Literacy Corner

with Mrs. Zumwalt

We are off to a great start with a new school year. For some students, it is their very first time in school and for others they are returning for another year. Our goal is to help students develop and have our little learners learn to love literacy! We can work together to help make our students become happy and confident learners. One way to do this is to play with letters, sounds, and words. When children have fun with language it helps them crack the reading code. One way to do this is by having conversation with your child. Ask your child to talk about his day at school. Encourage them to explain something they did. Have them elaborate on what they did. For example, "I played during recess."

Then you could reply,

"Tell me more about what you played during recess today." Another activity you can do is talk about the letters and sounds in your child's name. These activities will help in building a strong foundation for reading success.
