The Chemistry of Fear 2024

The EHS Library is feeling spooky for October! Our Chemistry of Fear display is up and ready for browsing. My favorite is the latest book from Faridah Àbíké-Íyímídé When Sleeping Girls Lie. It is about a private elite high school on the east coast where a new student, Sade, with a mysterious past has a harrowing experience when her roommate goes missing. Sade tries to balance figuring out what happened to her roommate with other weird things about the school, and the fact that her own father recently died but the school has no clue. The writing is gorgeously tense and draws the reader in and captivates from start to finish! There were times when I thought the main character might be guilty or her bestie. And then I would change my mind again to a supernatural presence or minor character. This year we are also collaborating with Mrs. Kidd's creative writing class to feature scary stories the students will create. Come by and visit The Chemistry of Fear.

PSAT and SAT digital readiness

10th, 11th, and 12th graders need to make sure their school laptop has the Bluebook app for the PSAT and SAT tests this year which are all online. If they cannot download the Bluebook app they need to visit the library ASAP!
