

A Parents Right to Know:

Governor Kay Ivey signed Senate Bill 48 during the spring 2024 Alabama Legislative Session. This law, known as a Parents Rights to Know, requires a list of classroom curricula to be posted on school websites. Curriculum can be defined in two ways - the standards that are taught in a course and the print or digital materials used as an instructional resource to teach the course. Standards for all courses can be found on the Alabama Learning Exchange website by clicking on the Standards dropdown menu at the top of the page and selecting an area to review in the major categories. Standards for specific grade levels or courses can be selected and viewed after selecting from the dropdown menu.

Curriculum Resources:

Current curriculum materials that have been adopted or approved by the Coosa County Board of Education can be found according to grade level in the link below. These materials are tools for instruction by the teacher and learning by the student. By request, a list of any additional resources not listed in classroom syllabi or newsletters can be shared with parents. In many instances, there are additional instructional materials provided by the classroom teacher which could range from letters on the wall to a classroom library or reading materials. To request additional instructional materials, please reach out to your child's classroom teacher directly.

Inquiry Form:

All parents and guardians are free to contact the Coosa County Assistant Superintendent Adam Hopper with any questions or concerns about the district's curriculum. Please complete the Curriculum Inquiry Form by clicking on the link below, which will be sent for his review.
