Tea and Cake

Grade 8

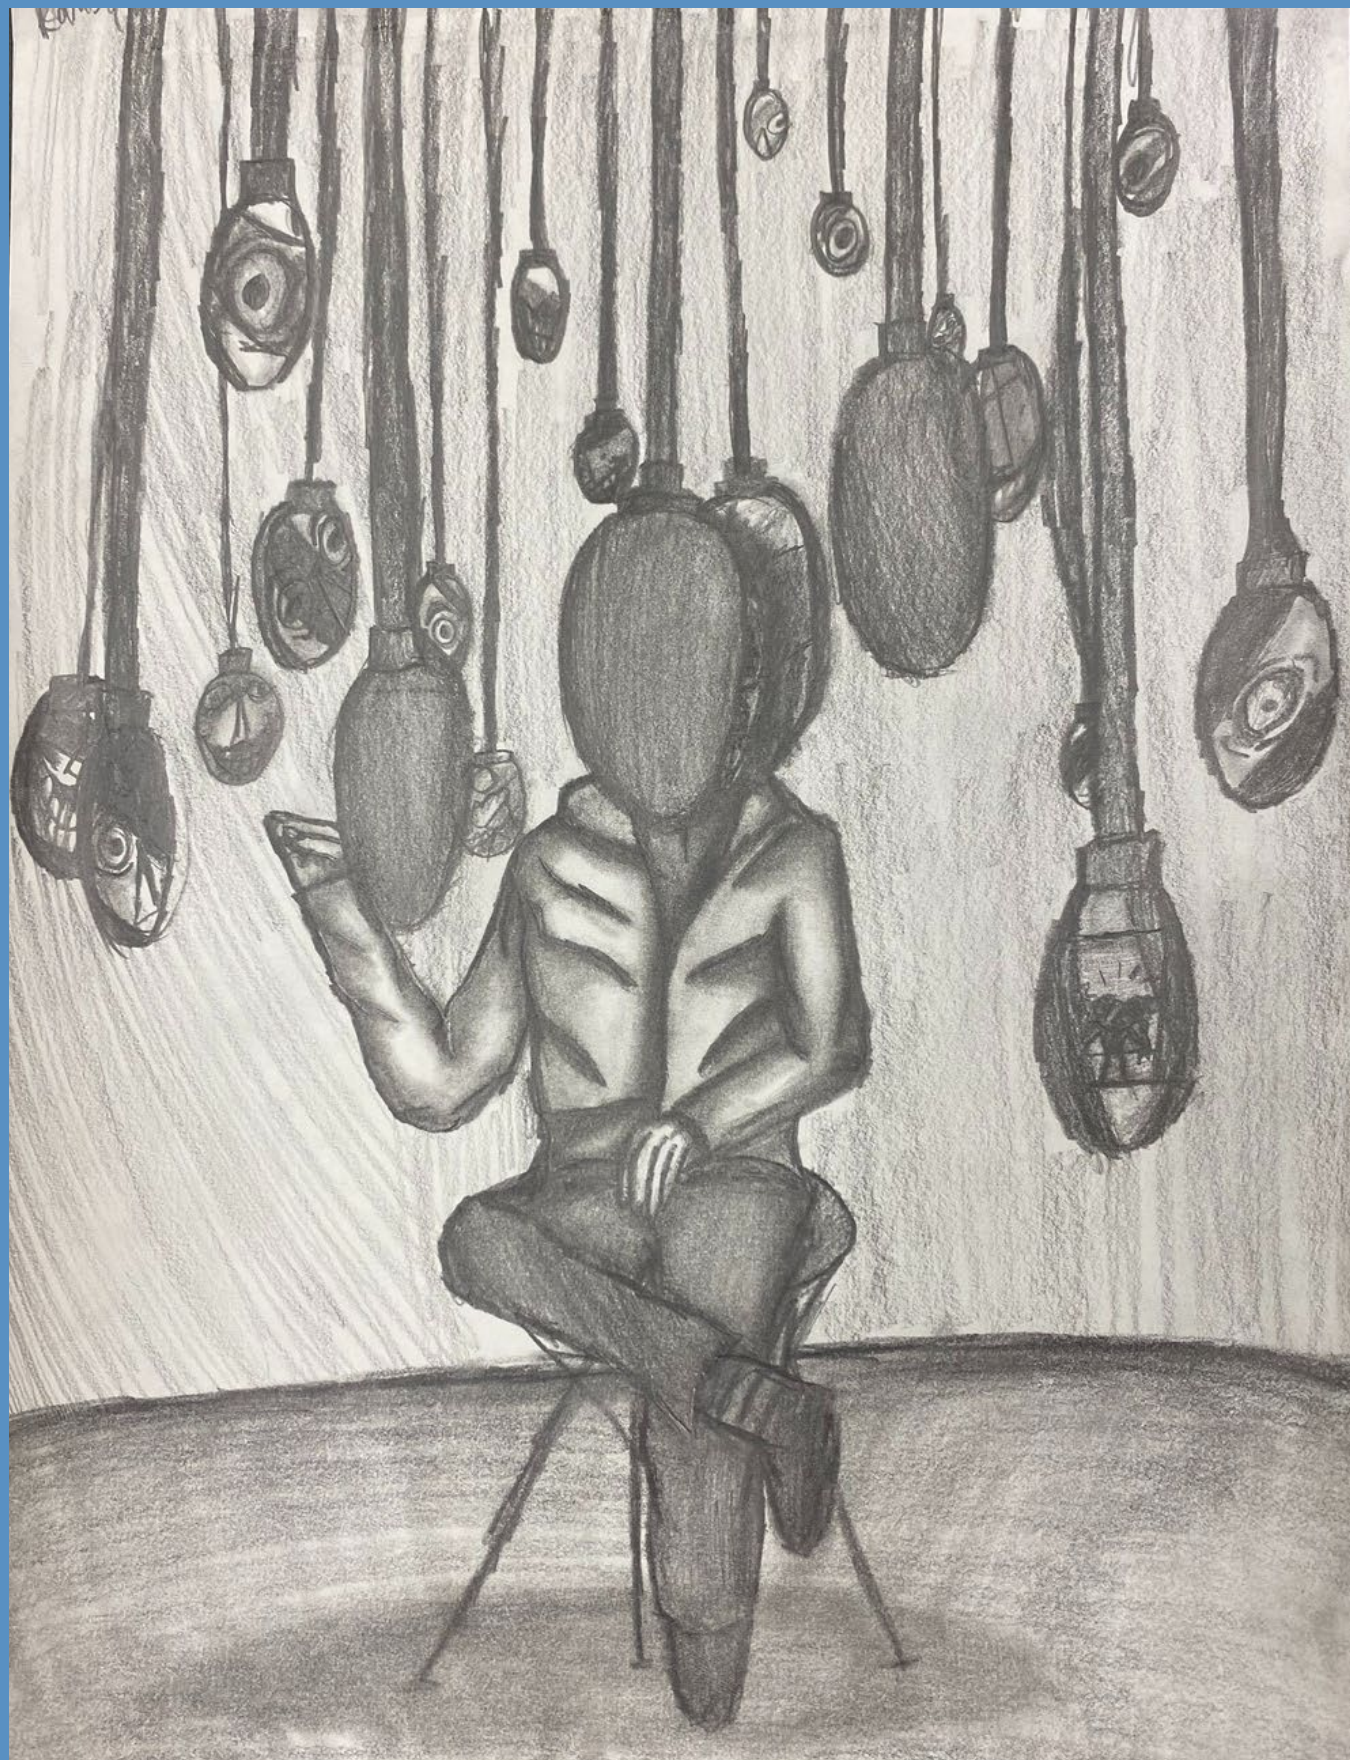

Brier Terrace Middle

I started by sketching it in pencil and then I started layering watercolors on top. I really enjoyed painting it because I love playing with colors. At first, I was worried it wouldn't turn out well, but it was a 'trust the process' moment. There wasn't a particular message in mind, but now that I think about it, food is so important to life. Although cakes aren't necessary, they are often bought to celebrate. Cakes are beautiful and sweet just like life, while tea can be bitter. Wow, so inspirational right?

I enjoy making my art because it's relaxing. My artwork is from my imagination. All I need is a pencil and a piece of paper to create my art. It's my favorite activity. I hope I can do it as my job when I grow up.

The name 'Hidden Message' is not about the bottle with a message in it but instead there is an actual hidden message. Hint: it's in the sand and contains a famous person's name.

This artwork is inspired by a music video from a song I like. There's a scene of the sky that I thought looked really pretty. The song is sung by a group, so I drew one member's eyes with the reflection of the sky in them.

I really enjoy making realistic works, and this piece was no exception. I wanted to find a subject that would allow me to use grey-toned paper to its fullest potential. I settled on a metallic object, since I would be able to make the shiny parts pop. I'm happy with the way I was able to capture the details of the gravy boat.
