Community - Settled in 1889, Ansonia serves a community of 19,839 people over an area of 6.2 square miles which is included in the Lower Naugatuck Valley in New Haven County. Ansonia is known as "The Copper City" recognizing its rich history in the heavy machine manufacturing industry. The town hosts one high school, one middle school and two elementary schools and serves 2,300 children.

Rank in Class and GPA - Grade point average and class rank, reported in quartiles, reflect the academic achievement of all students during their enrollment at Ansonia High School. All courses are included in the computation with the exception of those graded on a pass/fail basis. AP, Dual Credit Enrollment, and Honors courses are weighted additonal points for ranking.
