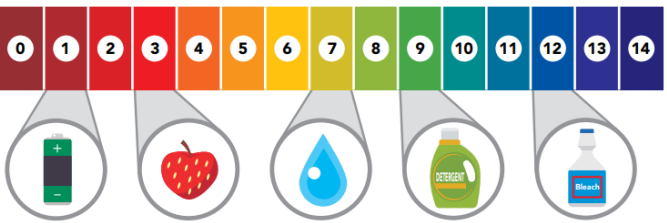

Compounds can be classified as acids and bases. Acids are compounds that have a sour taste and can dissolve some metals. Bases are compounds that are slippery, have a bitter taste, and are caustic, like drain cleaner. Strong acids and bases are very dangerous and should never be touched or tasted. We use the pH scale to measure acids and bases. The pH scale measures how acidic or basic a substance is from 0 (acidic) to 14 (basic). Substances with a pH of less than 7 are acids. Substances with a pH greater than 7 are bases.

pH Scale

On the pH scale, pure water is neutral, with a pH of 7. Acids get stronger as their pH decreases from 7, while bases get stronger as their pH increases from 7.

Acid ← Neutral → Base

0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14

- Professional learning on journal writing and rubrics
- Highlight reading and writing opportunities in curriculum
- Professional learning and calibration
- Common language to support student understanding

Exit Ticket

Choose one of the following activities to compare and contrast acids and bases.

- Draw your own version of the pH scale, with real-world examples of acids and bases and captions describing the properties of each.
- Make a T-chart or Venn Diagram to compare and contrast acids and bases. Include at least one example of an acid and base.

CONSTRUCTED RESPONSES using CER
Claim	an argument/opinion, central idea, or answer to a specific question
Evidence	quotes, examples, and paraphrased information that supports the accuracy of the claim
Reasoning	connects the claim to the evidence, explaining why the claim is reasonable

Curriculum Support

from teks to test lesson

- While modeling through example problems, have students walk you through the process by using the terms "inverse operations", "zero pair" and "creating a one" so that those solving phrases are ingrained in their explanation process. Also, make sure to focus on properties of equivalency. Make sure to include examples of problems that could have no solutions and infinite solutions.
- During class, have students do rally coaching to practice solving and explaining the steps to solve to each other so they receive immediate feedback and can practice using their academic vocabulary. This also forces error analysis while the other student is explaining.
- As students are working and explaining the process to each other, listen for struggling partners to keep them on task and ask probing questions to help guide their learning. (guiding questions listed below)
- Once the process of solving is developed, check for understanding by asking an error analysis problem that has been worked out where students must explain why the mistake occurred and have students correct the mistake.

Sample anchor charts are provided below. It is imperative that the teacher co-create anchor charts with students.

A.5(A)
Solve linear equations in one variable, including those for which the application of the distributive property is necessary and for which variables are included on both sides.

A.5(A)
Solve linear equations in one variable, including those for which the application of the distributive property is necessary and for which variables are included on both sides.

Distributive Property
*Equivalent
*Function
*Coefficient
Inverse Operations

Summary:
The process of solving equations with variables on both sides is heavily influenced by order of operations and properties of equality. When solving equations, students should perform distributive property first, then use the addition, subtraction, multiplication and division properties of equality to isolate the variable.

What should students be doing? Emphasize the first battles, turning point, and final battle of the American Revolution. Consider using a plot diagram with the beginning, rising action, climax, falling action, and resolution as a model when learning about wars. Have students maintain a timeline of the American Revolution throughout the unit to help with the sequence of events. Relative chronology will help students recognize cause and effect relationships and is more significant than absolute chronology (exact dates) for this cluster.						Key Vocabulary:

Content						Ally
Objectives:						Commanding
Declaration of Independence						Imposed
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Common Sense, written by Thomas Paine, played a pivotal role in increasing support for American independence from England. Abigail Adams called for women's rights as a part of independence. John Adams provided leadership by encouraging American independence and by serving in the Continental Congress. The term "unalienable right" means a right that cannot be taken away. Examples of unalienable rights include: life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence, was influenced by John Locke when he included these rights. Causes: Highlight key factors, such as unfair taxation, lack of representation, and the impact of Enlightenment ideas on the colonists' desire for self-governance. Consequences: Discuss the immediate consequences of the Declaration of Independence, such as the formation of a new nation and the shift from a monarchy to a republic. 						Quarantining

Building TEKS Understanding

teks: 3.10A

Explain the author's purpose and message
within the text

Explain: to give reason for something

Author's purpose: the main goal of a piece of writing reflected by the way the author wrote it

Message: the main point or idea that the author is trying to tell the reader

Text: book selection passage

Aha Moments

What is the most likely reason that the author included paragraph # in the selection?

What is the main message of the story?

What is the most likely reason that the author wrote this selection?

Did this relate to the questions you saw?

What do I think? What can I learn?

Find a spot where the character reflects

7.6

Sample 6th grade ELA Learning Target:

Today I will... analyze how characters' internal and external responses help develop the plot of a story

So I Can... annotate an excerpt for personal connections, text to text connections, and inferences I can make about how the thoughts and actions of characters impact the plot of a story.

I'll know I'll have it when... I am able to complete an ECR making inferences about a character in an excerpt I read using text evidence to support my ideas.

- Goal setting strategies for students to use to set goals

2024 - 2025 Checks for Understanding Explained
Purpose	Below you will find ideas for formative and summative checks for understanding. These suggestions align to literacy skills, strategies, and standards in the curriculum resources in our scope and sequence. As a team/individual, determine how best to use these according to how the align to your student's individual learning goals and needs.
Reminders	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The suggestions below do not have to be used as a grade. It is a best practice to use frequent information and formal assessments to determine content mastery if the assessment matches your instruction. Please remember to refer to the grading guidelines to determine the number of grades needed per quarter in each content/subject area.
Informal Checks for Understanding
Definition: What - Informal assessments are a continuous, low- or no-stakes, observed application of a skill or strategy that identifies students' strengths and areas for growth.	Examples: Writing about reading/ Jots Annotations Discourse around a skill with a text Oral rehearsal Editing for one skill Revising with a lens
When - Daily - During Instruction
Formal Checks for Understanding
Definition: What - Formal assessments are a continuous, planned, observed application of a skill or strategy that identifies students' strengths and areas for growth. They are designed to elicit and use evidence of student learning to improve student understanding of the intended learning outcome.	Examples: Writing from across a text Constructed responses Short cycle assessments A text with a few skill-based questions Drafts Editing for multiple skills Revising with multiple lenses Decoding + encoding weekly checks Grammar quick checks
When - Weekly - After Instruction and Practice
Summative Checks for Understanding
Definition: What - Summative assessments are planned, observed application of skills and strategies. Reflects multiple informal and formal assessments and are designed to monitor curriculum effectiveness, implementation, and student growth.	Examples: A text with questions over many skills CBAs Essays + Compositions Interim STAAR
When - Collected After Multiple Informal and Formal Assessments

Feedback

"I cannot believe this was free!"

AMAZING presentation, great teaching strategies and engagement, very informative and essential for all grade levels!

Thanks for continuing to offer and give us fun relaxing sessions to enjoy and get ready for a fun year. Loved taking a new chance at something.

Best training of the week! Glad there is something to look back at since we learned so much. Thanks!

Love this session! I can't wait to utilize it in science!

Professional Learning Adjustments

To better support our teacher needs:

- Added MORE choice sessions
 - District Professional Learning Days
 - Back to School Days
- Offered some asynchronous options for curriculum updates
- Work sessions that offered make and takes so teachers already had materials ready to go
- Book Study options
- After school District PLCs will be on Zoom to save teachers from driving
- Flex time adjustments
