FOREWORD

Classmates:

Within the pages of this book, Time lies halted—a Time stretching across the tremendously significant expanse of three incomparable, unforgettable school years. We, the Staff, sincerely hope that these years of laughter and frivolity so typical of youth will always be captured in spirit within the pages of this Year Book; we hope, too, that the mere turning of these pages will bring to your hearts a fresher hope, a stronger faith!

The Last Day

Can it be? Is this really our last day at school? Is today the very last time that we shall dash down this corridor to make a fifth period class? The last time we shall have to maneuver our way through labyrinths of hungry students to buy lunchroom tickets? Can this really be the last time that we shall have to prepare recitations, keep notebooks, and do a hundred other methodically tiresome duties?

Why, yes, of course! This is the last day of school, the end of our Senior year. For most of us, today marks the termination of twelve long long years of report cards, sandwiches, erasers! Strange, that we do not feel liberated, triumphant as we thought we should. Strange, that all we feel is a choking lump in our throats, a nervous sinking sensation in our hearts. And that moisture about our eyes, could it possibly be tears?

In most cases, it is tears: tears of gratitude for our classmates, our teachers, and our Headmaster with whom we are reluctant to part, because with them we share memories as ineffaceable as the heavens. We are experiencing that sinking sensation because deep in our hearts we know that never, never again can we recapture the delightful buoyancy of youth that has been ours at Medford High School. Knowing this, we find it difficult to sever the care-free, idyllic days of the past from the uncertain ones ahead. But the break is inevitable, and we, the class of 1943, will face this world with a song in our heart—a song that sings of spring proms and swishing skirts, of perspiring athletes and adoring girls, of crowded lunchrooms and chattering classmates: a song of us, the Class of 1943.

As a War Class we had to make sacrifices. Insignificant ones really when compared to those that the boys over there were making for us over here. Because of lack of fuel to heat rehearsal rooms the timeless tradition of presenting a Senior Class Play had to be disposed of, and more than one aspiring actress had to toss her aspirations to the four winds. Sometimes we had to leave our coats on during school because of the low temperature. Ice-cream, our favorite dessert, was rationed together with sugar, coffee, shoes, and canned goods, but on Mondays and Wednesdays, some lucky individual actually got ice cream at the cafeteria. Pleasure driving was unpatriotic, so that cars for school formals could not be had for love nor money. Even private busses could not be obtained for the athletic teams which had to travel on public cars carrying pounds of equipment with them. But to us, these discomforts were mere trivialities, for we realized that this was war in all earnestness, and accordingly, we adjusted ourselves to a war tempo.

Junior Officers

We took our studies more seriously in order that we might better equip ourselves for our future role in world affairs. Many of us took on greater responsibilities. During Christmas week and the school-less month of February instead of vacationing in the movies as we used to do in earlier years, we vacationed in the Boston department stores as stock boys and sales girls, and still others enrolled in educational courses in the nearby private schools. Many took advantage of Mr. Kendall's working plan, and through the guiding genius of Mr. Manley, they acquired positions in stores and offices.

Led by Jack Newby, president of the House of Delegates, we executed one of the most successful drives for war salvage materials in the city. As an added incentive, Mr. Kendall had a huge collection bin placed on our front lawn, for all the world to see how patriotic Medford High School students could be.

Besides first aid courses given by the untiring Miss Neilson and Miss Luce, Mr. Pidgeon again organized the decontamination squad for the fighting of war gases, and several teachers gave nightly instruction in such courses as celestial navigation, aeronautics, and mathematics. Mr. Lang, physical education director, inaugurated a Victory Corps with six divisions: general, community, land sea, air, and production.

Remember Tag Day and Senior Bond Week? On those two occasions alone, we Seniors purchased over six thousand dollars of bonds and stamps. Indeed, so patriotic were we that Henry Corrado's shoelace brought forth a bid of $32.00 from Jackie Glidden and Company at our incomparable bond auction.

However, we were not concerned merely with war work and war records. Athletically, scholastically, and socially we also did excel.

Who will ever forget our immortal football team? Who will ever forget that Thanksgiving Day when the shy, unassuming Corrado went over for the all important touchdown, thereby ceding the Eastern State Championship to Medford? Can we ever forget the spine-tingling plays of Co-Captains Trainor and O'Brien, of Zucco, Romsey, McCarthy, and the speed-king Cannava? What a team! It was the tops, and it made us prouder than a new father when it breezed away with the State Championship; but none were so proud as the indefatigable Coach Pidgeon, and his able assistants, Coaches Ricker and Murphy.

Sophomore Officers

Our soccer and baseball teams, led by the versatile co-captains, Trebino and Tortorella, represented us nobly also. The soccer team captured the league lead, cup and all under the brilliant playing of such stars as Pinto, Toumayan, and Morrison.

In basketball and hockey, with Cervone and Garrity as respective captains, Medford reached even greater heights; and names like Tryder, D'Entremont, Warner, Trebino, Hale, Anderson, Zucco, and Desmond loomed brightest.

Newby and McCrystal piloted the indoor and outdoor track teams respectively to state-wide glory, and to Robinson, Hardy, Miller, Sedgeberg, and the captains gave much of the credit.

The girls also were better than average in sports. Phyllis Corbin, the most outstanding of them all, captained the softball and basketball teams with the graceful, unerring hand of the true athlete she is. Pat Blaine, Dot West, Ann Willard, Dot Bizier, Mary Reynolds, Eileen Sullivan, and Dot Twoomey composed the majority of Senior girls who participated in these sports.

Socially, we were responsible for the overwhelming financial and social success of our proms. Remember President Jimmy Clear at our hop a la tux? And Lucille Shea, our vivacious vice president, certainly was the charming hostess of the evening. Efficient Marjorie Moran and the popular Walter Kisluk, as secretary and treasurer made us justly proud; and all night long the orchestra played "My Sister and I."

The following year at our Junior Prom Arthur Castraberti stood in the receiving line as class president. Blond Marjorie Brooks, our vice president, and brunette Shirley MacMillan, our secretary, followed close by, the essence of femininity in their sweeping gowns and colorful corsages. Walter Kisluk, (we entrusted him with our money another year) kept pulling at his tight tuxedo collar, but in spite of the neck irritation, we knew he was enjoying himself. This year starry-eyed couples waltzed to the strains of "I Don't Want to Walk Without You" and "Somebody Else Is Taking My Place." Remember?

Scholastically, we led the entire school in our sophomore and junior years by placing more students on the honor roll than did the other classes. At one quarter or another, Elizabeth Maioli, Henry Hockheim, Arthur Anderson, Harold Wykes, Vesta Starrett, Phyllis Clark, Jean Taggart, and Lewellyn Blake, attained highest honors. We also had our share of intellectual geniuses. William Shea, high honor student, was seldom seen taking books home, and Robert Clark wrote several editorials which were printed in the Boston Herald. Viviane Bertolami, the concert violinist, played in numerous symphonies, and Harold Wykes, the personification of versatility, was the top-notch scholar and model airplane designer all in one. Paul McGinnis, our keen-witted, affluent orator and Senior class president, officiated at all assemblies with the poise and presence of a professional speaker. For these of our classmates, we know success is just ahead.

Yes, we the class of 1943, worked hard and played hard. With the chaotic world conditions around us, we realized more acutely that the seemingly common-place activities of high school days were to be the foundation of happiness and security on which we would later build our lives. When it came time for us to be thrust into the surging whirlpools of war-living, we knew that all we would have to cling to would be the normalcy and the contentment that we knew in high school years. Therefore, whole-heartedly, with Paul McGinnis, president; gracious Doris Farnum, vice president; popular Ruth Haselton, secretary; determined Dave Preston, treasurer; and likable Joseph Cincotta, acting treasurer, we made certain that we should extricate every existing drop of fun and laughter from our Senior year at Medford High School. And we did!

As sophisticated Seniors we delighted in directing uncertain sophomore boys to the girls' gym and vice-versa. We liked making our underclassmen feel as insignificant as we had once been made to feel. It was all part of the act of "being a senior."

Then spring drew near, and our boys—boys with whom we had laughed and danced and sung, suddenly were not boys any longer, but rather stern, serious men leaving for the man-sized job of war. Sedgberg, Conway, Romsey, Urquhart, and O'Brien answered to their country's call.

June drew near, and we Seniors had to shed every semblance of sophistication, because, yes, that's it—because we were getting sentimental. We looked long and searchingly at our classmates, for we knew that graduation would soon separate us from them, but somehow we wanted them to know how much we loved and appreciated them, but somehow the words could not come out. Homely, much-taken-for-granted objects grew sacred to us. With reverence we now shut our lockers in which we never again would toss paper-filled, uncovered books, and chewed-up pencils. It had come to this: sophisticated Seniors mooning over cold, impersonal lockers and chewed-up pencils and uncovered books.

Before we knew it, it was the last day of school—today; and today here we stand with fond memories of the side-splitting antics of Jackie Glidden and Arthur Castraberti, of the refreshing charm of Betty O'Neill, of the quiet intelligence of Elso Del Vecchio, of the boundless energy of Mary Cronin, of the contagious laughs of Claire Morrissey and Abbott Cofran. Other classes may have their share of Alongis, Richenbachers, Kisluks, and Trainors; they may even have their share of Bradleys, Guerentes, Coneys, and Furs. But somehow, our class will always have that superiority of spirit which made war-living bearable.

And now, our Senior year is over. The time has come for us to leave forever these halls of learning, brimming over with the youthful music of school-day joys. Today, we must stand with one hand closing the door on a sheltered, happy past and with the other, opening the door on a troubled future. But we are not afraid, because we are the Class of 1943, the class whose fighting American spirit is to be found everywhere in this world.

CLASS DAY

Last year, favored juniors from our class figured prominently in Class Day and Graduation exercises. In contrast to preceding years, the trend was patriotic, both in gowns and decorations.

Radiant in white dimity, with red, white, and blue corsages, our Marshals ushered in the seniors at their gala reception. Each Marshal carried an individual National Flag during the grand march, discarding it later in order to dance.

On Class Day, after parading into Forest Street bearing a huge American Flag, they assumed positions at the front door to form a background of red, white, and blue.

Still another event remained—Graduation. Here they formed a colorful array on the stairs in Cousen's Gymnasium, while proud seniors swept by to their seats.

Under the able management of Miss K. L. Baker and Miss I. M. Hall, with the help of Miss P. V. Rice, the junior marshals were a worthy representation of our class.

SENIOR PROM

Amidst swirling skirts and jet-black tuxes, the Class of '43 danced at its Senior Prom. Eddie Hogan's Orchestra thrilled us that evening with the sweet strains of "Moonlight Mood" and "As Time Goes By." Time did go by that evening of April 2, 1943; it went by so swiftly that before we knew it, we were on our way home with vivid flashes of the well-known teachers in the receiving line, of our blond class president, Paul McGinnis, so straight and tall, greeting hundreds of guests. Vice president Doris Farnum, Secretary Ruth Haselton, and Treasurers Joseph Cincotta and David Preston with their escorts made a most unforgettable picture leading the grand march under the guiding hands of Miss Baker and Mr. Pidgeon. The Senior Prom of 1943, although not so lavish as previous proms because of the scarcity of decorative materials, was for us an evening to remember and cherish.

ATHLETICS

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

This organization whose membership encompasses 189 girls had, perhaps, its most successful season this year. Under the energetic leadership of its leaders, the G. A. A. presented many varied programs, among which were a tea and fashion show for mothers and daughters; a roller skating party; an "Aviation Day" meeting for the student body; a musicale morning meeting with guest student singers; a WAAC lecture; and a yearly banquet which, for patriotic reasons, took place at the school. The advisers of this organization were Miss Neilson and Miss Luce.

The officers were President, Phyllis Corbin; Social Committee Chairman, Marie Silvestro; Vice President, Joan Fergus; Secretary, Charlotte Davis; Treasurer, Harriet Corbin.

Watertown 0

There were five thousand fans cheering the outbreak of the spectacular undefeated season. The Watertown team, Class B, played to fill the schedule for the opening game. Cannava made the first touchdown from the opponent's twenty-third yard line. Corleto, one of our best linemen, was injured in the second quarter. Corrado made six more points in the third, and Morehouse scored the final touchdown. Our rivals sustained injuries throughout the entire game. This outset was a forerunner of the successes of the season.

Medford 19

Leominster 0

Medford was chosen the underdog of this contest. Behind the brilliant playing of Hank Corrado and Co-Captain O'Brien, however, the Mustangs soon held the upper hand. Hank threw two touchdown passes, one to Charlie

Ramsey and the other to Dave Aznavoorian. He then hammered his way across the goal line for one more touchdown. Co-Captain O'Brien was outstanding although all of the linemen did spectacular work. Paul intercepted no less than three of the visitor's passes, putting a stop to Leominster's passing attack. Joe Granelli did a grand job at calling signals while he was for substituting Co-Captain Bill Trainor who was on the side lines because of an injury. The substitutes did an exceptionally good job.

Brockton 7

After Brockton scored a first period touchdown, the Mustangs exploded. The score little demonstrated the superiority of the Medford team. In the first quarter a series of passes rang up Medford's first touchdown; the try for the extra point missed. Just before the quarter ended, sensational runs by Cannava and Corrado set up another score, which was made on a 30-yard pass from Corrado to Cannava. Again the try for the extra point missed. In the second quarter Brockton drove to the Mustangs' 2-yard line, but the visitors were pushed back to the 9-yard line where Medford took over. An exchange of punts put Brockton behind its own goal line. A Brockton punt was blocked, and Medford scored on the safety. The final score came on the combined efforts of Al Cannava and Henry Corrado. Corrado booted the extra point. This victory proved Medford's right to the foremost rank in school-boy football circles.

Somerville 0

Over twelve thousand fans watched Medford's formidable Mustangs keep the famous jinx alive by crushing an outmanned Somerville eleven 32—0. The Mustangs in registering their fourth consecutive victory scored in every period to ring up the largest score of the season. Al Cannava started the scoring in the initial period by sprinting twenty yards on a reverse, while Co-Captain Bill Trainor scored on a 3-yard plunge in the second period. In the third period the Blue and White tallied twice; first, when Jim Sullivan grabbed a deflected pass and ran some 20-odd yards for the tally, and again when Al Cannava behind devastating blocking, galloped 75 yards for the fourth touchdown. In the fourth period with the second team operating, Jim Sherwood ended the scoring by speeding around right end for 30 yards and 6 more points. Cannava and Gatti each added an extra point to make the total 32. Once again the entire Medford team and Al Cannava, in particular, were outstanding.

October 17, 1942

Chelsea 0

From the sound of the opening whistle until the game ending whistle, Medford outplayed a very weak Chelsea eleven. The forward line of the Mustangs, which was very strong throughout the game, was breaking up all the plays of the "Red Devils." The first score of the game came when Chelsea, unable to penetrate Medford's mighty line, tried for a field goal. Al Cannava, the set back of the Mustangs caught the ball and raced 102 yards in and out of the Chelsea team for a touchdown. The score remained 7—0 up to the half, but when Cannava returned the opening kickoff of the second half 85 yards for another touchdown, it sent the score to 14—0. The last score of the game came when Coach Pidgeon inserted the second team. Jim Sherwood, a promising back scored the last touchdown on a short sprint.

October 24, 1942

Everett 0

Al Cannava, who had run wild in previous games, continued his great running by taking the opening kickoff back 85 yards for a touchdown. Two other touchdowns came in the last three minutes of play. One came when Corrado crashed over from the 4-yard line, after Cannava had set up the score by a 45-yard sprint. The final score came on Morehouse's flashy return of an Everett punt. By this 20—0 triumph, Medford took an undisputed hold on first place in Class A.

October 31, 1942

Medford 25

Mt. Pleasant 0

On October 31, the Mustangs continued to gallop on their undefeated path by flattening the Mt. Pleasant eleven from Rhode Island, 25—0. Henry Corrado, Al Cannava, and Joe Gatti each scored to carry the team to victory. Ends Jim Sullivan and Charlie Romsey were in there snatching passes for the first two scores. Sullivan played, despite a slight touch of the grippe.

In the first quarter, Romsey caught a Corrado pass, thrown from the Mt. Pleasant 26-yard line, and romped to the 1-yard line. Corrado accounted for the touchdown and then passed for the extra point. Failing to gain ground by passing in the second period, Corrado smashed through for a second score. Cannava galloped 33 yards to score again in period three. Joe Gatti, a sophomore, intercepted a Mt. Pleasant aerial on his own 34-yard line to run for a fourth period score to make the final score 25-0. As in previous games, the boys played clean and fought hard in order to make this their seventh straight win.

November 7, 1942

Waltham 0

Driving relentlessly toward the Class A and State Championships, the Mustangs pounded out a 25-0 win over Waltham for their eighth straight victory. Paced by the terrific power smashes of Hank Corrado, and the great broken field running of Al Cannava, they outplayed, outran, and outfought a game but befuddled Waltham eleven.

The scoring started when Hank Corrado, after a series of line plunges, broke through for six points early in the first period. The try for the extra point failed.

The second tally was rung up at the start of the second period on the prettiest play of the afternoon. Al Cannava did the honors. Protected by the season's finest exhibition of blocking, he, taking a high punt at mid-field, raced down the left sideline for the goal unopposed. Again the try for the point after failed.

In the third quarter Frank Corrado streaked through the Waltham line for the third tally. Once more the try for the extra point missed.

In the final chapter a 25-yard Corrado to Romsey pass was completed to the Waltham 5, where Frank Corrado went over for the fourth and final touchdown. The only extra point of the game was made on a dropkick by Joe Quigley, the Mustang's left tackle.

Arlington 0

When Coach Pidgeon's illustrious eleven met Fred Ostergren's leather luggers at Pierce Stadium in Arlington, they battled through what proved to be their toughest game. After the kickoff, our boys rolled down the field toward the goal. Then a Corrado pass was intercepted which dimmed the hopes of our lads. They were soon revived, however, when Bill Trainor captured an enemy fumble. All-star Al Cannava expertly tore off two first downs placing the pigskin on the 2-yard line. From there Hank Corrado drove across for six big points. His conversion failed; therefore this tally in the first quarter ended the scoring. Although Arlington never threatened, Mel Massucco, back, and Ike Bevins, center, aided by a stiff wind successfully checked the Mustang attack. Outstanding in the game were the "C" twins, Romsey, Connie McCarthy, Captains Trainor and O'Brien.

November 26, 1942

Malden 0

The terrific Medford Mustangs crowned a glorious season by coming to life in the third period of their annual Thanksgiving day classic to down their arch rival, the hard-fighting Golden Tornado from Malden, by a 13—0 score. In addition to completing their season with the victories in as many starts and defeating the Golden Tornado for the third year in succession, the Mustangs became the first undefeated and untied Medford team since 1917 and the first Medford team to win the Massachusetts State Championship.

In the first period Medford refused to take advantage of several scoring opportunities. The Mustangs recovered several fumbles and blocked a punt, but their running and passing attack was halted five yards from the enemy goal line by an inspired Malden defense. The hard charging Medford forward wall entirely stopped the Malden offense, only allowing it to advance as far as the Medford 43-yard line.

The second half kickoff was taken on the Malden 48, and Medford's power and superiority soon came into light. After one attempt through the line was stopped for a 4-yard gain, Hank Corrado smashed off right tackle, cut back through the center and veering toward the left, outdistanced all defenders to race 44 yards for the first score. The Malden safety man was taken out of the play by a beautiful block by Charlie Romsey, enabling Hank to go the distance. Hank also booted the extra point from placement with Bill Trainor holding. A blocked punt on the Malden 15-yard line by Johnny Zucco led to the second Medford score. Hank Corrado again went the distance on the exact play of his first touchdown. The try for the extra point failed.

The remainder of the game was featured by several dazzling runs by Al Cannava and a 40-yard dash for a touchdown by George Morehouse, only to have the play nullified by an offside penalty. Medford's superiority is clearly indicated by the statistics which show a net gain of 153 yards for the Mustangs against a total loss of 15 yards for the Tornados. "Hammering Hank" Corrado was the big gun in the Medford attack featuring the game with several long runs and getting off many spectacular kicks, in fact the entire team was immense, showing the fine team work, spirit, and co-ordination that has proved them the outstanding squad in Massachusetts.

The Blue and White Soccer Team compiled an excellent record this year with the same school spirit that has become a tradition of Medford High School.

With probably the best soccer team that has ever donned Medford uniforms, Coach Stillman led his boys to some sensational victories over college and sailor competition; it also captured the Greater Boston Interscholastic Soccer League championship for the second consecutive year.

With graduation this year, Coach Stillman will lose 13 senior lettermen: Fred Trebino, Frank Tortorella, Robert Rudzinski, Arnold Pinto, Angus Morrison, Peter Toumayan, Earl Tryder, Joseph Di Tullio, Arthur Castraberti, Joseph Gentile, Ralph Di Tullio, Arthur Anderson, George Carpenito, and manager, John Di Tullio.

The soccer co-captains, Fred Trebino and Frank Tortorella played a leading role in the Mustangs successful season. Other outstanding performers for the year were Arnold Pinto, Angus Morrison, and Earl Tryder.

Medford played a fourteen game schedule. The boys won eleven; lost two, and tied one.

In addition to these victories, our champs topped two teams from British ships, taking a crew from the Queen Mary by a 2-1 score and then turning in the surprise triumph of the year, a 2-1 win over the expert "Sea Horses" outfit.

It has been a highly successful season for the Blue and White booters, and a great deal of the credit goes to Coach Stillman and the entire soccer squad.

HOCKEY

After an inauspicious start in its opening game, in which it suffered its only loss during the season, the Medford High hockey team, sparked by a great captain, Billy Garrity, roared back to reach heights never before attained by a Medford team—The Greater Boston League Championship and the Massachusetts State Championship. In winning the State Championship, the Mustangs defeated a very strong Walpole sextet in the semi-final game and then went on to defeat Melrose in the final game which was witnessed by 10,000 people at the Boston Garden.

As a reward for these brilliant successes the team has been given three beautiful trophies: The Greater Boston League Championship Trophy; The Massachusetts State Championship Trophy, awarded by the Boston Garden; and the Eddie Shore Trophy, awarded annually by the Boston Sportswriters to the outstanding team of the year.

Responsible in no small way for bringing the honors to our school were Captain Billy Garrity, his brother Jack, and Freddie Trebino, a trio which could have held its own against the best lines ever produced in scholastic hockey. On defense, John Zucco and "Mun" Hale, backed by a great little goalie, Dick Desmond, were outstanding in every game. Bill Brennan, the best all-round player on the team; his brother Jerry; Eddie Wilkes; Bob Perrin; Connie McCarthy; Tommie Miller; and Charlie McNair all contributed fine efforts to the team.

The 1943 indoor track team enjoyed a very successful season. Determined to make up for the loss of Captain Bill McCrystal to the Army Air Corps and James Nelson and Charles Ramsey to the Navy, the team's record in dual meet competition was marred only by a defeat to a strong Newton team. Our traditional rival, Malden, was trounced by the score of 47 to 30. The relay team made up of Jack Newby, James Sherwood, George Morehouse, and Bill Hardy won the relay championship at the Northeastern Interscholastics. In the annual State Meet, the Hormel crew finished third with a total of $18\frac{1}{2}$ points. Several outstanding newcomers came into their own and helped the team considerably. Foremost among these was James Gallo, who became the first sophomore to ever win a state title. "Jimmie" annexed the standing broad jump crown with a leap of 9 feet 6 and three-eighths inches. A coming football star, Joseph Gatti, impressed everyone with his determination and fight in the 600 yard run. Bill Hardy and Stanley Robinson became co-captains following McCrystal's departure and proved able and courageous leaders.

Mr. Phelan has arranged an attractive outdoor schedule, and prospects for a fine season on the cinders are bright. Captain Newby, Hardy, Robinson, Morehouse, Gatti, Gallo, Sherwood, Fitzgerald, and Cranitch should carry the Medford tracksters to many victories.

The season's record of ten wins and seven losses is a proud one when the work of the "gremlins" is considered. Christmas work claimed many of the previous year's players during the pre-season practises, and the defeat at Revere in the first game was disheartening. But the boys came back to defeat perennially good Chelsea in one of their two losses during the season, for the highlight of the campaign.

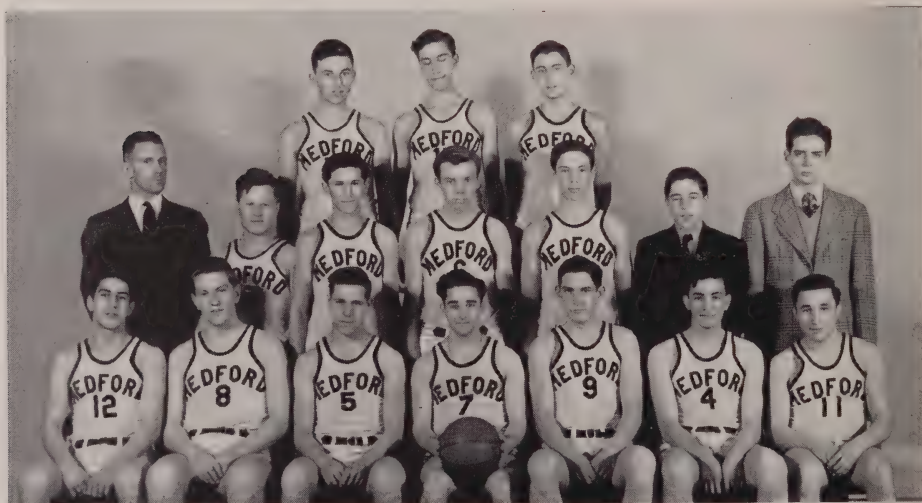

Injuries took their toll of playing strength when such boys as Captain Johnny Cervone, Al Cannava, Art Anderson, Pat Paglucia, Mario Rizzo, Joe D'Entremont, and Tom Moore were incapacitated. College, work, injuries at part-time jobs, and seasonal infections were the causes. With a little more playing strength at the right time, losses to Watertown by one and three points, and Somerville by two points might have been recorded as victories. Three postponed games because of inclement weather deprived the boys of continuity of competition, while the heatless gym during the cold March vacation was no contribution toward good basketball.

In addition to the above-mentioned players, the success of the season may be credited to Joe Gianelli, Charlie Wilkins, Earle Tryder, Lou Baldwin, John Coppinger, Bill Shea, Frank Tortorella, Manager Donath, O'Leary, Waterson, and Coach Bohn.

As usual the Year Book appears too early in the year for anything but prospects for the 1943 baseball season, the schedule, the veterans, and likely candidates.

The team has co-captains this year, Fred Trebino and Frank Tortorella, seniors, who have played for two years. The manager is Paul Blinn, a junior, who from his knowledge of the rules is known as "Regulations." The team is coached by Mr. Arthur G. Terrill, a member of the faculty.

The following players were on the squad last year: Frank Tortorella, 2nd; Fred Trebino, 3rd; Edward Brennan, 1st; Arnold Pinto, r.f.; George Morehouse, c.f.; Frank Warner, p; Earl Tryder, p; George Bird, c; John Corbisiero, c. ART CLUB

Despite weather conditions adverse for holding meetings the members of the Art Club did manage to make place cards and tree decorations for the Christmas season. Most of the material was used to trim Christmas trees for the enjoyment of children. Under the able management of Miss Pratt, the club has been an inspiration to all its members.

M. H. S. GIRLS' CLUB

This year marks the tenth year in the history of the M. H. S. Girls' Club. It was organized on December 7, 1933 for the purpose of creating friendship, giving service, and bringing Medford High School girls into a closer bond of companionship. A six-pointed gold star with a blue "M" in the center is the club's pin.

The officers were President, Ruth Hazelton; Vice President, Dorothy Boyle; Recording Secretary, Phyllis Coney; Corresponding Secretary, Francis Bresnahan; Treasurer, Joan Fergus; Membership Chariman, Charlotte Davis; Advisers, Mrs. Mary Bagley, Miss Mildred Junkins.

Ever since its beginning, the M. H. S. Girls' Club has desired to possess a clubroom, and this year the dream was realized. The first meeting in the newly acquired room was the Christmas party. Club meetings are usually held twice a month with various speakers as guests. This year the club was very fortunate to have a representative of the WAACS as a guest speaker.

One of the customs of the organization is to close the season with a formal banquet. At this occasion, the officers for the following year are installed, and the newly chosen sophomores are welcomed.

The M. H. S. Girls' Club is intended to represent the principles of "Friendship, Charity, Pride, Sincerity, Self-respect, and Patriotism."

BUSINESS GIRLS' CLUB

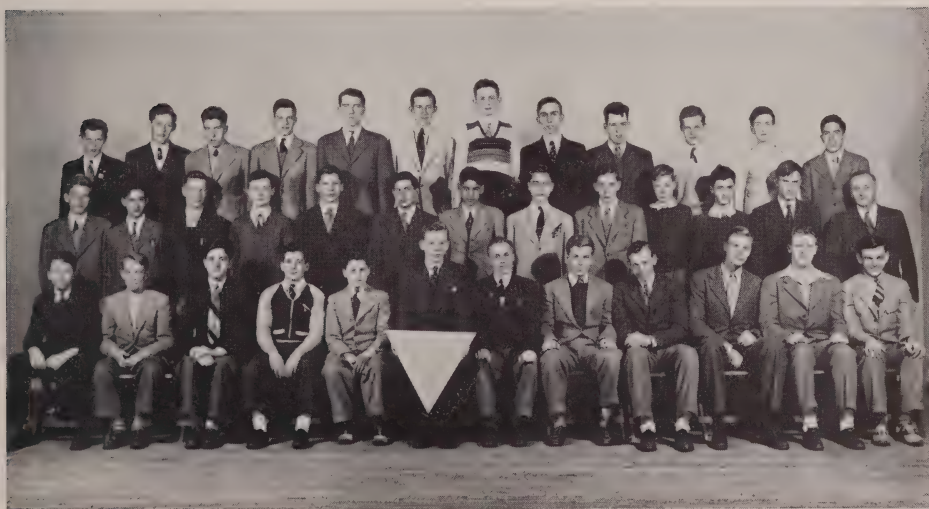

Entertainment for the Club throughout the year was high-lighted by a message from Mr. Kendall, and by a talk by Mrs. Katherine Dunbar from the Katharine Gibbs School, who spoke on business etiquette. At Christmas time the Club donated ten dollars to the Arctic Christmas Fund sponsored by the Boston Traveler. Because the service men in the far North have not the benefits of regular mail, furloughs, and U. S. O. entertainments, the Club felt that a contribution to this fund was a worthy substitute for their traditional doll project.

The officers were President, Doris Farnam; Vice President, Claire Rogers; Recording Secretary, Catherine Segati; Corresponding Secretary, Marguerite Gill; Treasurer, Frances Duros; Program Committee Chairman, Irene Serues; Advisers, Miss Williamina V. MacBrayne and Miss Thelma V. Hubbard.

TECHNICAL CLUB

The fifth successful season of the Medford High School Technical Club ended with its annual banquet of fun and frivolity. One of the highlights of the season was the mathematics treasure hunt, in which Harold Wykes, '43, copped first prize, a practical slide ruler of diminutive dimensions, pocket size. Robert Lundgren, '43, won second prize, a pocket compass. Robert Cranitch, '43, won third prize, 930-60 degree triangle. The club was entertained by films of great interest. Some of which were "Men and Machines" and "Frontiers of the Future." Field trips were impossible because of prevailing war conditions, but meetings were held as usual. The Club was assigned five special meetings during the school year and in conjunction with the Girls' Club and Art Club held a meeting for the juniors and Seniors on January 5. Mr. Allan W. Furber of the O.P.A. was the guest speaker. Early in March, Mr. Weldon, Headmaster of the Vocational School, gave an interesting talk on industry at the banquet in May.

The officers were President, Gilbert S. Robinson; Vice President, Charles Shannon; Treasurer, Harold Wykes; Secretary, Vaughan Gerish; Adviser, Mr. Charles H. Rogers.

RETAIL SELLING

The Co-operative Store Training Course is composed of twenty-four carefully selected girls who are particularly interested in salesmanship as a career. Through specialized training these girls are fitted to go into the business world and make a living. The Co-operative Store Training Curriculum is made up of many different subjects: Salesmanship, Business English, Textiles, Merchandise Information, Occupational Adjustments, Store Arithmetic, Fashion, Color, Line, Design, Advertising, Window Display, and Marketing.

The girls are required to attend school for fifteen hours a week and to have an equal amount of store experience. This program, which meets the requirements of the George-Deen Act, is supported by federal and state funds.

This year there has been ample work experience for all the pupils. The following stores have co-operated with our course to the fullest extent: Jordan Marsh Company, Gilchrist Company, William Filene's Sons Company, R. H. White Company, C. F. Hovey Company, Conrad & Company, Sears Roebuck & Company, R. H. Stearns, Joslin Company, Malden; F. W. Woolworth Company, W. T. Grant Company, and Harvard Five and Dime, South Medford.

This course is under the direction of Mary Isabelle McKay, teacher co-ordinator.

This class includes the following students: Audrey Bruden, Ruth Burgoyne, Mary Buvno, Lucille DiPoolo, Dorothy Guarante, Theresa Hanley, Dorothy Hanson, Barbara Hare, Marjorie Howdlette, Virginia Johnson, Doris Leining, Mabel Lloyd, Naomi Long, Bette Marshall, Marion McCarthy, Dorothy MacDonald, Marylyn Moore, Ethel Pothier, Margaret Powers, Patricia Raymond, June Ronco, Doris Rowe, Corinne Sewall, and Lucia Tubbs.

We offer heartfelt sympathy to the talented members of the Dramatic Club, who have not been able to exhibit their abilities this year. During these uncertain times, it has been impossible for them to present any dramas, not even the eagerly anticipated Senior Play. We can resort only to remembrance of the performances in the sophomore and junior years, at which time several of our classmates showed promising talent. Perhaps in later years we shall have the opportunity to view our future actors and actresses.

The officers were President, Walter Kisluk; Vice President, Norma Bradley; Secretary, Mary Meyer.

DRAMATIC CLUB

CAMERA CLUB

The troubles with which the world is beset showed no partiality to the Camera Club which suffered, in proportion to its importance, together with many of the other activities of the school. Lack of supplies, meetings curtailed because of the ban on afternoon activities, and the jobs held by various of the Club's ambitious members all contributed to what has been agreed upon as an "off" year.

The dynamic Bob Driscoll, one of the busiest presidents the Club has ever elected, did his best to find time to put his ideas into operation, but alas for the Club, other activities have priorities, and our rationed time was but very short.

The dauntless members, however, have unanimously agreed to carry on, and September will find them eagerly awaiting a new year which may bring fruition to many of the plans so hopefully laid out for this past year.

STAMP CLUB

The purpose of the Stamp Club is to search out the story behind each postage stamp—its history, origin, and age. This year, to aid in the war effort, various members are sending old stamps to New York where they go through a process which removes the tapioca glue from the back of the stamp. This glue is then sent to England to be used as a substitute for plaster of paris.

The officers were President, Stanley Petroski; Vice President, Lois Longstreth; Secretary, Muriel Nowell; Treasurer, Edith Oliver; Adviser, Miss Kathrene Adams.

In their meetings the members of the club exchange stamps and learn their history. Stamp collecting may be profitable as well as enjoyable. Members are constantly on the watch for valuable stamps.

A general stamp collection has been begun which will eventually be presented to Medford High School, probably 10 years from now. Every club member is helping to contribute to this collection.

The club which has about 20 members, meets every second Thursday of the month under the guidance of Miss Adams.

As customary, the band played at our football games and later at the football testimonial at the Medford Theater. The members valiantly played most of the night to provide music for the gigantic Medford Bond Rally. Christmas programs, Civic Clubs, and the Elk's Gubernatorial Initiation, all benefited by its music. The school programs, Talent Show, Patriots' Day, Rallies Victory Corps, Class Day, and graduation were complete only when the band performed under its able conductor, Ralph L. Schoonmaker. By his ability and efforts our band has risen to one of the foremost in the state.

DECONTAMINATION SQUAD

The Decontamination Squad in the high school was organized last year under the direction of Mr. Edward Pidgeon. It is a part of the Civilian Defense Unit of the City of Medford and is divided into three squads, each one stationed according to the three divisions of the city.

If there should happen to be a gas raid upon any part of Medford, it would be the duty of the Decontamination Squad to enter that section and decontaminate it; that is, remove the poisonous gases from the surrounding area.

The squad is composed entirely of Medford High School boys who are instructed and trained by Mr. Pidgeon to work quickly in case of an air raid.

ORCHESTRA

Our orchestra played for the Medford Woman's Club and the Hillside Mother's Club as well as for school assemblies and for Class Day. The Orchestra and the Band were sponsors of the Talent Show directed by Mr. Schoonmaker, and made that worthy show a hit. Heretofore there have been musical contests in which our school has figured prominently, but transportation difficulties have cancelled such competition for the duration, although we feel confident that this year's orchestra easily would have upheld Medford's standing.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

It is the aim of the Vocational School to fit boys for useful employment through the development of the occupational skill required for the performance of satisfactory work under actual employment conditions in the following trades: automobile, cabinet making, electricity, machine shop, painting and decorating, printing, and sheet metal.

One half of the time is devoted to actual shop work and the other half to related and academic work. The laboratory method of instruction which is used in the related classes is very closely correlated with the shop work. This close tie-up assures a thorough training in shop and technical information.

The school attempts to prepare the boy morally, intellectually, and physically for the vocation for which he seems to be best fitted by nature, ability, and opportunity; at the completion of his course the school places the student in the industry trained for, keeps in touch with his progress, and encourages his promotion.

Appreciation

During our Senior year, because of conditions, many of our classmates left us. Some went into the service of our country; some entered colleges and schools to join the V units.

This condition brought about many changes and vacancies in our administrative and executive personnel. Consequently we needed a new treasurer, and our energetic Joseph Cincotta took over the office. In fact, the class entrusted him with the big job of handling all our money. He proved to be a most efficient man on this job.

We owe our thanks upon thanks to Joe!

Nor must we forget our Marie Silvestro, who so cleverly took over the whole administration of this, our Year Book.

Without her the book would not have been. Our deepest gratitude to Marie!

To Miss Lyons

Although we are graduating, and Medford High School will become a thing of the past, we Seniors know that this Year Book will always be the means by which we shall communicate with the past. For making this Year Book materialize in spite of countless shortages and obstacles, for the long hours of tedious labor, we are deeply indebted to you, Miss Lyons, the adviser of the Blue and White.

To Mr. Pidgeon

Without your capable management of the numerous group pictures, the Year Book would have, indeed, lacked much of its interest; and for this reason, in particular, we want you to know that your efforts have been greatly valued by us all.
