Weather Information - a Green Level has been set for October 4

Air quality prompts suspension or outdoor activities for the day - athletics excluded

JONESBORO - Based on information from the National Weather Service (NWS) for Friday, October 4, 2024, daily temperatures and the heat index for Metro Atlanta are projected to reach Green Level status with the Heat Index expected to remain below 80 degrees.

Due to the NWS forecast that wind direction may create air quality issues for the district campuses. Leadership is suspending all outdoor activities for the general student population. This action excludes all athletic activities which will take place as scheduled.

Unless otherwise notified, athletic programs should follow standard protocols in dealing with Green Level status as established by the Georgia High School Association in By-Law 2.67.

Parents/guardians are encouraged to take this information into consideration when planning any outdoor activities for the week. Parents/guardians are also encouraged to make sure their children are dressed in appropriate clothing for school.

Special Note: The information expressed here is the most current information related to anticipated weather in the district. It should be understood that weather changes may occur, and as those changes are confirmed by the National Weather Service, they will be reported for any actions deemed appropriate.

While the school district will continue to monitor conditions throughout this week, we encourage everyone to be safe and stay connected for updated information regarding any potential weather issues through the following outlets:

- All television and radio stations in the Metro Area
- CCPS Finals/ParentLink phone and email
- CCPS Infinite Campus portal
- CCPS Information – e-blast to employees and stakeholders
