

SUMMER 2023

Eastchester Eagle

THE NEWSLETTER OF THE EASTCHESTER UNION FREE SCHOOL DISTRICT

Members of the Eastchester High School Class of 2023 toss their caps in the air to celebrate their graduation on June 23, 2023.

On Friday, June 23, Eastchester High School seniors strode across the stage to collect their diplomas, marking the end of a rich chapter in their lives, one that saw them bravely face challenges and emerge as a close-knit, confident group that took advantage of every opportunity—both in and out of the classroom—that Eastchester had to offer.

Adaptability and courage were the central themes of the evening, notably highlighted in a stirring speech by Valedictorian Zhuoyi Zou. Recounting his own personal growth over the last four years, Zou urged his classmates to approach the future with the same open minds that served them well as Eagles.

“Picture yourself as a piece of clay. If you let it settle into a mold and harden up, you’ll struggle to adapt when circumstances change,” said Zou. “But if you keep that clay pliable and open, you can embrace changes to become a new, more interesting version of yourself.”

Salutatorian Theodore Jeliazkov charged the Class of 2023 to continually find ways to grow, noting that, as young adults about to enter the world, it is incumbent on each individual to find their own place and that life is about expanding one’s horizons.

Letter from the Superintendent

Dear Eastchester Schools Community,

On graduation night I told our departing seniors as we gathered together, one last time, we must celebrate the moment. It was the moment they had done good, now ready to move on to the worlds of college and career. It was the moment they would step beyond Eastchester into the exciting world of new challenges, fresh opportunities. It was the moment to write new chapters of their lives. I urged them to write their own book of life...and to make that book a classic.

That proud moment with our seniors must drive all we do, each day, for the new school year. Next year’s graduates and all who follow await, from us, the best possible education we can and must provide.

Future graduates deserve safe schools. We will support one School Resource Officer on every campus next year. We will extend the hours of our security guards at every elementary school until 6 p.m. and provide security at our secondary campus until 10 p.m.. As long as our children and staff are at work or play in our schools, we will do all we can to keep them safe.

Future graduates deserve more rigorous courses, more challenging academic opportunities. From Foreign Language Spanish beginning at Waverly, to expanded global languages in Grade 6, to study skills and Algebra Regents for more students at the Middle School. From a richer WIN period in our elementaries that provides a rigorous reading and math scope and sequence for students not receiving AIS or special services, to offering Advanced Placement course options to more high school students, our future graduates deserve more.

Our future graduates deserve and need a strengthened counseling college and career program that maximizes their future pathways.

It was a good first year. We will make next school year even better!

Enjoy your summer!

Ronald D. Valenti, Ph.D.,
Superintendent of Schools

“We’re entering a time in our lives that will be filled with new experiences and self discovery,” said Jeliaskov. “I think it’s important to say ‘yes’ to all of them.”

Students and administrators acknowledged that although growth and change may be intimidating, greatness is truly achieved through confronting one’s fears and refusing to settle. EHS Principal Dr. Jeff Capuano cautioned students that, while they will undoubtedly face challenges in their personal, academic, and professional lives, it is how one responds to those challenges that defines a life.

“When we are afraid of failure, we will never reach our full potential,” said Dr. Capuano. Be all in, give your all, risk failure...You’ve got this, and you’ve proven that over and over again.”

Superintendent Dr. Ronald Valenti imparted some final advice about the value of persistence when it comes to leaving a mark on the wider world.

“Get yourself into the game. Be a player. Let them know you’re there,” he said. “Let them see your fingerprints and your footprints in all that you do. Believe yourself that you should be inside that room, and that what you say, they ought to listen to.”

Eastchester Middle School Awards

Congratulations to the Eastchester Middle School Class of 2023!

On June 22, Eastchester eighth graders celebrated their transition to high school with a “Moving Up” ceremony focusing on the many lessons they have learned throughout their three years at Eastchester Middle School.

Entering middle school in 2020—just as the world began to reopen after the Covid-19 pandemic—the soon-to-be high schoolers faced several challenges. Faculty member Tom Puccini, who spoke at last Thursday’s ceremony, said that those obstacles ultimately may have served to strengthen the bonds between the students and promote values that will serve them throughout their lifetimes.

“While our learning spaces were often different, our commitment to learning never wavered,” said Puccini. We adapted, we overcame, and we grew; not just in academics, but in resilience, empathy and understanding.”

Eighth grader Damian Pisano echoed Puccini’s sentiments and added that the journey he and his classmates took over the last three years has been an enlightening one.

“My classmates have taught me many things, such as how to collaborate with others, how to make friends and how to respond to failure. We have been through so much together . . . but we have rebounded and also had many amazing learning opportunities together.”

Daniel Bellach, another student speaker at the ceremony, said that the triumphs of the eighth-grade class were owed, in no small part, to the efforts of faculty, staff, administrators and family members who provided the youngsters with the help they needed to face each challenge.

“We did not give up, we stuck with it, and with the love, help and encouragement of our families, we adapted; we grew because we had the tireless support of our Eastchester Middle School teachers who showed us every single day strength, grace and resilience,” said Bellach. “They showed us, through their actions, that we got this.”

Anne Hutchinson Fifth Graders have “High Hopes” for Middle School

On June 21, Anne Hutchinson fifth graders bid farewell to their time in elementary school, as they celebrated their “Moving Up” ceremony in the Eastchester High School auditorium.

Centered on the theme of “High Hopes,” the event featured both faculty and students expressing how transformative the last four years have been and how the lessons imparted to this group of fifth graders should serve as the foundation for continued personal and academic growth.

Anne Hutchinson Principal Dr. Annette Keane said she was struck by how much growth her fifth graders have shown, not only academically, but also in terms of Social-Emotional Learning.

“I am so proud of this fifth-grade class,” said Dr. Keane. “Over the years, they have grown to truly embody the ‘Anne Hutch has HEART’ program; helping others, engaging in learning, acting responsibly, respecting people and property and taking safety seriously.”

Five students—David Lee, Ellianna Baez, Marjorie Murphy, Louis Panico, Reed Sipzener and Katherine White took the stage to speak about their time at Anne Hutch, with each providing some insight into the last four years.

Lee, who spent time growing up in South Korea, admitted he was nervous about coming to America, but had his fears assuaged when he became a part of the Anne Hutch community. It was a community that immediately made him feel welcome, he said.

“Now at Anne Hutch, I can trust [my friends], laugh with them, feel happy and truthful and be myself,” said Lee. “My friends, thank you for always making me feel joyous and happy.”

Baez added that as this tight-knit group looks ahead to the next part of their academic journey, they will be able to call upon the numerous lessons they learned at Anne Hutch to continue their growth.

“Anne Hutch has helped me so much on my way to the middle school,” she said. “And I am confident I will be prepared for whatever comes next.”

Greenvale Fifth Graders “Move Up” to Middle School

On June 20, Greenvale fifth graders took the stage in the Eastchester High School auditorium for their “Moving Up” ceremony, reflecting on their last four years and looking ahead to the future.

Students Owen Feng and Philip DiCioccio spoke about their fondest memories at Greenvale, from fun events and friendships made, to valuable academic work—including projects that introduced the youngsters to skills they will need as they enter middle school.

“I learned the importance of organizing and keeping track of my tasks,” said Feng. “Not only physical objects, but also with my thoughts and my mind.”

Feng and DeCioccio both said that although their time at Greenvale may be over, the school—and its faculty, staff and administrators—have left an indelible mark on the student body.

“We have grown together, worked together, overcome many challenges, and formed friendships that will last a lifetime,” said Feng.

“As we embark on new adventures at the middle school, we will always carry the memories and the friendships that we made here at Greenvale,” added DiCioccio.

Before dismissing her fifth graders for the final time, Greenvale Principal Joanna Napolitano urged the students to shoot for the stars, even while appreciating the present.

“Boys and girls, it has been an absolute pleasure to watch you all grow and to share in your experiences,” said Napolitano. “Greenvale Class of 2023, I’m so excited what the future has in store for you, but right now, enjoy this moment.”

Waverly Class of 2023

Waverly First Graders Spread Their Wings and Soar

On June 14-15, Waverly first graders held “Moving Up” events to celebrate their time at the K-1 school and the adventures that lie ahead as they prepare to attend Greenvale and Anne Hutchinson next year.

Proudly singing songs that reflected the experiences of their two years at Waverly during a Wednesday concert, the youngsters also enjoyed a Moving Up picnic the following day that included food, games, face painting and music.

Prior to the concert, Interim Waverly Principal Dr. Harry Laub praised the students for their growth and offered some words of encouragement, using the wisdom of SpongeBob SquarePants to inspire the youngsters as they head to either Anne Hutchinson or Greenvale next fall.

“SpongeBob said ‘If you believe in yourself, with a tiny pinch of magic, all of your dreams can come true,’” Laub told the students. “You are ready for the second grade, each one of you here is; no matter which school you go to, the teachers are wonderful and caring, and they will help you continue to grow and learn.”

Eagle Athletes Eager to Fly in 2023-2024

It was certainly a banner year for Eastchester Athletics—both on the field and off.

And while there was certainly no shortage of impressive accomplishments—including another All-State finish for golfer Kevin Wang, a state swimming title for the girls’ 200 Freestyle Relay crew and the crowning of the first-ever Section 1 champion flag football team this past spring—one could argue that the biggest strides made by Eastchester athletes happened behind the scenes.

This year, Eastchester coaches and student-athletes got an introduction to the nationally-recognized InSideOut Initiative this year, participating in workshops that helped youngsters and mentors alike better define—and develop—leadership skills through participation in athletics. Athletic Director Brad Gitlin said more InSideOut training has been scheduled for the 2023-2024 school year in an effort to strengthen the core beliefs and values of Eastchester Athletics.

“That training we did this past year really set the stage for what we are going to be doing with our training this coming school year,” said Gitlin. “And now it comes down to building a strategic plan that involves all of our stakeholders and more clearly defines what we want our student-athletes to get out of their experience here.”

Pleased with the initial steps taken on that front—and inspired by the work of students who have already leapt at taking leadership roles, both on sports teams and as a part of Eastchester’s Athletic Council—Gitlin believes that the athletic program can continue to grow as a visible, positive symbol of the Eastchester community at large.

“Athletics is the front porch of a school district, so when we’re doing things that are visible, meaningful and impactful in a positive way, it can be felt throughout the school community,” he said. “It doesn’t just affect the culture of an athletic program, it affects the culture of connectedness and the pride within the school district.”
