A weekly update from the Cherry Hill Public Schools

A Message from the Acting Superintendent

Happy February!

It's an exciting time in our schools, as we kick off Black History Month! I had the pleasure of stopping into the Cultural Proficiency, Equity and Character Education Committee (C-PEaCE) meeting on Tuesday. Our principals, instructional coaches and teacher leaders collaborated at the meeting to enhance their background knowledge of Black history. They will share that knowledge in the classroom lessons and activities across the District devoted to Black History Month. Watch our Facebook, X (formerly Twitter) and Instagram feeds for examples of these lessons and activities throughout the month!

I would also like to add that the Cherry Hill African American Civic Association and the Cherry Hill Public Library have extended the deadline for entries in the 2024 Reverend Ivan George Essay/Poster/Video Contest for Black History Month. The contest is open to ALL public school students in Cherry Hill in grades K through 12. The theme for this year is "Their Stories Matter: African Americans in our Schools and Community." The entry deadline has been extended to February 6, 2024. Full information on the contest is available online.

This past Monday, we launched our Communication Survey. In case you missed the email and the website and social media posts – or if you just haven't had the chance to fill it out yet – I am reiterating the invitation to all staff, parents, and community members to take the survey to help us better communicate with you! We value your opinions and look forward to the results of the Communication Audit in the spring. We will be using the results to guide us as we work to improve the ways we inform and listen to the school community and the Cherry Hill community at large, thereby improving everyone's educational experience. The survey will close on February 12.

I wish you all a great weekend!

Dr. Kwame Morton

Acting Superintendent, Cherry Hill Public Schools
