What is LETRS? professional learning designed to:

- provide K-5 educators with the deep knowledge needed to be literacy and language experts in the science of reading.
- transform student learning and improve outcomes.

GFPS is beginning a LETRS cohort of K-5 teachers in November of 2024. Teachers joining the cohort will need to commit to the two-year extended program. LETRS provides teachers a way to gain specialized knowledge in literacy instruction.

Teachers can choose to earn credits toward a master's degree through American College of Education or take the hours for PIR. Enjoy training that fits into your schedule with comprehensive support every step of the way.
