

Summer Reading—Honors Senior Creative Writing

For rising 12th grade Honors British Literature through the Lens of Creative Writing, students will need Bird by Bird: Some Instructions on Writing and Life by Anne Lamott.

Students will need to read and annotate the following sections of Bird by Bird in preparation for Socratic seminar in the beginning of the semester.

- Introduction
- All chapters in Part One: Writing

Please note that annotations mean that you are engaging with the text. Appropriate annotations include side notes, definitions, questions, and other written notes in the margins. Annotations are NOT simply highlighting a lot.

Students will be evaluated on both the written annotations as well as the contributions to the Socratic seminar discussion.

I look forward to meeting you all in August and happy reading

Disclaimer: There is some mild language used within the text, especially in regard to discussion around first drafts. If needed, feel free to ignore the expletive and replace with another milder term in your mind.*
