

Elementary E-Learning Plan

Dear Fourth Grade Parents and Guardians,

This year it has been decided that all classes (P-6) will participate in e-learning days by completing the attached work “packets” and returning it completed with a parent/guardian signature the next school day. This is how we will be marking attendance for the school day.

Attached you will find 3 days worth of work for your student to complete on e-learning days ONLY. Please only complete one day's worth of work on an e-learning day, ei. Day 1 work to be completed on e-learning day number one, Day 2 work to be completed on e-learning day number two, etc. Please do NOT complete all the packets on the first e-learning day.

Included in the packet of work is review of skills your student has seen before in reading and math. If any questions arise while you are working with your student, your student's teacher is available via phone, or email until 3:30p.m. Please do not hesitate to reach out and ask questions.

Thank you.

A triangle is a figure with three sides and three angles.

A. Write a vocabulary word for each picture.

B. Write a vocabulary word for each pair of synonyms.

1. likelihood, chance _____ 2. calculate, guess _____

READING: READING COMPREHENSIONLesson 9: Inferencing/Drawing Conclusions

Directions: Read the passage. Choose the best answer to the questions that follow.

Example

Sometimes we see sand dunes near the water. These sand dunes do not always stay in the same place. The wind blows them along. Some sand dunes move only a few feet each year. Others move over 200 feet in a year.

A. Sand dunes move the most —

- (A) near the water.
- (B) where it is coldest.
- (C) where it is windiest.
- (D) where there are a lot of people.

After you read the story, think about why things happened and about what might happen after the end of the story.

Practice

It's as black as ink out here in the pasture, and I'm as tired as an old shoe. But even if I were in my bed, I don't think I'd be sleeping like a baby tonight.

Last summer for my birthday, my parents gave me my dream horse. Her name is Goldie. She is a beautiful palomino. I love to watch her gallop around the pasture. She runs like the wind and looks so carefree. I hope I'll see her run that way again.

Yesterday, after I fed her, I forgot to close the door to the feed shed. She got into the grain and ate like a pig, which is very unhealthy for a horse. The veterinarian said I have to watch her like a hawk tonight to be sure she doesn't get colic. That's a very bad stomachache. Because he also said I should keep her moving, I have walked her around and around the pasture until I feel like we're on a merry-go-round.

Now the sun is finally beginning to peek over the horizon, and Goldie seems content. I think she's going to be as good as new.

1. What will the narrator most likely do the next time she feeds the horse?

- (A) She will feed the horse too much.
- (B) She will make sure she closes the feed shed door.
- (C) She will give the horse plenty of water.
- (D) She will leave the feed shed open.

2. How much experience do you think the narrator has with horses?

- (F) Lots. She's probably owned many horses before.
- (G) This is probably her first horse. She doesn't have a lot of experience.
- (H) She's probably owned a horse before this, but not many.
- (J) I can't tell from the story.

Reading and Comprehension

DIRECTIONS: Read the passage and answer the questions that follow.

Have you ever seen someone send a code for SOS? Maybe you've seen an old movie showing a ship about to sink. Perhaps someone on the ship was tapping wildly on a device. That person was using the telegraph to send for help.

Samuel Morse invented the telegraph. He also invented the electronic alphabet called Morse code. The code was a set of dots and dashes that stood for each number and letter of the alphabet.

In 1832, Morse was sailing back to the United States from Europe. During the trip, he came up with the idea of an electronic telegraph. It would help people communicate across great distances. They would be able to be in contact with each other from ship to shore. He was eager to make his invention as quickly as possible.

By 1835, he had made his first telegraph. However, it was only a trial version. In 1844, he built a telegraph line. It went from Baltimore to Washington, D.C. The telegraph line was like a telephone line today. It carried Morse code messages from one person to another.

Morse kept working to make his telegraph better. In 1849, the government gave him a patent. This gave him the right to make his invention. Within a few years, there were 23,000 miles of telegraph wire. People could now communicate across great distances.

As a result of his invention, trains ran more safely. Conductors could warn about dangers or problems and ask for help. People in businesses could communicate more easily. This made it easier to sell their goods and services. Morse had changed communication forever.

1. What is the main idea of this passage?

2. Give three details from the passage that helped you answer Question 1.

3. What type of writing is this passage?

- ☐ (A) fiction
- ☐ (B) poetry
- ☐ (C) nonfiction
- ☐ (D) fable

4. What was the author's purpose for writing this passage?

- ☐ (F) to entertain the reader
- ☐ (G) to alarm the reader
- ☐ (H) to inform the reader
- ☐ (J) to challenge the reader

Play Ball!

How did soccer become such a popular sport in the United States?

¹ What if someone asked you to go to an association football game? Would you be interested? You might be more interested if you knew they were talking about soccer, the world's most widely played sport. Games similar to soccer were played as long as two thousand years ago in China! Modern soccer got its name from association football, a game played in England in the mid-1800s. The word association was shortened to assoc, which finally turned into soccer.

² The first soccer clubs were formed in England in the 1850s. The first professional players joined in the 1880s. Soccer quickly spread across Europe and became very popular in countries such as Spain, Italy, and Germany. Soccer even spread to countries in faraway South America. People seemed to like how simple the game is. All you need to play is a ball and two goals. Everything else comes from the players. Soccer still remains incredibly popular in both Europe and South America. Professional players there are often as popular as movie stars are in the United States.

³ One of the best and most famous of these professionals is Edson Arantes do Nascimento. He is better known by his nickname, Pelé. Pelé was born in Brazil, a country in South America. With Pelé's help, Brazil won three World Cup titles from the late 1950s to the early 1970s. Today, he is still one of the all-time leading scorers in World Cup history with 12 goals. The International Olympic Committee named Pelé Soccer Player of the Century in 1999.

⁴ The World Cup is the worldwide soccer competition that is held every four years, once for women and once for men. More than 200 teams work hard to be chosen as one of the 32 best teams that get the honor of competing in the Men's World Cup. More than a billion people watched the 2002 match on television. The first Women's World Cup match was played in 1991 in China. Today, about 100 teams compete for just 16 spots.

⁵ It took longer for soccer to be accepted in the United States than it did in other places around the world. A different kind of football was already being played in this country. People were not eager to try another form. After Pelé joined the New York Cosmos in 1975, soccer became more popular in the United States. It continues to grow in popularity. Today, soccer is the second favorite sport for kids in the United States!

Maggie and Isabel went to the park on Saturday. They both headed for the slides. But, they couldn't decide who should go first. Isabel said she should because she was older. Maggie said she should because Isabel always got to. Just then, Brett came over and said, "Why don't you each get on one slide and start down at the same time?"

And that's just what they did.

A. What is the turning point of this story?

- (A) Maggie and Isabel argue over the slide.
- (B) Brett comes up with a great solution.
- (C) The girls go down the slides at the same time.
- (D) The girls immediately head for the slides.

Joel's hockey team had been playing well all season, and this was their chance to win the tournament. He was their best player.

He glanced around at his teammates. "Guys," he said. "Let's skate really hard and show them how great we are!"

The team cheered and started to walk out to the ice. Joel turned around to grab his helmet, but it wasn't there. He looked under the benches and in the lockers, but his helmet wasn't anywhere. He sat down and felt his throat get tight. If he didn't have a helmet, he couldn't play.

Just then there was a knock on the door. Joel's mom peeked her head around the locker room door. "Thank goodness," she said. "I got here just in time with your helmet."

1. This story takes place in —

- (A) a locker room.
- (B) an ice center lobby.
- (C) a sporting goods store.
- (D) an outdoor playing field.

2. Why does Joel become upset?

- (F) He can't find his hockey helmet.
- (G) He missed his game.
- (H) His mom will miss the game.
- (J) His coach is counting on him.

3. Joel's mom resolves the conflict by —

- (A) taking him out for pizza.
- (B) finding his hockey stick.
- (C) playing for him.
- (D) bringing him his helmet.

Brian went zooming to the park to meet his buddies for an afternoon of hoops. It would have been a perfect day, but he had to drag his little brother Pete along.

"Wait for me, Brian," whined Pete.

Brian walked Pete over to a nearby tree, handed him his lunch, and said, "Sit here and eat. Don't move until I come back and get you." Brian ran off to meet his buddies.

As Pete began eating, he heard the pitter-patter of rain falling around him. When Pete saw lightning, he ran for shelter. Suddenly a loud crack of lightning sounded. Looking behind him, Pete saw the top of the tree come crashing down right where he had been sitting. Brian saw it too, from the other side of the park.

"Pete!" Brian screamed as he ran. At the moment the lightning struck, Brian thought, "Pete's not the drag I always thought he was."

1. What is the main conflict in this story?

- (A) Brian has to drag his brother along to the park.
- (B) There is a lightning storm.
- (C) The tree crashes down.
- (D) Brian thinks Pete is hurt.

2. What is Brian going to the park to play?

- (F) baseball
- (G) tennis
- (H) basketball
- (J) soccer

3. Why does Brian realize that Pete is not such a drag?

- (A) They have fun together.
- (B) He didn't have to save him.
- (C) Pete turns out to be a great runner.
- (D) He realizes that he had been taking his little brother for granted.

The Un-Birthday

In my family, we don't celebrate birthdays—at least not like most families. My friends say I have an "un-birthday."

The tradition started with my grandmother. She and grandfather grew up in Poland. They escaped before World War II and made their way to America. When they got here, they were so grateful that they decided to share what they had with others. On their birthdays, they gave each other just one small gift. Then, they each bought a gift for someone who needed it more than they did.

As the years passed and the family grew, the tradition continued. On my last birthday, I got a backpack for school. We had a little party with cake and all of that. Then, we headed off to the Lionel School for disabled kids. Some of the children are in electric wheelchairs, and only a few can walk. I picked this school because my friend has a sister there.

When we walked in with our arms full of gifts, the kids were really excited. Even though we gave them little things—like sticker books and puzzles—all the presents were wrapped and had bows.

I gave Maggie, my friend's sister, a floppy, stuffed animal. Maggie can't talk, but she hugged her stuffed animal and looked at me, so I knew she was grateful.

I don't get as much stuff as my friends, but it's okay, even though I want a new skateboard. Seeing Maggie and the others receive their gifts was a lot better than getting a bunch of presents myself.

1. How do you think the narrator feels about this unusual family tradition?

2. How does the narrator know that Maggie liked her gift?

3. Why does the narrator call this family tradition an "un-birthday"?

4. Would the narrator agree with the saying, "It is better to give than to receive"? Explain your answer.

Kelp Forests

Both rain forests and kelp forests are important to our ecology. They keep animals safe by providing animal homes. Rain forests keep land animals safe, while kelp forests keep sea creatures safe.

Like rain forests, kelp forests are homes for many types of animals. Crab, eel, lobster, and seahorses are just a few of the sea creatures that live in sea kelp. In California alone, kelp forests are home to more than 770 animal species. A sandy ocean bottom can make a home for some creatures, but a kelp forest can make a home for thousands more. Why? The animals can live on the many kinds of kelp surfaces—rocky and leafy ones, for example.

Like a rain forest, a kelp forest has layers. You will find three main layers in a kelp forest. They are the canopy, middle, and floor layers. The canopy is at the top, and the floor is at the bottom.

You will find different sea creatures and plants at different levels. Herring and mackerel like to swim through the canopy. Sea slugs and snails feast on sea mats they find in the canopy.

Sea urchins look for food in the middle layer. Red seaweeds are often found in this layer of kelp forest as well, though they might be found at other levels.

Sea anemones, crabs, and lobsters live on the floor level. Older blue-rayed limpets feast here, too.

Like a rain forest, a kelp forest is a complex habitat for many sea creatures. It keeps them safe from predators and from people. To keep kelp forests an important part of our ecology, we must protect them from pollution and destruction.

1. How many paragraphs are in this passage?

- (A) 4
- (B) 5
- (C) 6
- (D) 7

2. Which sentence below describes the main idea of this passage?

- (F) A kelp forest has three levels.
- (G) Like rain forests, kelp forests help our ecology by providing homes for many animals.
- (H) Many sea creatures live in kelp forests and rain forests.
- (J) Kelp forests are like rain forests.

3. Which sentence is the topic sentence for paragraph 3?

- (A) sentence 1
- (B) sentence 2
- (C) sentence 3
- (D) sentence 4

4. Which sentence is the concluding sentence for the passage?

- (F) A kelp forest has layers.
- (G) To keep kelp forests an important part of our ecology, we must protect them from pollution and destruction.
- (H) Sea urchins look for food in the middle layer.
- (J) They are the canopy, middle, and floor layers.
