“Jack’s Black Book” by Jack Gantos

Reviewed by Lawaia Pascua

Summary:

“Jack’s Black Book” is a funny and exciting book written by Jack Gantos. Jack is a 6th grader who loves to write and tell stories, but he often gets in trouble. He writes about his wild adventures, weird friends, and crazy family. From exploding rockets to disastrous camping trips, Jack shares his hilarious and sometimes embarrassing experiences. Through his diary, Jack learns valuable lessons about friendship, family, and being true to himself.

Favorite Quote: “A writer’s job is to make his or her worst experiences into money.”

Favorite Parts:

- When an old lady fought Pete and Jack
- When Jack failed his IQ test
- And, when Jack got stung by a wasp
