ABOUT OUR DISTRICT

Founded in 1898, Hewlett-Woodmere Public Schools is located in a beautiful, residential, and family-oriented community on the South Shore of Long Island, New York, approximately 25 miles from midtown Manhattan. Hewlett-Woodmere has a population of 20,000 residents, who are well known for their support of, and engagement with, the District schools. The District is comprised of 60% White, 18% Hispanic, 10% Asian or Pacific Islander, 10% Black, 1% American Indian or Alaskan Natives, and 1% Multicultural individuals.

Hewlett-Woodmere Public Schools is consistently ranked among the best on both state and national levels, and prides itself on creating opportunities for students of all ages to achieve excellence. The District educates close to 2800 Pre-K through 12th grade students across five schools with a budget of $138 million. Eleven private schools are also located within the District's boundaries. From the earliest learners at Franklin Early Childhood Center to the graduates of George W. Hewlett High School the goal is to provide enriching and exciting educational experiences in caring, student-centered environments. The District believes in going beyond the mandated curriculum to develop each student's individual academic, artistic, and athletic potential. Empowering the next generation for success in life is a responsibility the District takes very seriously.
