

Meet Your School Psychologist

Tami Radakovich, M. Ed., Ed. S., NCSP

A little bit about Tami....

Tami worked full-time as a school psychologist for 13 years and has worked as a school counselor for the past 4 years. She continues to work as a full-time counselor at the largest comprehensive high school in Montana, while also serving as the school's school psychologist. Prior to these careers, Tami worked for community agencies in positions ranging from providing mental health services to low income, at-risk populations, to coordinating care for adults with cognitive disabilities. Tami received her bachelors of science in Psychology as well as her Masters in Counseling and Human Services and Education Specialist degree in School Psychology from the University of Idaho. She has worked within the schools from Idaho, to Alaska, to Wyoming and now Montana.

Tami met her husband who is also a school psychologist and counselor while attending graduate school. She and her husband have raised three wonderful children, two of whom are in college. In her life outside of the school day, Tami can be found enjoying hot yoga, trail running, climbing mountains, traveling, and spending time with her family.
