A Message from the Acting Superintendent

Greetings!

Today is the end of National School Counseling Week, during which we thank the counselors at all 19 of our schools for their tireless work. I am grateful for these mental health professionals, who not only strive to provide safe, positive, and trusting relationships with our students, but extend their support to parents and families as well. Our counselors' contributions are essential to our success!

Tomorrow, February 10, 2024, marks Lunar New Year, the Year of the Dragon! I would like to wish a very Happy New Year to all who celebrate. Celebrations of the Year of the Dragon began today in some of our schools, including Stockton and Sharp Elementary Schools. We are very fortunate to have parent volunteers to help facilitate these events and displays to broaden our students' understanding of the holiday, celebrated by many Asian countries. Check the District Facebook, X (formerly Twitter) and Instagram feeds for more coverage of Lunar New Year in our schools!

I would like to thank our community members who have taken part in our Communication Survey. If you haven't yet filled it out, there is still time – and it takes only about 10 minutes. The survey closing date has been extended to February 17. All staff, parents and community members are encouraged to participate in the survey to help us better communicate with you!

As a friendly reminder, next week, the week of February 10, is a full week of school. February 16 is now the makeup day for our snow day on January 19.

Enjoy the warmer weather this weekend!

Dr. Kwame Morton
