Frequently Asked Questions

What is AMSA?

The Advanced Math & Science Academy Charter School (AMSA) is a seven-year, comprehensive public school educating students in grades 6-12. AMSA opened its doors in 2005 and is located in Marlborough, Mass., about 35 miles west of Boston. AMSA's goal is to bring quality education, typically available only at exclusive private or exam schools, to an all-inclusive public school setting. AMSA's teaching model is centered on providing a rigorous college-oriented education for all students. We believe that children of diverse backgrounds with a wide range of abilities can achieve a world-class education if given the opportunity to apply themselves diligently. Admittance to AMSA is based on a space-availability lottery conducted annually in late winter.

What is a charter school?

Charter schools in Massachusetts are free public schools that are open to all students within the state. Admission is determined by random lottery; there are no entrance exams or admissions requirements. Charter public schools are managed by a public board of trustees and follow the same open-meeting laws and rules as district public schools.

How is AMSA funded?

Charter schools are public schools that operate outside of city/town public school districts' annual budgets. They receive state funding per student, but unlike school districts, they must pay for their own facilities and improvements. Charter schools do not have access to Massachusetts School Building Authority (MSBA) funds such as other Massachusetts public schools and therefore we are dependent on private fundraising.
