Carl Ben Eielson Middle School students will go and glow at the Glow Run Foam Party on Wednesday hosted by the Carl Ben Eielson Parent Teacher Association. The students will don glow-in-the-dark clothing and wear glow stick necklaces as they run a mile-long course around the school grounds and finish in a glow-in-the-dark foam pit.

The running course will take students around the school building, down the alley and end up at the tennis courts, where they will then proceed to the foam pit.

After running the course, students will be ready to jump around and dance in the sudsy, soapy foam pit from The Bubble Bonanza. The foam pit will be outfitted with black lights and bright-colored foam that may look radioactive but is completely safe. The students' neon and glow-in-the-dark outfits will stand out as they play in the foam and dance to music.

The runs will be separated by grade with sixth graders running at 6:30 p.m., seventh graders at 6:50 p.m., and eighth graders at 7:10 p.m.

Each participating student will receive a complimentary glow-stick necklace provided by Consolidated Electrical Distributors.
