Atlab

www.atlabme.com / LinkedIn

Redefining Learning ATLAB, a technology-based hands-on learning solutions company provides innovative training systems to educational institutions, technical universities, and industrial (vocational) training centers. Partnered with the world's leading solutions providers and manufacturers, ATLAB brings the best of class solutions to classrooms. We understand the need for a child to touch, feel and inspect what they may not comprehend by just reading. ATLAB has taken education to another dimension by redefining conventional methodologies, enabling a high level of knowledge retention. Our learning programs are designed with innovative and effective ideas that are based on the curriculum, which ensures optimum student involvement. Atlab is a part of the Centena Group, since 1980.

CES Holdings Ltd

www.cesholdings.com | LinkedIn

Supplying schools in 128 countries, CES Holdings offers a one stop shop for all educational material from the United Kingdom (and indeed from the USA); this comprises all a school's book requirements and educational supplies across the curriculum. Equally important is our project work where we become involved in equipping new schools from scratch. This includes the general furniture and the design, supply and installation of the specialist areas such as laboratories, libraries, DT rooms etc. Our on-line order tracking service and the book search facility on our website have proved valuable additions to our service which, on top of the reduced freight and other savings that we pass on to schools, keep CES Holdings at the forefront of international educational supplies.

Chamberlain Music

www.chamberlainmusic.com | John@chamberlainmusic.com

Chamberlain Music has grown over the past three decades to be one of the foremost music education suppliers in the UK today. We have around fifty staff based mainly in Haslemere UK, most of whom have a practical interest in one area of music or another. In recent years we have gained many new customers from further afield including many British International schools in Europe, Middle East North Africa, and the Far East. We offer a consolidation service where schools can make purchases from various suppliers in the UK but ship the complete order in a single part or full container load from our warehouse in Haslemere. You can use your own shipping agents and freight management or leave it all to us to arrange. Over the years we have curated a range of in-house brands including Chamberlain Music, Percussion Plus, Octopus ukuleles, Tom & Will, and Musisca. Our export and distribution side to the company imports and distributes a number of popular brands to UK education suppliers and retailers – our brands include Nuvo Instruments, Panyard, IZZO Samba percussion and Manhasset and RAT music stands. Of course we stock all leading named brands, whatever you want – we can provide!

Junior Duke Award

www.juniorduke.com | dawn@juniorduke.com

I am a primary teacher with a passion for helping children to become more independent, confident and resilient with a greater feeling of empowerment.
Quick question - Are your students in need of improved life skills?

If so, you might be interested to know there is a life skills Award for children aged 4-13. It's called the Junior Duke Award and leads children through set challenges helping them to grow in independence, confidence and resilience.

It's never too early to help children to be self-sufficient and to become capable young adults.

The age-appropriate life skills and cultural challenges are in seven progressive, high-quality workbooks. Thereafter, the final two levels are evidenced on a portal. All created by a Scottish primary teacher.

The Award is great for:

- creating independence
- inclusivity, allowing children of all academic abilities to achieve success
- helping your school address the UN convention on the rights of the child
- giving leadership experience for non-executive members of staff
- building additional home-school links
- providing useful extra knowledge of the 'whole child' for parents' nights and report writing
- creating a community feel within your school
- rewarding student achievement
- developing positive challenges and a healthy sense of competition
- all academic abilities as well as working alongside all curriculums
- helping children discover talents and skills

The Happy Confident Company

www.happyconfident.com | jenny@happyconfident.com

With the rapid rise of mental health issues in children across the world, The Happy Confident Company is on a mission to help every child develop a strong sense of self-understanding and self-belief from the earliest possible age. We believe that early intervention and prevention are key to improving children's wellbeing.

We provide clinician approved, ready-to-go programmes and resources that develop personal, social, and emotional skills for children aged 3 to 14 and in just 10 minutes a day. There is little training required and the programme can be tailored to each individual school.

Using our resources for just 10 minutes a day, Happy Confident schools transform children's wellbeing by developing the skills and confidence they need to succeed. The impact of the programme is immediate with a large percentage of schools seeing a difference in just one week. The results are improved self-regulation, increased self-awareness and growth mindset, increased resilience, and greater compassion. Additionally, the programme benefits teachers by promoting positive behaviours and reducing time spent on behaviour management.

Our resources are currently used in schools throughout the UK and internationally, with endorsements from clinicians, schools and charities. Several of the resources are being translated in other languages such as Dutch, Czech and Arabic version.

Our commitment to developing children's wellbeing drives us to constantly innovate and evolve our resources to help even more children worldwide. Join us on our mission.
