What's in This Issue?

700 Donations Received for Students!

Our community never ceases to amaze us! You may have noticed donation collection bins around Aŋpétu Téča Education Center this September. Roseville Community Education led a supply drive to collect personal care products for students in our district, in order to help them maintain their health and hygiene.

Together, you donated 127 toothbrushes, 83 containers of floss, and over 700 items in total. Donations ranged from deodorant to shampoo to lip balm and more. THANK YOU for helping us fulfill student needs!

Meet Laurie, Our Meals on Wheels Program Specialist!

Laurie Erickson has joined our Meals on Wheels team, and we're so excited to have her on board! You might run into Laurie here at Aŋpétu Téča Education Center if you volunteer as a meal packer or driver, or you might speak to her over the phone if you are a current client. Give her a warm welcome! Here's a message from Laurie herself:

"Hi, my name is Laurie Erickson. I live in St. Paul, and I grew up in Minnesota.

I have three children and four grandchildren (all boys!). I enjoy gardening, biking, puzzling, and fiber arts, and my newest hobby is creating stained glass projects. I have a master's degree in social science and education. I have just retired after owning a small school in Como Park. After years in education and working with children and families, I wanted to continue in service to the community. I feel that working with the Meals on Wheels program will fit that goal. I look forward to working with the staff and volunteers who make the program the success that it is!" -Laurie

Kris' Corner

Our weather is still in the 80's, but I am already working on Meals on Wheels menus for November, December, January, and February. It's hard planning for cold winter months when the weather is still so nice. Now I'm wondering what the weather will be like this winter. The Farmer's Almanac prediction for 2024-25 is that Minnesota will see a cold winter but with average snowfall. The last week of January into the beginning of February will be the coldest portion of our winter. During this same time, we could see intense bursts of snow. They predict our first heavy snowfall will come November 8th-11th. The Farmers' Almanac uses a variety of factors to make predictions, including sunspot activity, tidal action, the position of the planets, winds in the stratosphere over the equator, and the motion of the moon. The Farmers' Almanac claims to be 80% accurate but other studies show it is closer to 50% accurate. According to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), Minnesota is headed into a La Nina phase which tends to mean colder than normal and snowier than normal conditions for Minnesota. NOAA's forecasts are based on scientific data, years of research, and months of pattern analysis. For 10-day or longer forecasts, NOAA is only about half accurate.

With only a 50% accuracy rating for both groups, I'm wondering if I can do any better. Having grown up in Minnesota, my winter prediction for 2024-25 is:

November and December will see mild temperatures, but we can expect 2 or 3 sizable snowfalls during this time. Temperatures will start to drop towards the end of December, and we will see a sizable snow fall just before our coldest temperatures start in the 3rd week of January. Temperatures will rise back to the normal average starting in February and we will see 2 sizable snowfalls. March will bring our only blizzard of the season, and we will start to see our snow melting by the last week in March.

I will be watching to see how my predictions hold up, what are your predictions? Stay safe as we move into this cold and snowy season.

What's With the New Look?

You may have noticed that this Seasons newsletter edition looks slightly different from previous editions.

Why the changes? We want this newsletter to be as clear, helpful, and easy to read as possible! With the help of your feedback, we have made these updates in order to make it easier to find what you're looking for and enjoy the articles:

- We increased the size and spacing of the words.
- We made bigger and bolder page titles.
- We highlighted all page numbers with a blue bar.
- We updated the format of pages 1 and 2 for clarity.

If you have any questions or feedback on our Seasons layout, please email Megan, our Marketing Manager, at megan.webb@isd623.org.

Bigger, bolder page titles

Each page number is highlighted in a blue bar that goes across the full page

Thank you!

Why You Can't Always Trust Your Trust

Do you know what the most oversold and misunderstood legal product on the market is today? The answer is a Revocable or Living Trust. Most people believe that their trust shields the assets from the nursing home and creditors. In Minnesota, Revocable Trusts are subject to the nursing home and creditors. If you can change the Trust, the nursing home and creditors can access the money in the Trust. In this class, you will learn about the pros and cons of a Revocable Trust and if it is a fit for you. You will also learn about other options. Thursday • Dec 12 • 6:30-8pm • $29 • ATEC Class ID # 1500 • Instructor. Steve Ledin

Roseville Area Schools News

Kindergarteners Go On Scavenger Hunt

The search was on at Parkview Center School this fall! As part of an annual tradition, all PCS kindergarten students went on the lookout for Pete the Cat, the fictional star of a children's book series by artist James Dean. Even older students and staff joined the fun!

As kindergarten teacher Melissa Schindeldecker says, "We love the idea of our kindergarteners coming to school wondering what exciting and magical thing is going to happen each day throughout the year... The search for Pete the Cat connects the students to each other in a fun task and starts building our classroom community."
