Report Card ADVICE for Parents

Empower your child to bring home a report card that will make everyone proud.

1. Communicate early and set expectations.

Setting expectations and communicating early are crucial components of effective and successful interactions. By establishing clear parameters and sharing information promptly, individuals can foster understanding and minimize potential misunderstandings. This approach can lead to smoother processes, improved relationships, and greater overall satisfaction.

2. Praise your child for their progress.

Remember to praise your child for their achievements to boost their self-esteem and encourage success.

3. Establish a study plan together.

By working together to create a study plan, you can ensure that your child sets aside dedicated time for homework, review, and preparation for upcoming exams. This collaborative approach also allows you to understand your child's academic workload and provide the necessary support and guidance.

4. Meet with your child's teachers.

Stay in touch with your child's teacher and explore school resources like tutors and online support.

5. Keep it all in perspective.

Remember, a report card is just one measure of your child's performance at one point in time. Keep motivating and encouraging them in all areas to build their self-esteem and improve grades.

6. Get help immediately if needed.

We understand that many students are facing challenges due to the recent disruptions in school. We aim to alleviate the pressure on parents, leading to more success in school and less frustration at home.

Remember, positive support leads to success!

BIO Girls program types

Did you know...
BIO Girls offers a variety of program types in the FMWF area? Not only do program types differ, but there is a yearly, rotating curriculum so we love to see participants year after year!

Each year, BIO Girls sites welcome back repeat attendees to deepen their knowledge of our life-skills curriculum.

- COMMENTS FROM PARENTS -

Jenny D

...I recommend RRTKD to all families who are looking to engage in an activity that is enriching for the body, mind and soul.

Marilea B

We have had amazing experiences at Red River Traditional TaeKwonDo. Master Jim is phenomenal working with the students. He clearly cares about them and has high expectations. My kids developed their physical strength and their confidence.

Joseph D

This has been one of the best investments I have ever made in my kids lives.
