Principal Update

Dear Families,

At Terra Nova, we stress the importance of students arriving at school and class on time every day, every period. Arriving to class late means missed instruction, valuable class time and is distracting to other students. Our first class of the day starts at 8:30. Students should be at school with enough time to travel to their classroom without being late. Arriving late to class and school means missed instruction, valuable class time and is distracting to other students

Students have a six minute passing period between classes and after brunch/lunch. This is plenty of time for students to visit their locker, the restroom and travel across campus. Our bells ring throughout the passing period to signal to students when/where they should be en route to their next class. In addition, staff members are stationed around campus to monitor traffic and keep the flow moving.

I recognize that life can get hectic which can complicate our efforts to get our students to school on time. If your student has accumulated 1st period tardies, I ask that you reflect on their morning routine and reach out so we can work together to eliminate barriers to timely and regular school attendance. Not only do we want to finish this semester strong, we want to set up all of our students for success.

Thank you for your continued support,

Megan Carey
Principal
