COURSE DESCRIPTION:

English 10 is a grade-level course designed to provide a comprehensive curriculum in English language arts with integration of the CA ELD Standards that were adopted by the SBE November 2012 (CDE 2014).

This course calls for students to engage in a range of tasks (analyze, interpret, assess, integrate and evaluate, collaborate, adapt, apply) that require the critical thinking, problem solving and collaboration demanded of 21st century living and learning, with emphasis on meaning making, effective expression, content knowledge, and language development.

GENERAL GOALS/ESSENTIAL QUESTIONS:

- Students develop the readiness for college, careers, and civic life.
- Students attain the capacities of literate individuals.
- Students become broadly literate.
- Students acquire the skills for living and learning in the 21st century.

COMMON CORE STATE STANDARD READING COMPONENT:

Reading Anchor Standards (K-12)

Key Ideas & Details

1. Read closely to determine what the text says explicitly and to make logical inferences from it; cite specific textual evidence when writing or speaking to support conclusions drawn from the text.
2. Determine central ideas or themes of a text and analyze their development; summarize the key supporting details and ideas.
3. Analyze how and why individuals, events, or ideas develop and interact over the course of a text.

Craft & Structure

4. Interpret words and phrases as they are used in a text, including determining technical, connotative, and figurative meanings, and analyze how specific word choices shape meaning, or tone.
5. Analyze the structure of texts, including how specific sentences, paragraphs, and larger portions of the text (e.g., a section, chapter, scene, or stanza) relate to each other and the whole.

6. Assess how point of view or purpose shapes the content and style of a text.

Integration of Knowledge & Ideas

7. Integrate and evaluate content presented in diverse media and formats, including visually and quantitatively, as well as in words.

8. Delineate and evaluate the argument and specific claims in a text, including the validity of the reasoning as well as the relevance and sufficiency of the evidence.

9. Analyze how two or more texts address similar themes or topics in order to build knowledge or to compare the approaches the authors take.

Reading Range / Text Complexity

10. Read and comprehend complex literary and informational texts independently and proficiently.

COMMON CORE STATE STANDARD WRITING COMPONENT:

Writing Anchor Standards (K-12)

Text Types & Purposes

1. Write arguments to support claims in an analysis of substantive topics or texts using valid reasoning and relevant and sufficient evidence.

2. Write informative/explanatory texts to examine and convey complex ideas and information clearly and accurately through the effective selection, organization, and analysis of content.

3. Write narratives to develop real or imagined experiences or events using effective technique, well-chosen details and well-structured event sequences.

Production & Distribution of Writing

4. Produce clear and coherent writing in which the development, organization, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience.

5. Develop and strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach.

6. Use technology, including the Internet, to produce and publish writing and to interact and collaborate with others.

Research to Build Knowledge

7. Conduct short as well as more sustained research projects based on focused questions, demonstrating understanding of the subject under investigation.

8. Gather relevant information from multiple print and digital sources, assess the credibility and accuracy of each source, and integrate the information while avoiding plagiarism.

9. Draw evidence from literary or informational texts to support analysis, reflection, and research.

Range of Writing

10. Write routinely over extended time frames (time for research, reflection, and revision) and shorter time frames (a single sitting or a day or two) for a range of tasks, purposes, and audiences.

COMMON CORE STATE STANDARD SPEAKING AND LISTENING COMPONENTS:

Speaking and Listening Anchor Standards (K-12)

Comprehension & Collaboration

1. Prepare for and participate effectively in a range of conversations and collaborations with diverse partners, building on others' ideas and expressing their own clearly and persuasively.

2. Integrate and evaluate information presented in diverse media and formats, including visually, quantitatively, and orally.
3. Evaluate a speaker's point of view, reasoning, and use of evidence and rhetoric.

Presentation of Knowledge & Ideas

4. Present information, findings, and supporting evidence such that listeners can follow the line of reasoning and the organization, development, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience.
5. Make strategic use of digital media and visual displays of data to express information and enhance understanding of presentations.
6. Adapt speech to a variety of contexts and communicative tasks, demonstrating command of formal English when indicated or appropriate.

COMMON CORE STATE STANDARD LANGUAGE COMPONENTS:

Language Anchor Standards (K-12)

Conventions of Standard English

1. Demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English grammar and usage when writing or speaking.
2. Demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English capitalization, punctuation, and spelling when writing.

Knowledge of Language

3. Apply knowledge of language to understand how language functions in different contexts, to make effective choices for meaning or style, and to comprehend more fully when reading or listening.

Vocabulary Acquisition and Use

4. Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown and multiple-meaning words and phrases by using context clues, analyzing meaningful word parts, and consulting general and specialized reference materials, as appropriate.
5. Demonstrate understanding of figurative language, word relationships, and nuances in word meanings.
6. Acquire and use accurately a range of general academic and domain-specific words and phrases sufficient for reading, writing, speaking, and listening at the college and career readiness level; demonstrate independence in gathering an unknown term important to comprehension or expression.

DETAILED UNITS OF INSTRUCTION:

Unit 1: Destiny

Unit Driving Question: How much of what happens in our lives do we control?

Unit Overview: This unit offers students a ride across the globe and across history to explore a question that is as relevant today as it was thousands of years ago: how much of what happens in our lives do we actually control?

Featured Genres: poetry, drama, informational

Key Reading Skills: central or main idea, textual evidence, rhetoric, theme, poetic elements, dramatic elements, author's purpose and point of view, personification,

Key Writing Skills: thesis statement, audience, purpose, and style, organize argumentative writing, supporting details, introductions, body paragraphs and transitions, conclusions, sources and citations

Extended Writing Project: Argumentative writing can be difficult, especially when it's about which of two texts best answers the unit's essential question, How much of what happens in our lives do we actually control? The extended writing project for this unit helps students develop an effective argumentative essay by breaking down the writing process into small, manageable tasks that build up to the complete essay. Skill lessons also precede each step of the writing process in this unit, offering modeling and instruction that propel students into their own writing tasks.

Unit 2: Taking a Stand

Unit Driving Question: When is it appropriate to change the rules?

Unit Overview: This unit offers students the opportunity to explore the relationship between authority and citizens from several perspectives and will hone their own skills for identifying and supporting an argument.

Featured Genres: poetry, novel, speech, nonfiction, drama, court ruling

Key Reading Skills: point of view, informational text structure and elements, character, cultural context, tone figures of speech, central or main idea, author's purpose and point of view, connotation and denotation, compare and contrast, reasons and evidence, technical language, media

Key Writing Skills: thesis statement, audience and purpose, organize argumentative writing, supporting details, introductions, body paragraphs and transitions, conclusions, style, sources and citations

Extended Writing Project: After reading different positions on the subject of challenging authority, students will dive deeper into some of the texts to see exactly how the authors or speakers support their arguments. The extended writing project for this unit asks students to select two of the texts and write an analysis that shows why the author or speaker believes it is sometimes acceptable to break rules. Skill lessons and instruction that focus on creating an effective structure will help students practice all Common Core State Standards for literary analysis writing.

Unit 3: Technical Difficulties

Unit Driving Question: What responsibility do we have for what we create?

Unit Overview: In this unit, students will explore both the positive and negative effects of technological progress. They will examine different effects of technology throughout history from a variety of perspectives, though fiction, non-fiction narratives, articles, speeches, letters, and poetry.

Featured Genres: poetry, novel, myth, speech, nonfiction, letter, debate

Key Reading Skills: character, media, allusion, technical language, informational text structure and elements, central or main idea, argument and claim, author's purpose and point of view, poetic structure, tone, theme, compare and contrast

Key Writing Skills: audience, purpose, and style, research and note-taking, thesis statement, organize informative writing, supporting details, introductions and conclusions, body paragraphs and transitions, sources and citations

Extended Writing Project: As students make their way through the unit, they will consider numerous facts as well as opinions regarding the progress of technology, its effect on individuals, and the responsibility mankind has to itself as well as its environment as both the inventor and recipient of that technology. The extended writing project for this unit helps students share those ideas through a well-constructed informative/explanatory essay on the positive and negative effects of technology and the responsibility people must accept when developing new technology intended to benefit humanity. Small, manageable tasks lead students through the prewriting, planning, drafting, revising, and editing/proofreading/publishing steps of the writing process, while skill lessons offer modeling and instruction on criteria within each step specific to the writing form.

Unit 4: The Human Connection

Unit Driving Question: How do our interactions define us?

Unit Overview: In studying different human interactions, students learn about the power and responsibility of interactions. This grade 10 unit prompts students to explore the driving question and consider the complexities of interaction and influence.

Featured Genres: drama, novel, poetry, screenplay, short story, autobiography, biography, memoir

Key Reading Skills: theme, media, connotation and denotation, character, informational text structure and elements, technical language, argument and claim, poetic structure, main or central idea, tone

Key Writing Skills: organize narrative writing, introductions, narrative techniques and sequencing, descriptive details, writing dialogue, audience, purpose, and style, conclusions, transitions

Extended Writing Project: This unit includes a variety of texts and materials that explore the way interaction makes an impact in different literary genres. For this unit's extended writing project, students will be writing a narrative about an unusual interaction that takes place between a character and someone or something else that reveals the character's true nature or affects the character in a meaningful way. This lesson provides students with a definition of narrative writing and its major features, as well as a sample student narrative. Small, manageable tasks lead students through the prewriting, planning, drafting, revising, and editing/proofreading/publishing steps of the writing process, while skill lessons offer modeling and instruction on criteria within each step specific to narrative writing.

DISTRICT ESLRS TO BE ADDRESSED:

Students will be:

- Self-Directed Learners: who read and write independently, gaining confidence in their abilities to think on their own and take responsibility for their own learning. They will be guided toward independent learning as a life-long tool for success in the classroom and beyond.
- Effective Communicators: who are able to read clearly and project their voices; read with the appropriate inflection and emphasis; and participate appropriately in small group and class discussions.
- Collaborative Workers: who are capable of working in both large and small groups in order to produce well-organized, thoughtful products such as group presentations on topics that are raised in reading. Students will demonstrate a respect of the varying viewpoints offered from different members of a group and work produced by groups will demonstrate effort by all students.
- Constructive Thinkers: who reflect on their reading and writing to enhance the outcomes of their work. Students will practice metacognitive strategies to improve their reading comprehension.
- Quality Producers/Performers: who take pride in all assignments and realize the value of creating a product that is original in substance and an example of a personal best effort.
- Responsible Citizens: who are prepared to contribute to our democracy in positive ways. Through their reading experiences students will gain an understanding of the responsibility, honor, and integrity that is essential to become a functioning member of our society.
