

AMSB Counseling Newsletter

September 13th, 2024

Dear Parents and Guardians,

As your 7th grader enters the Amity School District they will be met with many changes from their years in elementary school. These Counselor Newsletters will provide you with some information about those changes, starting this week with a discussion of grading in the middle schools, grading that differs in some respect from what you and your child may have been accustomed to in elementary school.

The middle school grading system is and has been a traditional letter-based system (A, B, C, D, F) differing from the standards-based grading (1-4) that your child received in elementary school. We understand that this shift may raise some questions, and in some cases worries, so we are here to provide clarity and support as we navigate this shift together.

Understanding the Transition

- From Standards-Based to Letter Grades: While standards-based grading (SBG) focuses on assessing students' mastery of specific learning objectives, traditional letter grades represent overall performance in a subject. This means that grades will now reflect a cumulative assessment of a student's performance throughout the grading period.
- Grading Criteria: Traditional letter grades will be based on various assessments, including tests, quizzes, assignments, and projects. These grades will reflect students' overall achievement in relation to the course standards, combining their performance on different tasks.
- Feedback and Improvement: While SBG provided detailed feedback on specific skills and standards, traditional grading will emphasize a broader evaluation of student progress.

Teachers will continue to provide feedback and support to help students improve and succeed.

- Grade Reporting: Report cards will now feature letter grades (A, B, C, D, F) along with comments that highlight strengths and areas for improvement. This format aligns with more familiar grading practices and provides a summary of overall achievement.

Supporting Your Child Through the Transition

Online Gradebook Access: You will still have access to our online gradebook, where you can track your child's progress and see assignment details. In your PowerSchool account, you can set reminder emails that will be sent to you each week to help you keep track of your child's progress. When reviewing these reports, please be aware that teachers may enter a zero as a placeholder for missing work. If your child has been absent and has not made up their work, this reminder will help them keep track of what is outstanding.

We are committed to ensuring that this transition is as smooth as possible for your child. Teachers will work closely with students to help them understand the letter grading system and continue to provide the support they need to succeed.

Resources for Understanding Traditional Letter Grades

To help you understand traditional letter grading and how it will affect your child's academic experience, we have provided some online resources:

1. Understanding Traditional Grading Systems

This article explains the basics of grading systems, how letter grades work, and what parents need to know about their child's academic progress:
