STUDENT AGENCY STAR

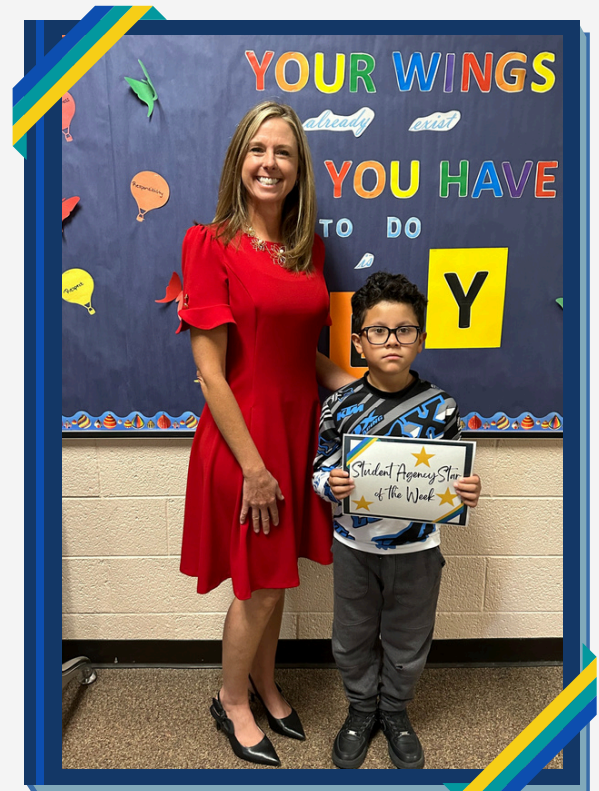

of the Week

Rodrigo

Mountain View Elementary School

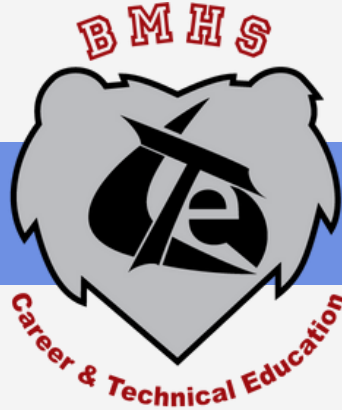

Rodrigo is one of the hardest working students. He is constantly showing others what it looks like to be a role model student. He is always willing and ready to learn. Rodrigo continues to understand that at school we are to be safe, respectful, responsible and kind. He cheers on his peers when they do something exciting and he is the first person to ask if a student is okay when he sees they are not doing well. He is a dual language learner and is always willing to help students who may not understand the English language yet. We are excited to continue to watch him grow as a learner.

CRIME SCENE DO NOT CROSS

BMHS CTE Law and Public Safety Class

BMHS CTE Law and Public Safety students get hands-on training on how to lift fingerprints from a crime scene by Karen Alexander, #519, from the Prescott Police Department. Alexander, a Crime Scene Investigator, instructed students on how to powder, dust, lift and apply prints for identification of suspects. Instructor Bruce Giles often brings in guest speakers so that his students can explore the many career paths this CTE program has offer.

Ms. Cloud's 2nd grade class took on an exciting challenge this week! First, they built a deserted island using Legos, and just when they thought they were safe, disaster struck!

The students had to put their heads together to come up with creative solutions. The teamwork was incredible, and the laughter made the whole adventure even more fun!

PROJECT MOMENTUM

Liberty Traditional School teacher Doug Rowe brought a powerful new strategy from his Project Momentum Training with Dr. Dan Mulligan into the classroom this week. As his students kicked off their 9/11 essays, they used the Alpha Block worksheet to brainstorm impactful words that capture the significance of the day. The energy in the room was high as students shared their ideas, building off each other's thoughts just like in the PM seminar. Now, equipped with these meaningful words, they're ready to craft thoughtful and compelling essays that truly honor the event.
