Celebrate the arrival of spring, love, new life, and new beginnings with us at Holi, the Hindu festival of color. It's a time for fun, food, dancing, drumming, and most of all -- throwing massive amounts of colored powder on each other in gloriously messy playfight. Participants traditionally wear all white so that the colors are more visible but anything goes as long as you're dressed for mess. We'll also have arts & crafts, henna art for your hands, live dance and music performances, and of course, tons of food. Questions - please contact Samantha Edussuriya.
