

Rogue River School District Achieves 100% CPR, First Aid, and AED Training for Staff

In a dramatic step forward for student and staff safety and wellness, the Rogue River School District (RRSD) in Rogue River, Oregon, has proudly announced that 100% of its regular staff are trained in CPR, First Aid, and AED usage. This accomplishment sets a commendable standard in the realm of school safety and underscores the district's commitment to protecting its students and staff.

A Commitment to Safety

The decision to ensure that every staff member is certified in CPR, First Aid, and AED usage stems from a proactive approach to health and safety within the school environment. In an era where emergencies can arise unexpectedly, having trained personnel ready to respond can make a significant difference in critical situations. The RRSD's initiative reflects a deep understanding of the importance of preparedness and the vital role that staff play in safeguarding student well-being.

A Collaborative Effort

This significant milestone was made possible through the collaborative efforts of the RRSD School Board of Directors, the district's Superintendent, the Human Resources Assistant, RRSD staff and staff leadership. Their shared commitment to fostering a culture of safety and support has been instrumental in implementing this training initiative.

The School Board of Directors played a key role in prioritizing health and safety as a fundamental aspect of the district's mission. Their strategic planning and allocation of resources ensured that CPR, First Aid, and AED training became integral parts of staff development.

Special recognition should be given to the RRSD HR Assistant Pam Weaver who tracked and monitored all certifications and coordinated the logistics of the training sessions, ensuring that every staff member had the opportunity to receive certification.

A Unique Example for Other Districts

ORS 581-022-2220 requires that schools in Oregon have at least one staff member with a current first aid/CPR/AED card for every 60 students enrolled. For Rogue River Schools, this would equate to roughly 10% of our staff. With vision from our school board and the cooperation and support of administration and staff, the Rogue River School District worked towards the goal of having 100% of staff trained.

"We believe this to be a unique achievement within the greater school communities in Oregon, and one for which all members of the Rogue River School District and community should be extremely proud," said superintendent Patrick Lee

Conclusion

The Rogue River School District's commitment to having 100% of its staff trained in CPR, First Aid, and AED usage is a noteworthy achievement that underscores the importance of preparedness in schools. This initiative has set a high standard for safety in education. As the district continues to prioritize the health and well-being of its students, it serves as a shining example of what can be achieved through teamwork and dedication.
